BAUKNECHT IS BROOKES' AIDE

E. PALESTINE'S SOLICITOR IS NAMED TO FILL COUNTY POST

Prosecutor-elect Will Assume Duties Next Monday.

OTHERS QUALIFY

Retiring Prosecutor Will Resume Practice in East Liverpool.

Prosecuting Attorney-elect Robert M. Brookes, of East Liverpool, today announced the appointment of City Solicitor J. E. Bauknecht of East Palestine as his assistant.

Retains Solicitorship.

On Monday, Brookes, who has been assistant prosecutor during the four-year administration of Prosecutor J. C. Hanley, also of East Liverpool, will assume his new duties. The retiring prosecutor will return to the practice of law here.

Bauknecht, who is one of the younger members of the Columbiana County Bar association, succeeded Everett L. Lyon as solicitor of East Palestine. Inasmuch as the municipal office is not incompatible with the assistant prosecutor's work, he will not resign the solicitorship, it was said.

Sheriff-elect George Wright, formerly of East Liverpool, will succeed Sheriff Gomer E. Lewis of Lisbon, and Commissioners-elect Frank Bye of Negley and J. C. Kelly of East Liverpool will assume their offices on Monday. Bye and Kelly will succeed Commissioners John F. Kerr and Patrick McNicol.

Unidentified Person Saves Valuables as Bandit Kills Man

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—An unidentified passenger who boarded the Viking express, Northwestern railroad flyer, at Winnetka, a flag station, last night, unwittingly saved valuables in the express car in protection of which Russell Dickey, Milwaukee, express messenger, gave his life.

This was the theory advanced today by police, scouring the underworld haunts of Chicago for the killer, believed in hiding here following his dash from the Winnetka station.

The attempted robbery, investigators today said, bore all the hallmarks of a "jab" planned from "inside" information, similar to that furnished in the $3,000,000 Rondout mail robbery for which Wm. J. Fahy, former postal ace, was among several convicted. It was frustrated by a single slip—the unscheduled stopping of the train at Winnetka, they say.

This, they say, led the lone bandit to believe the train had reached Evanston, last stop before Chicago. Not wishing to take the chance of being trapped in the car, they believe, the bandit fled without securing the valuables for which he had done murder.

Rush for 1925 Auto License Plates is Under Way Today

Rush for 1925 automobile license plates began today at the office of Deputy Registrar James S. Hilbert.

Approximately 100 pairs of the plates have been issued during the last 24 hours. Because of the suspension of the distribution of tags last week, Secretary of State Thad H. Brown has asked enforcement officers to honor the 1924 license plates until midnight of Jan. 20. Motorists, who do not have the 1925 tags after that date, will be arrested.

About 500 sets of the plates have been issued here.

Paris Minister of Finance Tells American Newspaper Correspondent Controversy Will Not be Aired at Inter-allied Financial Conference in January, But Declines to Reveal Course.

DECLARES PROHIBITION AND HIGH TARIFF HANDICAP PAYMENT PLAN

Flare-up Over Statements Made by Diplomat Over Status of $4,000,000,000 Bill May Result in Concrete Funding Proposal From Premier Herriott That Will End International Dispute.

By FRANK E. MASON

PARIS, Dec. 31.—France's debts to America will not be discussed at the inter-allied conference in Paris in January, but it will be taken up in Washington, Minister of Finance Clementel told American newspaper correspondents today.

"I can not tell you now just how it will be taken up in Washington," Clementel said.

Prohibition in America and its high protective tariff both were made elements of Clementel's discussion and both he said were handicapping France in paying off its debt to America.

The big question now to be decided by both countries, Clementel declared, was just how the debt could be discharged.

Charges Misunderstanding.

"Payments to America are a question of method and transfer," said the finance minister. "America must tell us how values are going to be transferred, especially with American prohibition and its high protective tariff shutting out French products."

"The British government has fully agreed that France shall take up its American debt directly and independently with Washington," he added.

Clementel said he did not see how his reports to the chamber of deputies had come to be misunderstood in America. He quoted a French philosopher as saying, "I could hang any one by taking his separate sentences without the entire text."

Denies Repudiation.

He then reiterated his declaration that he had "never for a moment considered that France would repudiate its debt."

Clementel read to the correspondents many pages of the text of his budget report to the chamber to make clear, he said, that the question of repudiation of debts had no part in his report.

Clementel called on United States Ambassador Herrick at the American embassy this afternoon. He presented to Herrick an official copy of the inventory which created the present controversy. He pointed out to the ambassador specific pages which he, Clementel, considers the essence of the inventory and which set forth the French position in regard to its debts.

Administration Hopeful.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31—Administration officials were frankly hopeful today that out of the present flare up in Washington and Paris over the status of the French war debt of nearly $4,000,000,000 will come some definite, concrete funding proposal

NOISIEST NIGHT FOR NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—New Year's Eve found New York quiet, thirsty and ready for the noisiest night of the year.

The quiet was the lull before the storm, a condition certain to be dispelled long before midnight when the shrieks of Broadway, the shrill histeria of ferryboat whistles and sirens of ocean liners, drown out the chims of church bells extending a contemporary welcome to the new Year.

Nine hundred patrolmen have been assigned to sections where the advocates of noise in public will gather, 300 of these to the direst parts of Broadway.

"The driest New Years in the city's history" predicted R. Q. Merrick, enforcement chief.

Automobile Collides With Train at Gloucester, N. J.

CROSSING WRECK

Accident Occurs as Salesman Demonstrates New Car.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 31.—Mrs. Ida Schenza, 50 and her daughter Ida, 17, are dead today, while Joseph Lipkin, 40, is believed dying of a fractured skull and Christian Johnson, 25, is suffering lacerations and bruises at the Cooper hospital here, the result of an automobile, in which they were riding last night, colliding with an accommbdation train on the Grenloch branch of the Atlantic City railroad on the Kent street crossing at Gloucester, N. J., near here.

Miss Schenza died at the hospital a few hours after she was brought there suffering with a fractured skull.

Johnson, a Camden automobile salesman, was driving the Schenzas and Lipkin, who live at Gloucester, in the car Mrs. Schenza intended purchasing when the accident occurred.

Charge Attempts To Influence Jury In "Kid" McCoy Case

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 31.—Sensational revelations of alleged efforts to tamper with the jury that tried "Kid" McCoy, convicted of murdering Mrs. Teresa Mora, were being prepared today for investigation by the county grand jury, it was revealed in a statement by Deputy District Attorney Fricke.

Drastic steps will be taken to uncover a far-reaching plot by a powerful Los Angeles gambling ring to reap a harvest of bets by influencing a verdict giving McCoy his freedom, it was said.

The agent of the ring sought to influence Juror John J. Apfel, Fricke said, and every effort will be made to bring a charge against him. Apfel was the juror who held out until the very last for the "Kid's" acquittal.

McCoy will come up for sentence next Monday for manslaughter. His attorneys will ask for a week's continuance on their motion for a new trial.

New Boys' Department At Y. M. C. A. to Open Thursday Afternoon

Formal opening of a new boys' department at the Y. M. C. A. will take place Thursday afternoon.

The room, located on the main floor behind the billiard room, will be opened at 1 o'clock, while the formal ceremony is scheduled at 1:30 o'clock. The intermediate basketball team will meet a Glenmoor five at 2 o'clock on the Y gym floor. Refreshments will be served at 3 o'clock. Gymnasium classes will also meet on New Years' Day.

A checker tournament for members of the boys' division will begin at 10 a. m. Thursday. The winners will be awarded prizes.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 31 — Nineteen hundred and twenty-four has set a new record in Ohio for traffic deaths, a survey made by the International News Service, including figures compiled from every county in the state, today shows. More people were killed by railroads at grade crossings, and the casualties charged to the increasing use of automobiles continued to mount steadily, according to official reports.

Including those who died later from injuries received in auto accidents, the total in the state for the year ending today exceeded 1,000, an increase of approximately 15 per cent over the total for 1923. More than 350 persons were killed in grade crossing accidents on railroads passing through the state. The figures here, however, overlap, as a large proportion of these are included in those listed as victims of automobile operation.

Cause of Traffic Deaths.

"Beating the train to the crossings," accounted for more traffic deaths than any other one cause during the year, and gave added emphasis to the demand recently voiced by Director

Suspect in London Blackmailing Case Is Refused Bond

LONDON, Dec. 31.—William Cooper Hobbs, elderly law clerk alleged to have staged the blackmailing of Sir Hurri Singh, appealed to the high court today for his release from jail on bail. Justice Tomlin refused Hobbs' plea. He was again arraigned in Bow street court.

George Baldry, of the legal department of the Midland bank, from which Charles Robinson sought recovery of $625,000 of the hush money paid by Sir Hurri Singh, testified that Hobbs told him that Robinson was not the man for whom Singh intended the money.

Baldry said the money was meant for Montague Noel Newton, who "discovered" the young prince in a Paris hotel room with Mrs. Robinson.

Therefore, Hobbs told the bank's attorney, Robinson had no claim to the money.

MICHIGAN RED GETS STEEL CELL

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 31.—Charles E. Ruthenberg, communist leader, must go to prison. The Michigan supreme court today denied his petition for a stay of sentence pending rehearing of his appeal.

The supreme court's order directs Judge Charles E. White of Berrien county to sentence Ruthenberg, for violation of the state's anti-syndicalism law, for which he was convicted as a result of participating in the secret red meeting near Bridgeman, Michigan, in 1922.

$20,783 PAID CITY TREASURY FROM AUTO TAG FUND IN 1924

Ohio Vouchers for $78,128.49 Sent County Auditor.

STREET UPKEEP

County Disbursed $15,417 to East Liverpool in 1923.

The coffers of the political subdivision of Columbiana county were enriched to the extent of $78,128.49 during 1924 by the collection of automobile license fees, it was announced today by County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton's office at Lisbon.

This is an increase of $16,193.83 over the county's share of motor car tag receipts in 1923.

Of the fees this year, the county road fund is credited with $21,622.35.

Salem in Second Place.

East Liverpool received $20,783.98, the lion's share of the amount disbursed to municipalities.

Last year, the Ceramic City's apportionment was $15,417.95, so an additional $5,366.93 was available for street and highway maintenance during 1924.

Salem takes second place in the return of license money, the city having placed to its credit $11,446.72. Last year Salem received $10,372.53.

Wellsville's Apportionment.

Wellsville's share was $5,865.87, compared with $4,582.34 last year.

Salineville's allotment jumped from $1,565.32 in 1923 to $2,234.34 in 1924.

Hanoverton received the smallest amount of any district, or $277.49.

Two Airplane Pilots Arrive Here for New Year's Flights

Pilots E. L. Kinsey and Jack Bartow, flying a two-passenger Curtis airplane, arrived here late yesterday afternoon from Clarion, Pa., for a visit over New Year's Day.

The plane was forced to land near Beaver, Pa., Sunday afternoon by trouble in the gasoline line, believed to have been caused by the cold weather. The trip was resumed Tuesday afternoon after the weather had moderated.

A landing field on the Mulligan farm, near Stop 55 on the Y. & O., will be used. The two aviators will give an exhibition in stunt flying and will make a dip under the Chester bridge at the foot of College street at noon Thursday. The plane will engage in passenger-carrying business Thursday afternoon.

Kinsey has relatives in East Liverpool and Georgetown. The plane will return to Clarion Friday.

NO EDITION ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

Thursday being New Year's Day, there will be no issue of The Review-Tribune.

Stresemann Target Of German Editor In Bitter Attack

BERLIN, Dec. 31.—Gustave Stresemann today was the target of a broadside from George Bernard, chief editor of the Vossiche Zeitung, who charged the former chancellor and present foreign minister with throwing dust in the eyes of the German people in his "anglophile" utterances.

He pictured France as a friend of Germany, rather than the deadly enemy Stresemann pictured her.

"Stresemann would lead the German public to believe England innocent as a lamb, and France the incarnation of evil," Bernard said. "The contrary is the truth."

"The British controller's complaints resulted in postponement of the evacuation of Cologne. British industries demanded the destruction of German industries, which are dangerous competitors.

"Stresemann's close relations with Britain personally probably are responsible for Germany's relapse into the old mistake of trying to profit by playing France against England."

Three-foot Snake Found in Bunch of Bananas at Store

O. F. Wilkin, Avondale and Bank street grocer, discovered a three-foot snake, concealed in a bunch of bananas at his store today.

Wilkin was removing the bananas from the stalk when his attention was attracted to a dark appearing object, which he first thought to be a cluster of rotten bananas. When he removed the object he found it to be a snake, curled up like a ball for its winter sleep.

The reptile is spotted in color and is believed to have secreted itself in the bananas before they were shipped from the tropical country. It was placed in a glass jar for safekeeping.

30 OUT OF 40 PRINCIPAL COMMERCIAL NATIONS BEGIN 1925 WITH PROSPECTS OF BEST BUSINESS YEAR SINCE WAR

United States, Canada and Great Britain, Markedly in Lead, Promise to be Greatest Factors in Conquest for World Markets.

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—At least thirty out of forty principal commercial nations of the world will begin 1925 with prospects of the best business years since the war, according to data compiled today at the department of commerce.

The United States, with an anticipated foreign trade of over nine billion dollars next year; Canada, with rising agricultural prices, and Great Britain, with a stabilized government and industrial activity, are markedly in the lead, promise to be the greatest factors in the conquest for world markets.

European conditions are particularly contrasted with those last December, when widespread political and economic uncertainty promised little for the new year.

Favorable Business Conditions.

Very favorable business conditions exist in France and Italy, while marked improvements are observed in Germany, Belgium and many of the smaller European countries, according to departments of commerce advices.

Conditions in Esthonia, Spain and Sweden show unfavorable indications, but these, it was pointed out, are comparatively minor nations from a commercial standpoint.

Even more encouraging reports came from Latin-America where not a single country now suffers from seriously depressed conditions. Colombian indications were the most optimistic, the situation there being described as more satisfactory than for some years.

Record Sugar Crop.

Dispatches said that the strike situation in Cuba had cleared and that prosperity is promised by a record sugar crop estimated at from 4,300,000 to 4,735,000 tons.

From the Far East came reports of continued improvement in Australia, India and Indo-China. Japan is faced with an unfavorable trade balance but is slowly recovering from the effects of the earthquake.

Secretaries Predict Prosperity.

Chinese conditions are still adversely affected by the uncertain political status, but markets reflected a gradual recovery.

Unusual activity marks the busi-

Northside Wildcat Oil and Gas Co. Declares Dividend

The board of directors of the Northside Wildcat Oil & Gas company, a local concern, at a meeting held at the Northside fire station, Monday evening, declared a $5 dividend per share to all stockholders for the 1924 year.

The company controls producing gas wells in the vicinity of Park Place, just east of Thompson park. The gas is sold to the Manufacturers' Light & Heat company.

Annual meeting of the stockholders, at which time directors and officers for the year of 1925 will be elected, will be held on Saturday, Jan. 24.

CHARLES VAUGHN IS FINED $300

Charles Vaughn, of East Liverpool, who was arrested by Sebring police Christmas Day while transporting six gallons of corn whisky, was fined $300 and costs when he was arraigned before Mayor A. H. Lindsay, of Sebring, yesterday. Vaughn's friends paid his fine and he was released.

Alphonso Carman, also of this city, who was arrested with Vaughn, has not been arraigned.

County Disbursed $15,417 to East Liverpool in 1923.

The coffers of the political subdivision of Columbiana county were enriched to the extent of $78,128.49 during 1924 by the collection of automobile license fees, it was announced today by County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton's office at Lisbon.

This is an increase of $16,193.83 over the county's share of motor car tag receipts in 1923.

Of the fees this year, the county road fund is credited with $21,622.35.

Salem in Second Place.

East Liverpool received $20,783.98, the lion's share of the amount disbursed to municipalities.

Last year, the Ceramic City's apportionment was $15,417.05, so an additional $5,366.93 was available for street and highway maintenance during 1924.

Salem takes second place in the return of license money, the city having placed to its credit $11,446.72. Last year Salem received $10,372.53.

Wellsville's Apportionment.

Wellsville's share was $5,865.87, compared with $4,582.34 last year.

Salineville's allotment jumped from $1,565.32 in 1923 to $2,234.34 in 1924.

Two Airplane Pilots Arrive Here for New Year's Flights

Pilots E. L. Kinsey and Jack Bartow, flying a two-passenger Curtis airplane, arrived here late yesterday afternoon from Clarion, Pa., for a visit over New Year's Day.

The plane was forced to land near Beaver, Pa., Sunday afternoon by trouble in the gasoline line, believed to have been caused by the cold weather. The trip was resumed Tuesday afternoon after the weather had moderated.

A landing field on the Mulligan farm, near Stop 55 on the Y. & O., will be used. The two aviators will give an exhibition in stunt flying and will make a dip under the Chester bridge at the foot of College street at noon Thursday. The plane will engage in passenger-carrying business Thursday afternoon.

Kinsey has relatives in East Liverpool and Georgetown. The plane will return to Clarion Friday.

DECLARES PROHIBITION AND HIGH TARIFF HANDICAP PAYMENT PLAN

Flare-up Over Statements Made by Diplomat Over Status of $4,000,000,000 Bill May Result in Concrete Funding Proposal From Premier Herriott That Will End International Dispute.

By FRANK E. MASON

PARIS, Dec. 31.—France's debts to America will not be discussed at the inter-allied conference in Paris in January, but it will be taken up in Washington, Minister of Finance Clementel told American newspaper correspondents today.

"I can not tell you now just how it will be taken up in Washington," Clementel said.

Prohibition in America and its high protective tariff both were made elements of Clementel's discussion and both he said were handicapping France in paying off its debt to America.

The big question now to be decided by both countries, Clementel declared, was just how the debt could be discharged.

Charges Misunderstanding.

"Payments to America are a question of method and transfer," said the finance minister. "America must tell us how values are going to be transferred, especially with American prohibition and its high protective tariff shutting out French products."

"The British government has fully agreed that France shall take up its American debt directly and independently with Washington," he added.

Clementel said he did not see how his reports to the chamber of deputies had come to be misunderstood in America. He quoted a French philosopher as saying, "I could hang any one by taking his separate sentences without the entire text."

Denies Repudiation.

He then reiterated his declaration that he had "never for a moment considered that France would repudiate its debt."

Clementel read to the correspondents many pages of the text of his budget report to the chamber to make clear, he said, that the question of repudiation of debts had no part in his report.

Clementel called on United States Ambassador Herrick at the American embassy this afternoon. He presented to Herrick an official copy of the inventory which created the present controversy. He pointed out to the ambassador specific pages which he, Clementel, considers the essence of the inventory and which set forth the French position in regard to its debts.

Alphonso Carman, also of this city, who was arrested with Vaughn, has not been arraigned.

Stresemann Target Of German Editor In Bitter Attack

BERLIN, Dec. 31.—Gustave Stresemann today was the target of a broadside from George Bernard, chief editor of the Vossiche Zeitung, who charged the former chancellor and present foreign minister with throwing dust in the eyes of the German people in his "anglophile" utterances.

He pictured France as a friend of Germany, rather than the deadly enemy Stresemann pictured her.

"Stresemann would lead the German public to believe England innocent as a lamb, and France the incarnation of evil," Bernard said. "The contrary is the truth."

"The British controller's complaints resulted in postponement of the evacuation of Cologne. British industries demanded the destruction of German industries, which are dangerous competitors.

"Stresemann's close relations with Britain personally probably are responsible for Germany's relapse into the old mistake of trying to profit by playing France against England."

30 OUT OF 40 PRINCIPAL COMMERCIAL NATIONS BEGIN 1925 WITH PROSPECTS OF BEST BUSINESS YEAR SINCE WAR

United States, Canada and Great Britain, Markedly in Lead, Promise to be Greatest Factors in Conquest for World Markets.

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—At least thirty out of forty principal commercial nations of the world will begin 1925 with prospects of the best business years since the war, according to data compiled today at the department of commerce.

The United States, with an anticipated foreign trade of over nine billion dollars next year; Canada, with rising agricultural prices, and Great Britain, with a stabilized government and industrial activity, are markedly in the lead, promise to be the greatest factors in the conquest for world markets.

European conditions are particularly contrasted with those last December, when widespread political and economic uncertainty promised little for the new year.

Favorable Business Conditions.

Very favorable business conditions exist in France and Italy, while marked improvements are observed in Germany, Belgium and many of the smaller European countries, according to departments of commerce advices.

Conditions in Esthonia, Spain and Sweden show unfavorable indications, but these, it was pointed out, are comparatively minor nations from a commercial standpoint.

Even more encouraging reports came from Latin-America where not a single country now suffers from seriously depressed conditions. Colombian indications were the most optimistic, the situation there being described as more satisfactory than for some years.

Record Sugar Crop.

Dispatches said that the strike situation in Cuba had cleared and that prosperity is promised by a record sugar crop estimated at from 4,300,000 to 4,735,000 tons.

From the Far East came reports of continued improvement in Australia, India and Indo-China. Japan is faced with an unfavorable trade balance but is slowly recovering from the effects of the earthquake.

Secretaries Predict Prosperity.

Chinese conditions are still adversely affected by the uncertain political status, but markets reflected a gradual recovery.

Prosecutor-elect Will Assume Duties Next Monday.

OTHERS QUALIFY

Retiring Prosecutor Will Resume Practice in East Liverpool.

Prosecuting Attorney-elect Robert M. Brookes, of East Liverpool, today announced the appointment of City Solicitor J. E. Bauknecht of East Palestine as his assistant.

Retains Solicitorship.

On Monday, Brookes, who has been assistant prosecutor during the four-year administration of Prosecutor J. C. Hanley, also of East Liverpool, will assume his new duties. The retiring prosecutor will return to the practice of law here.

Bauknecht, who is one of the younger members of the Columbiana County Bar association, succeeded Everett L. Lyon as solicitor of East Palestine. Inasmuch as the municipal office is not incompatible with the assistant prosecutor's work, he will not resign the solicitorship, it was said.

Sheriff-elect George Wright, formerly of East Liverpool, will succeed Sheriff Gomer E. Lewis of Lisbon, and Commissioners-elect Frank Bye of Negley and J. C. Kelly of East Liverpool will assume their offices on Monday. Bye and Kelly will succeed Commissioners John F. Kerr and Patrick McNicol.

Unidentified Person Saves Valuables as Bandit Kills Man

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—An unidentified passenger who boarded the Viking express, Northwestern railroad flyer, at Winnetka, a flag station, last night, unwittingly saved valuables in the express car in protection of which Russell Dickey, Milwaukee, express messenger, gave his life.

This was the theory advanced today by police, scouring the underworld haunts of Chicago for the killer, believed in hiding here following his dash from the Winnetka station.

The attempted robbery, investigators today said, bore all the hallmarks of a "jab" planned from "inside" information, similar to that furnished in the $3,000,000 Rondout mail robbery for which Wm. J. Fahy, former postal ace, was among several convicted. It was frustrated by a single slip—the unscheduled stopping of the train at Winnetka, they say.

This, they say, led the lone bandit to believe the train had reached Evanston, last stop before Chicago. Not wishing to take the chance of being trapped in the car, they believe, the bandit fled without securing the valuables for which he had done murder.

Rush for 1925 Auto License Plates is Under Way Today

Rush for 1925 automobile license plates began today at the office of Deputy Registrar James S. Hilbert.

Approximately 100 pairs of the plates have been issued during the last 24 hours. Because of the suspension of the distribution of tags last week, Secretary of State Thad H. Brown has asked enforcement officers to honor the 1924 license plates until midnight of Jan. 20. Motorists, who do not have the 1925 tags after that date, will be arrested.

About 500 sets of the plates have been issued here.

FRANCE'S WAR DEBT NOT ON PARLEY PROGRAM

NOISIEST NIGHT FOR NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—New Year's Eve found New York quiet, thirsty and ready for the noisiest night of the year.

The quiet was the lull before the storm, a condition certain to be dispelled long before midnight when the shrieks of Broadway, the shrill histeria of ferryboat whistles and sirens of ocean liners, drown out the chims of church bells extending a contemporary welcome to the new Year.

Nine hundred patrolmen have been assigned to sections where the advocates of noise in public will gather, 300 of these to the dizziest parts of Broadway.

"The driest New Years in the city's history" predicted R. Q. Merrick, enforcement chief.

"The wettest yet," responded Broadway.

J., near here.

Miss Schenza died at the hospital a few hours after she was brought there suffering with a fractured skull.

Johnson, a Camden automobile salesman, was driving the Schenzas and Lipkin, who live at Gloucester, in the car Mrs. Schenza intended purchasing when the accident occurred.

Charge Attempts To Influence Jury In "Kid" McCoy Case

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 31.—Sensational revelations of alleged efforts to tamper with the jury that tried "Kid" McCoy, convicted of murdering Mrs. Teresa Mora, were being prepared today for investigation by the county grand jury, it was revealed in a statement by Deputy District Attorney Fricke.

Drastic steps will be taken to uncover a far-reaching plot by a powerful Los Angeles gambling ring to reap a harvest of bets by influencing a verdict giving McCoy his freedom, it was said.

The agent of the ring sought to influence Juror John J. Apfel, Fricke said, and every effort will be made to bring a charge against him. Apfel was the juror who held out until the very last for the "Kid's" acquittal.

McCoy will come up for sentence next Monday for manslaughter. His attorneys will ask for a week's continuance on their motion for a new trial.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 31. — Nineteen hundred and twenty-four has set a new record in Ohio for traffic deaths, a survey made by the International News Service, including figures compiled from every county in the state, today shows. More people were killed by railroads at grade crossings, and the casualties charged to the increasing use of automobiles continued to mount steadily, according to official reports.

Including those who died later from injuries received in auto accidents, the total in the state for the year ending today exceeded 1,000, an increase of approximately 15 per cent over the total for 1923. More than 350 persons were killed in grade crossing accidents on railroads passing through the state. The figures here, however, overlap, as a large proportion of these are included in those listed as victims of automobile operation.

Cause of Traffic Deaths.

"Beating the train to the crossings," accounted for more traffic deaths than any other one cause during the year, and gave added emphasis to the demand recently voiced by Director

Suspect in London Blackmailing Case Is Refused Bond

LONDON, Dec. 31.—William Cooper Hobbs, elderly law clerk alleged to have staged the blackmailing of Sir Hurri Singh, appealed to the high court today for his release from jail on bail. Justice Tomlin refused Hobbs' plea. He was again arraigned in Bow street court.

George Baldry, of the legal department of the Midland bank, from which Charles Robinson sought recovery of $625,000 of the hush money paid by Sir Hurri Singh, testified that Hobbs told him that Robinson was not the man for whom Singh intended the money.

Baldry said the money was meant for Montague Noel Newton, who "discovered" the young prince in a Paris hotel room with Mrs. Robinson.

Therefore, Hobbs told the bank's attorney, Robinson had no claim to the money.

Record Sugar Crop.

Dispatches said that the strike situation in Cuba had cleared and that prosperity is promised by a record sugar crop estimated at from 4,300,000 to 4,735,000 tons.

From the Far East came reports of continued improvement in Australia, India and Indo-China. Japan is faced with an unfavorable trade balance but is slowly recovering from the effects of the earthquake.

FAST SET NAMED IN SCOTT CASE

Prominent Men Dragged Into Alpena, Mich., Divorce Hearing.

ALPENA, Mich., Dec. 31.—Representative Frank D. Scott of Michigan, who is suing his wife for divorce, was to undergo another stiff grill on the witness stand today concerning alleged drinking and gambling for high stakes by members of congress and the so-called fast set in Washington. Testifying yesterday Scott declared that congressmen "always followed the tradition laid down by 'Uncle Joe' Cannon of Illinois—to stick to a ten cent limit." Scott denied he ever lost $1,500 at one sitting, or that Rep. Allen Moore, of Monticello, Ills., with whom he is alleged to have played steadily at the "Boars' Nest" on K street in Washington, had ever endorsed his note for $4,000 to cover losses at cards.

Scott was much more vague concerning charges that he imported liquor from Panama on trips he took there with congressmen and as to drinking on board the steamer Christobel.

Ward Peck, counsel for Mrs. Scott, named several members of congress and public officials whom the wife charges Scott often gambled with.

Representative Dan Anthony of Kansas, "Billy" Wilson, an official of the department of justice, Guy Stanifer, of Seattle, Wash.; "Pete" McClain of Marion, Ohio; Thomas Miller, of the Alien property custodian's office, and various members of congress were on the list of names Peck fired at Scott in connection with his quiz as to the games that are said to have occurred in room 225 of the New Willard hotel and at the "Boar's Nest" in the Champlain apartments on K street.

in the number of automobiles in use in the county.

There were eight distributions by Secretary of State Thad S. Brown from automobile license collections this year. Last year there were nine distributions. The last disbursement was credited two weeks ago.

Disbursement of Fund.

The official record of license funds distributed during 1922 and 1924 follows:

	1924	1923
County	$21 622.35	$17,378.10
Columbiana	3,058 95	2,436.24
East Liverpool	20,783.98	15,417.05
East Palestine	6,244.02	4,333.66
Hanoverton	277.49	232.00
Leetonia	2,056.01	1,564.53
Lisbon	3,483 14	3,196 09
New Waterford	746.87	388.33
Rogers	446.20	234.72
Salem	11,446.72	10,372.53
Sa'ineville	2,234 34	1,565.32
Washingtonville	308.75	233.75
Wellsville	5,865.87	4,582.34

Largest Single Credit.

During the May distribution of these funds, East Palestine did not receive any money, and in the June distribution there was no credit due Salem, Salineville, Wellsville or Washingtonville. Washingtonville was also shy a credit in the July disbursement. In all other instances, every corporation of the county received a share of the eight disbursements.

The smallest distribution during the year was $2.12, placed to the credit of Hanoverton in the May settlement.

The March disbursement was the heaviest, a voucher for $37,032.18 being received from Columbus. The May disbursement, $1,722.87, was the smallest.

East Liverpool received the largest single credit during the year, $9,547.09 in March.

ness situation in Hawaii, according to official cablegrams. A record sugar crop valued at $80,000,000 has been harvested.

In North America the Canadian situation follows closely that in the United States with prosperity promised for 1925.

The foreign trade of the United States passed the $8,000,000,000 mark in 1924, of which over $4,500,000,000 were imports. Both Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Commerce Hoover predict prosperity for the new year.

Mexico reported business on the upgrade, although political difficulties have retarded development.

LISTS VIOLENT DEATHS AT 18

Eighteen violent deaths, necessitating inquest, occurred in Columbiana county during 1924, Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, reported today.

Of this number two were listed as having been killed in automobile accidents. They were F. M. Hayes, of this city, who died Monday night after having been struck by a motor car and Edward B. Wright, also of East Liverpool, who was killed at a grade crossing near Columbiana on October 23.

Four others met death on railroads.

A number of other fatal accidents occurred in the county during the year, but no coroner's inquest was necessary. Other violent deaths reported by Van Fossan were as follows: Suicides 5, homicides 2, killed by electric shock 1, killed in coal mine 1, alcoholism 1 and drowned 2.

of Highways Boulay that all grade crossings throughout the state be eliminated. Reckless and careless driving, operating machines while intoxicated, and "stepping on the gas" on "joyrides" in the early morning hours when the highway was open and clear were other frequent causes of fatal accidents, according to officials.

Crowded and inadequate city streets, laid out long before the day of modern needs, have caused the total of auto deaths in the larger cities to mount constantly, although not in proportion to the increased use of autos, traffic officials in Cleveland declared.

Cuyahoga Leads State.

Cuyahoga county, with a total death list in excess of 200, lead the state in the number of auto deaths. Hamilton county, with 102, was second, and Franklin county, with 86, was third. Lucas, with 46, and Summit, with 45, were running neck and neck for fourth place, while Butler was sixth with 40 auto deaths. Stark county reported 36, and Mahoning 35, but Marion county, where 26 deaths were attributed to various automobile causes, had the highest proportionate death rate in the state from this cause, with the exception of Wood county, where the total of 20 deaths was largely contributed to by the wiping out of the entire Updegraff family of seven when their car was hit by a train at a grade crossing.

Lorain county, with 18 auto deaths, Scioto, with 17, Jefferson, with 13, Seneca, with 12, and Muskingum, with 11, were other counties in which the auto casualties reached two figures.

Legislature May Act

Ashland, Vinton, Champaign and Lawrence counties reported no deaths due to either auto or grade crossing accidents during the year. Hardin and Darke counties had no auto casualties, but the former reported seven killed in grade crossing accidents, while the latter had six.

A number of measures to cope with the growing death toll will be presented to the Ohio legislature convening next week. The Cleveland Safety Council and the State Automobile association are reported as backing rival plans of licensing those who operate automobiles.

the visit at various homes about the city. They will sing at the Elks' temple, where a dance will be in progress, at 11:30 o'clock.

There will be roller skating at Rock Springs park until after the hour of midnight and also on Thursday afternoon and evening.

New Year's Day Events.

At the St. Aloysius Catholic church, low Mass will be celebrated at 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 a. m. Thursday, followed by high Mass at 11 o'clock. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will follow the 11 o'clock service. Rev. Fathers T. A. Dunne and J. W. Fowler will conduct the services.

A Young People's meeting will be held in the Salvation Army citadel at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

A New Year's afternoon tea and card party will be held at the Country Club between 3 and 6 o'clock, and a card party in the evening. This affair will be for members of the club, their families and friends.

All theatres have arranged special holiday attractions.

Union Watch Services.

Union watch services of the down town churches will be held in the First United Presbyterian church starting at 10 o'clock. Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preside. The song service will be in charge of Prof. H. F. Laughlin. Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will read the scripture lesson. Solos will be delivered by Oliver Johnson and Mrs. A. G. Ellis. Fifteen-minute talks will be delivered by Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, and Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. The service will end shortly after 12 o'clock.

The Salvation Army tonight will conduct services in the Third street citadel at 8 o'clock, preceded by an open air meeting. The watch services in the citadel will begin at 10 o'clock.

Business Houses Closed.

East End churches will hold their union meeting in the Second Presbyterian church. Pastors of the cooperating congregations will take part.

Manufacturing operations and all business will be at a standstill for the day.

The usual holiday schedule will be in effect at the downtown and station postoffices. The general delivery and stamp windows will be open from 9 to 10 a. m., while the money order, registry and postal savings departments will be closed all day. There will be no mail delivery on either the city or rural routes, although special delivery service will be maintained throughout the day. Mails will be received and dispatched as usual.

The first three members of the Rotary club were a coal dealer, a mining expert and a tailor.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Stocks were reactionary in the first period today as the result of the heavy offerings of industrial and specialty stocks.

General Electric was the most notable exception to the general reactionary tone. Reports that active trading had already begun in the stock of the new corporation that is to be formed to take over the Electric Bond and Share company, at around $100 a share, brought a heavy demand for the old stock, which jumped 11 points at the opening of the market and sold 16 points higher before the end of the first hour. Radio, Beechnut and other active specialty stocks followed the turn of the tide and were soon headed for higher price levels. Wright Areonatical corporation joined the active list and sold 3 points higher at 2?%. Davison Chemical and Universal Pipe resumed their forward movement after slight interruption. The St Paul stocks recovered from Tuesday's decline and sold more than a point higher. American Can got back to 159 for a gain of 3 points and Cast Iron Pipe was up 3.

Wheat staged a sharp comeback in the Chicago market. Call money renewed at 5 per cent. A decline of 46,000 barrels a day in crude oil production last week was reported by the Oil City Derrick. The Iron Age reported steel mills operating at 80 to 85 per cent capacity with a heavy influx of orders for steel products in the last week of the year.

American Woolen, however, sold down about 2 points on announcement that William M. Wood had relinquished the helm.

The Oil stocks were firm with increasing interest in the low priced shares in which Skelly Oil, up nearly 2 points to a new high at 24⅝, was the new leader.

Chauffeur is Dead; Woman Unconscious Beside His Body

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 31.—An autopsy was to be held today to determine what caused the death of Gorge W. Sheppard, 29, a New York City chauffeur, and rendered a young woman unconscious in a downtown apartment here last night. Sheppard was dead when police entered the apartment. The young woman was stretched on a bed beside his body. She revived at a hospital and said she was Mrs. Walter Dorsey, wife of a Jacksonville realty dealer. Police said she could not give them any clue.

STATE SEEKS FEE PAYMENT

Crabbe Files Suits Against Two Former Clerks of Court.

The petition against Williams, L. H. Richardson, former clerks of court in Columbiana county, have been made the defendants in suits which have been filed in the common pleas court at Lisbon by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe to collect judgments on fees alleged to have been collected from applicants for naturalization papers.

George B. Williams and Alfred U. Miller, Virginia M. Williams, and the Maryland Casualty Company, the latter a bonding company for Mr. Williams, alleges that he owes the county $877.50. It is declared that there is due in his office for his first term of courts $288 on declarations of intent to become citizens and $140 on petitions. Applicants for citizenship papers are charged 50 cents when the declaration is filed and a fee of $200 when the petition is received. He is also alleged to have collected $449.50 in the same manner during his second term of office.

The Fidelity and Deposit Company, of Maryland, is made a party defendant in the suit against Richardson, who, it is alleged, owes the county $424. During his first term of office, Richardson is alleged to have collected $68 and during his second term $424.

The petitions were signed by Attorney General Crabbe, Arthur H. Wicks, special counsel, and Prosecuting Attorney, Jesse C. Hanley.

ADNAH L. WHITE THRIFT LEADER

Building and Loan Company Officer is Local Chairman.

Adnah L. White, secretary of the Federal Building & Loan company, of East End, was today appointed local chairman of Thrift Week which will be observed throughout Ohio during the week of January 17-23.

Building and loan interests are especially interested in "Thrift Day," Monday, January 19; "Own Your Own Home Day," Wednesday, January 21, and "Safe Investment Day, on Friday, January 23.

Other days to be observed are: "Pay Bills Day" on Saturday, January 17; "Share With Others Day," Sunday, January 18; "Life Insurance Day," Tuesday, January 20 and "Budget Day," Thursday, January 22.

The observance begins on January 17, birthday of Benjamin Franklin, who has been called the "apostle of thrift."

The story of thrift will be carried to all parts of the state in the campaign. It was through the Thrift Week efforts about four years ago, according to Mr. White, that steps were taken against the sale of wild cat securities. When this campaign was launched, Ohioans were investing about $100,000,000 annually in securities, which, in many instances, proved to be worthless. Now, as a result of the educational movement, the sale of such securities has been practically stopped.

SCHOOL BOARD MEET POSTPONED

Regular meeting of the board of education, scheduled for Thursday night, has been postponed because of the holiday.

The board will meet Monday, January 5, to reorganize for the new year, this date being fixed by law.

State Clemency Board Member Ill.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the sickness and death of our beloved husband and father, also for the beautiful floral offerings.

MRS. CHARLES STEENSON AND FAMILY.

DEAN OF MIAMI TEACHERS' HEAD

State Association Closes Convention in Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 31.—With Dean H. C. Minnich, school of education, Miami University, as the newly chosen president of the Ohio Teachers' association, the closing session of the association's mid-winter meeting was held here today, marked by submission of numerous committee reports.

Other officers chosen include: Supt. U. L. Light, Barberton, member board of control of the reading circle; Josephine Hammond, Steubenville, and Sue Hawker, Bucyrus, members of the executive council; John R. Patterson, Athens, member for three years of the executive committee; Lester S. Irvins, Kent State Teachers' college, president of the teacher training section; George Carrothers, Ohio University, member of executive committee; H. L. Bates, superintendent Noble county schools, president of the village and county superintendent's department; Assistant Superintendent C. L. Brown, vice president.

Following an extended and heated debate, the representative assembdy, by a vote of 144 to 108, approved the proposal that the state legislature enact a "teachers' tenure" law, designed to prevent removal from their positions after they have served three years in the same school. The proposed law would restrict removals to teachers found guilty, after a hearing before the board of education on written charges, preferred by the superintendent, of "inefficiency, neglect of duty, immorality or improper conduct."

France's War Debt

from France that will end this controversy once and for all.

The highest officials of the government characterize the debt controversy as a greater menace to the cordality of Franco-American relations than anything that has ever arisen between the two countries in modern times. A continuance of the squabble much longer, they believe, will lead to complications almost incomprehensible in their effect on world relations.

Congress is openly threatening today to take the bit in its teeth on the debt question.

Congress Threatens Action.

This is exemplified by the announcement privately made by one administration senator that unless the French government quits "flirting" with cancellation and repudiation, and gets down to "brass tacks" talk of settlement, he will introduce, at the end of 30 days, a resolution expressing the sense of congress that all private French credits in this country should be immediately cut off. The adoption of such resolution is considered assured—so warm is the feeling on the part of Republicans and Democrats alike on the question of war debts.

While the simple adoption of the resolution would not legally prevent American bankers from extending further credits, the moral effect of such a resolution in the financial world would be great enough, it was said, to stop French credit just as effectually as if legal barriers were erected. The fact that the American congress has no faith in France's capacity to pay would act as a decided deterrent to the American investor.

Even now, it was pointed out today, as a result of M. Clemenc'el's hints of repudiation and the squabble that has ensued, French bonds are falling off, and a check has been put upon the plans of some New York bankers for further French credits totaling around $200,000,000.

Property Owners Must File Protests On Regular Forms

Property holders of the county seeking to register complaints regarding valuations placed upon their property must obtain special blanks, provided for this purpose from the office of the county auditor at Lisbon. These blanks will be issued upon application.

Detailed information regarding the property at issue must be given upon the blanks before the complaint will be considered. The blank must then be sworn to before a notary public.

Complaints will be received by the board of revision up to and including January 20. The board of revision, which is made up af Auditor C. E. Hamilton, County Treasurer Pike and Conrad Berg, chairman of the board of county commissioners, has not indicated when it will meet to consider complaints.

Parties, filing complaints regarding valuations, will be notified when to appear before the board. Any adjustments in valuation which are authorized by the board will be rectified with the June tax payment, it has been announced.

Railway Express Co. Stables, Third St., Threatened by Fire

Stables of the American Railway Express company, East Third street, were threatened by fire, which broke out about 8:15 o'clock last night.

The blaze was discovered in the hay mow by employes, who called the fire department. Fearing that the building was doomed, nine horses, housed in the stable, were led to safety. The fire was controlled before much damage resulted. The loss, which was confined to the upper part of the barn, is covered by insurance.

The building adjoins the old Millfron stables destroyed by fire last summer with a loss of about 25 head of horses, wagons and other equipment valued at $10,000.

"Peter Pan" Makes New Motion Picture History; at Ceramic

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 9, 1924.

Adolph Zukor, 485 Fifth ave., New York, N. Y.

Last night I saw "Peter Pan;" and before the picture was half over I knew that I was participating in an event which would make new motion picture history. Just as Griffith's "Birth of a Nation," Fairbanks' "Robin Hood," Ingram's "Four Horsemen," Cruize's "Covered Wagon" and DeMille's "Ten Commandments" all marked milestones of progress in motion picture production, so Brenon's production of Barrie's "Peter Pan" will add to the glory of the screen. Here is the different motion picture which we have all been hoping for. Running the gamut of emotions, laughter, thrills, spectacle and tears, it is not comparable to anything ever produced before. One single element alone will make of it a great and lasting drawing card which will pile up records everywhere and this is its extraordinary appeal to mothers and fathers.

And what a cast of new faces destined to become famous. The charm and fresh appeal of Esther Ralston as Mrs. Darling and Mary Brian as Wendy would carry an average picture. The children who play Michael and John tug your heart strings, and the little lost boys of the Never Never Land are most adorable group of inspired little imps ever assembled together. George Ali's dog and alligator will thrill and awe children the world over.

Ernest Torrence as Captain Hook gives a masterpiece of brilliant satirical characterization. If Torrence made his first appearance on screen in this part he would be heralded as one of the screen's great character actors; most certainly he rivals his Bill Jackson in "The Covered Wagon."

And now for Betty Bronson's "Peter Pan." I saw Maude Adams create this character. It was the inspired performance of a great artist creating a new and different role, a performance so great that it will never be forgotten as long as history of the legitimate stage is remembered. But Betty Bronson does not give a performance; she is "Peter Pan." This inspired child simply lives the role until you forget she is an actress playing a part. Her performance is almost uncanny inasmuch as it is impossible to believe that here is a new personality making her debut as an actress. Twenty years experience could not have added to the witchery and charm and pathos which she injects into the role of the little boy who did not want to grow up. I have said many times we will never live to see another Mary Pickford. I think when you have seen Betty Bronson's performance you will agree with me that I can take this back.

Herbert Brenon, by his sympathetic direction and keen interpretation of Barrie's classic, has made a lasting place for himself among the motion picture directorial geniuses and Roy Pomeroy, who assisted him, has accomplished marvels in making the pirate ship flying through the clouds, the children learing to fly, visualization of Tinker Bell and other scenes entirely new to screen. As you know we have patiently held on to "Peter Pan" for seven long years, but last night I felt we had our reward for the long wait. We are sending forth for the holiday season the greatest gift the motion picture has yet offered its millions of patrons, a picture which will add its bit to the happiness of the world which deserves to live forever and which will at least outlast us all. Kindest regards. JESSE L. LASKY.

"Peter Pan" opens at the Ceramic theatre New Year's day.

Waited Till the Cows Came Home.

"I am indeed glad to write you this letter. I was a terrible sufferer from gases in the stomach and colic attacks. The specialist, our family doctor sent me to in Philadelphia, gave me no relief, although I took his medicine till the cows came home. He finally said I would have to be operated on. Luckily I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy then, and although it is now three years since I took a course of it, I have never had a symptom of my old trouble since." FAST SET NAMED IN SCOTT CASE

Prominent Men Dragged Into Alpena, Mich., Divorce Hearing.

ALPENA, Mich., Dec. 31.—Representative Frank D. Scott of Michigan, who is suing his wife for divorce, was to undergo another stiff grill on the witness stand today concerning alleged drinking and gambling for high stakes by members of congress and the so-called fast set in Washington. Testifying yesterday Scott declared that congressmen "always followed the tradition laid down by 'Uncle Joe' Cannon of Illinois—to stick to a ten cent limit." Scott denied he ever lost $1,500 at one sitting, or that Rep. Allen Moore, of Monticello, Ills., with whom he is alleged to have played steadily at the "Boars' Nest" on K street in Washington, had ever endorsed his note for $4,000 to cover losses at cards.

Scott was much more vague concerning charges that he imported liquor from Panama on trips he took there with congressmen and as to drinking on board the steamer Christobel.

Ward Peck, counsel for Mrs. Scott, named several members of congress and public officials whom the wife charges Scott often gambled with.

Representative Dan Anthony of Kansas, "Billy" Wilson, an official of the department of justice, Guy Stanifer, of Seattle, Wash.; "Pete" McClain of Marion, Ohio; Thomas Miller, of the Alien property custodian's office, and various members of congress were on the list of names Peck fired at Scott in connection with his quiz as to the games that are said to have occurred in room 225 of the New Willard hotel and at the "Boar's Nest" in the Champlain apartments on K street.

Washingtonville	308.75	233.75

Largest Single Credit.

During the May distribution of these funds, East Palestine did not receive any money, and in the June distribution there was no credit due Salem, Salineville, Wellsville or Washingtonville. Washingtonville was also shy a credit in the July disbursement. In all other instances, every corporation of the county received a share of the eight disbursements.

The smallest distribution during the year was $2.12, placed to the credit of Hanoverton in the May settlement.

The March disbursement was the heaviest, a voucher for $37,032.18 being received from Columbus. The May disbursement, $1,722.87, was the smallest.

East Liverpool received the largest single credit during the year, $9,547.09 in March.

LISTS VIOLENT DEATHS AT 18

Eighteen violent deaths, necessitating inquest, occurred in Columbiana county during 1924, Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, reported today.

Of this number two were listed as having been killed in automobile accidents. They were F. M. Hayes, of this city, who died Monday night after having been struck by a motor car and Edward B. Wright, also of East Liverpool, who was killed at a grade crossing near Columbiana on October 23.

Four others met death on railroads.

A number of other fatal accidents occurred in the county during the year, but no coroner's inquest was necessary. Other violent deaths reported by Van Fossan were as follows: Suicides 5, homicides 2, killed by electric shock 1, killed in coal mine 1, alcoholism 1 and drowned 2.

of Highways Boulay that all grade crossings throughout the state be eliminated. Reckless and careless driving, operating machines while intoxicated, and "stepping on the gas" on "joyrides" in the early morning hours when the highway was open and clear were other frequent causes of fatal accidents, according to officials.

Crowded and inadequate city streets, laid out long before the day of modern needs, have caused the total of auto deaths in the larger cities to mount constantly, although not in proportion to the increased use of autos, traffic officials in Cleveland declared.

Cuyahoga Leads State.

Cuyahoga county, with a total death list in excess of 200, lead the state in the number of auto deaths. Hamilton county, with 102, was second, and Franklin county, with 86, was third. Lucas, with 46, and Summit, with 45, were running neck and neck for fourth place, while Butler was sixth with 40 auto deaths. Stark county reported 38, and Mahoning 35, but Marion county, where 26 deaths were attributed to various automobile causes, had the highest proportionate death rate in the state from this cause, with the exception of Wood county, where the total of 20 deaths was largely contributed to by the wiping out of the entire Updegraff family of seven when their car was hit by a train at a grade crossing.

Lorain county, with 18 auto deaths, Scioto, with 17, Jefferson, with 13, Seneca, with 12, and Muskingum, with 11, were other counties in which the auto casualties reached two figures.

Legislature May Act

Ashland, Vinton, Champaign and Lawrence counties reported no deaths due to either auto or grade crossing accidents during the year. Hardin and Darke counties had no auto casualties, but the former reported seven killed in grade crossing accidents, while the latter had six.

A number of measures to cope with the growing death toll will be presented to the Ohio legislature convening next week. The Cleveland Safety Council and the State Automobile association are reported as backing rival plans of licensing those who operate automobiles.

the visit at various homes about the city. They will sing at the Elks' temple, where a dance will be in progress, at 11:30 o'clock.

There will be roller skating at Rock Springs park until after the hour of midnight and also on Thursday afternoon and evening.

New Year's Day Events.

At the St. Aloysius Catholic church, low Mass will be celebrated at 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 a. m. Thursday, followed by high Mass at 11 o'clock. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will follow the 11 o'clock service. Rev. Fathers T. A. Dunne and J. W. Fowler will conduct the services.

A Young People's meeting will be held in the Salvation Army citadel at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

A New Year's afternoon tea and card party will be held at the Country Club between 3 and 6 o'clock, and a card party in the evening. This affair will be for members of the club, their families and friends.

All theatres have arranged special holiday attractions.

Union Watch Services.

Union watch services of the down town churches will be held in the First United Presbyterian church starting at 10 o'clock. Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preside. The song service will be in charge of Prof. H. F. Laughlin. Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will read the scripture lesson. Solos will be delivered by Oliver Johnson and Mrs. A. G. Ellis. Fifteen-minute talks will be delivered by Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, and Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. The service will end shortly after 12 o'clock.

The Salvation Army tonight will conduct services in the Third street citadel at 8 o'clock, preceded by an open air meeting. The watch services in the citadel will begin at 10 o'clock.

Business Houses Closed.

East End churches will hold their union meeting in the Second Presbyterian church. Pastors of the co-operating congregations will take part.

Manufacturing operations and all business will be at a standstill for the day.

The usual holiday schedule will be in effect at the downtown and station postoffices. The general delivery and stamp windows will be open from 9 to 10 a. m., while the money order, registry and postal savings departments will be closed all day. There will be no mail delivery on either the city or rural routes, although special delivery service will be maintained throughout the day. Mails will be received and dispatched as usual.

The first three members of the Rotary club were a coal dealer, a mining expert and a tailor.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Stocks were reactionary in the first period today as the result of the heavy offerings of industrial and specialty stocks.

General Electric was the most notable exception to the general reactionary tone. Reports that active trading had already begun in the stock of the new corporation that is to be formed to take over the Electric Bond and Share company, at around $100 a share, brought a heavy demand for the old stock, which jumped 11 points at the opening of the market and sold 16 points higher before the end of the first hour. Radio, Beechnut and other active specialty stocks followed the turn of the tide and were soon headed for higher price levels. Wright Areonatical corporation joined the active list and sold 3 points higher at 2?%. Davison Chemical and Universal Pipe resumed their forward movement after slight interruption. The St Paul stocks recovered from Tuesday's decline and sold more than a point higher. American Can got back to 159 for a gain of 3 points and Cast Iron Pipe was up 3.

Wheat staged a sharp comeback in the Chicago market. Call money renewed at 5 per cent. A decline of 46,000 barrels a day in crude oil production last week was reported by the Oil City Derrick. The Iron Age reported steel mills operating at 80 to 85 per cent capacity with a heavy influx of orders for steel products in the last week of the year.

American Woolen, however, sold down about 2 points on announcement that William M. Wood had relinquished the helm.

The Oil stocks were firm with increasing interest in the low priced shares in which Skelly Oil, up nearly 2 points to a new high at 24⅝, was the new leader.

Chauffeur is Dead; Woman Unconscious Beside His Body

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 31.—An autopsy was to be held today to determine what caused the death of Gorge W. Sheppard, 29, a New York City chauffeur, and rendered a young woman unconscious in a downtown apartment here last night. Sheppard was dead when police entered the apartment. The young woman was stretched on a bed beside his body. She revived at a hospital and said she was Mrs. Walter Dorsey, wife of a Jacksonville realty dealer. Police said she could not give them any clue.

STATE SEEKS FEE PAYMENT

Crabbe Files Suits Against Two Former Clerks of Court.

The petition against Williams, L. H. Richardson, former clerks of court in Columbiana county, have been made the defendants in suits which have been filed in the common pleas court at Lisbon by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe to collect judgments on fees alleged to have been collected from applicants for naturalization papers.

George B. Williams and Alfred U. Miller, Virginia M. Williams, and the Maryland Casualty Company, the latter a bonding company for Mr. Williams, alleges that he owes the county $877.50. It is declared that there is due in his office for his first term of courts $288 on declarations of intent to become citizens and $140 on petitions. Applicants for citizenship papers are charged 50 cents when the declaration is filed and a fee of $200 when the petition is received. He is also alleged to have collected $449.50 in the same manner during his second term of office.

The Fidelity and Deposit Company, of Maryland, is made a party defendant in the suit against Richardson, who, it is alleged, owes the county $424. During his first term of office, Richardson is alleged to have collected $68 and during his second term $424.

The petitions were signed by Attorney General Crabbe, Arthur H. Wicks, special counsel, and Prosecuting Attorney, Jesse C. Hanley.

ADNAH L. WHITE THRIFT LEADER

Building and Loan Company Officer is Local Chairman.

Adnah L. White, secretary of the Federal Building & Loan company, of East End, was today appointed local chairman of Thrift Week which will be observed throughout Ohio during the week of January 17-23.

Building and loan interests are especially interested in "Thrift Day," Monday, January 19; "Own Your Own Home Day," Wednesday, January 21, and "Safe Investment Day, on Friday, January 23.

Other days to be observed are: "Pay Bills Day" on Saturday, January 17; "Share With Others Day," Sunday, January 18; "Life Insurance Day," Tuesday, January 20 and "Budget Day," Thursday, January 22.

The observance begins on January 17, birthday of Benjamin Franklin, who has been called the "apostle of thrift."

The story of thrift will be carried to all parts of the state in the campaign. It was through the Thrift Week efforts about four years ago, according to Mr. White, that steps were taken against the sale of wild cat securities. When this campaign was launched, Ohioans were investing about $100,000,000 annually in securities, which, in many instances, proved to be worthless. Now, as a result of the educational movement, the sale of such securities has been practically stopped.

SCHOOL BOARD MEET POSTPONED

Regular meeting of the board of education, scheduled for Thursday night, has been postponed because of the holiday.

The board will meet Monday, January 5, to reorganize for the new year, this date being fixed by law.

State Clemency Board Member Ill.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 31.—Suffering from exertion, Dantel W. Williams, Jackson, member of the state clemency board is in Mt. Carmel hospital here. His condition is not deemed serious. Ben Ames Williams, Boston, well known author, is at his father's bedside.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the sickness and death of our beloved husband and father, also for the beautiful floral offerings.

MRS. CHARLES STEENSON AND FAMILY.

DEAN OF MIAMI TEACHERS' HEAD

State Association Closes Convention in Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 31.—With Dean H. C. Minnich, school of education, Miami University, as the newly chosen president of the Ohio Teachers' association, the closing session of the association's mid-winter meeting was held here today, marked by submission of numerous committee reports.

Other officers chosen include: Supt. U. L. Light, Barberton, member board of control of the reading circle; Josephine Hammond, Steubenville, and Sue Hawker, Bucyrus, members of the executive council; John R. Patterson, Athens, member for three years of the executive committee; Lester S. Irvins, Kent State Teachers' college, president of the teacher training section; George Carrothers, Ohio University, member of executive committee; H. L. Bates, superintendent Noble county schools, president of the village and county superintendent's department; Assistant Superintendent C. L. Brown, vice president.

Following an extended and heated debate, the representative assembly, by a vote of 144 to 108, approved the proposal that the state legislature enact a "teachers' tenure" law, designed to prevent removal from their positions after they have served three years in the same school. The proposed law would restrict removals to teachers found guilty, after a hearing before the board of education on written charges, preferred by the superintendent, of "inefficiency, neglect of duty, immorality or improper conduct."

France's War Debt

from France that will end this controversy once and for all.

The highest officials of the government characterize the debt controversy as a greater menace to the cordality of Franco-American relations than anything that has ever arisen between the two countries in modern times. A continuance of the squabble much longer, they believe, will lead to complications almost incomprehensible in their effect on world relations.

Congress is openly threatening today to take the bit in its teeth on the debt question.

Congress Threatens Action.

This is exemplified by the announcement privately made by one administration senator that unless the French government quits "flirting" with cancellation and repudiation, and gets down to "brass tacks" talk of settlement, he will introduce, at the end of 30 days, a resolution expressing the sense of congress that all private French credits in this country should be immediately cut off. The adoption of such resolution is considered assured—so warm is the feeling on the part of Republicans and Democrats alike on the question of war debts.

While the simple adoption of the resolution would not legally prevent American bankers from extending further credits, the moral effect of such a resolution in the financial world would be great enough, it was said, to stop French credit just as effectually as if legal barriers were erected. The fact that the American congress has no faith in France's capacity to pay would act as a decided deterrent to the American investor.

Even now, it was pointed out today, as a result of M. Clemenc'el's hints of repudiation and the squabble that has ensued, French bonds are falling off, and a check has been put upon the plans of some New York bankers for further French credits totaling around $200,000,000.

Property Owners Must File Protests On Regular Forms

Property holders of the county seeking to register complaints regarding valuations placed upon their property must obtain special blanks, provided for this purpose from the office of the county auditor at Lisbon. These blanks will be issued upon application.

Detailed information regarding the property at issue must be given upon the blanks before the complaint will be considered. The blank must then be sworn to before a notary public.

Complaints will be received by the board of revision up to and including January 20. The board of revision, which is made up af Auditor C. E. Hamilton, County Treasurer Pike and Conrad Berg, chairman of the board of county commissioners, has not indicated when it will meet to consider complaints.

Parties, filing complaints regarding valuations, will be notified when to appear before the board. Any adjustments in valuation which are authorized by the board will be rectified with the June tax payment, it has been announced.

Railway Express Co. Stables, Third St., Threatened by Fire

Stables of the American Railway Express company, East Third street, were threatened by fire, which broke out about 8:15 o'clock last night.

The blaze was discovered in the hay mow by employes, who called the fire department. Fearing that the building was doomed, nine horses, housed in the stable, were led to safety. The fire was controlled before much damage resulted. The loss, which was confined to the upper part of the barn, is covered by insurance.

The building adjoins the old Millfron stables destroyed by fire last summer with a loss of about 25 head of horses, wagons and other equipment valued at $10,000.

"Peter Pan" Makes New Motion Picture History; at Ceramic

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 9, 1924.

Adolph Zukor, 485 Fifth ave., New York, N. Y.

Last night I saw "Peter Pan;" and before the picture was half over I knew that I was participating in an event which would make new motion picture history. Just as Griffith's "Birth of a Nation," Fairbanks' "Robin Hood," Ingram's "Four Horsemen," Cruize's "Covered Wagon" and DeMille's "Ten Commandments" all marked milestones of progress in motion picture production, so Brenon's production of Barrie's "Peter Pan" will add to the glory of the screen. Here is the different motion picture which we have all been hoping for. Running the gamut of emotions, laughter, thrills, spectacle and tears, it is not comparable to anything ever produced before. One single element alone will make of it a great and lasting drawing card which will pile up records everywhere and this is its extraordinary appeal to mothers and fathers.

And what a cast of new faces destined to become famous. The charm and fresh appeal of Esther Ralston as Mrs. Darling and Mary Brian as Wendy would carry an average picture. The children who play Michael and John tug your heart strings, and the little lost boys of the Never Never Land are most adorable group of inspired little imps ever assembled together. George Ali's dog and alligator will thrill and awe children the world over.

Ernest Torrence as Captain Hook gives a masterpiece of brilliant satirical characterization. If Torrence made his first appearance on screen in this part he would be heralded as one of the screen's great character actors; most certainly he rivals his Bill Jackson in "The Covered Wagon."

And now for Betty Bronson's "Peter Pan." I saw Maude Adams create this character. It was the inspired performance of a great artist creating a new and different role, a performance so great that it will never be forgotten as long as history of the legitimate stage is remembered. But Betty Bronson does not give a performance; she is "Peter Pan." This inspired child simply lives the role until you forget she is an actress playing a part. Her performance is almost uncanny inasmuch as it is impossible to believe that here is a new personality making her debut as an actress. Twenty years experience could not have added to the witchery and charm and pathos which she injects into the role of the little boy who did not want to grow up. I have said many times we will never live to see another Mary Pickford. I think when you have seen Betty Bronson's performance you will agree with me that I can take this back.

Herbert Brenon, by his sympathetic direction and keen interpretation of Barrie's classic, has made a lasting place for himself among the motion picture directorial geniuses and Roy Pomeroy, who assisted him, has accomplished marvels in making the pirate ship flying through the clouds, the children learing to fly, visualization of Tinker Bell and other scenes entirely new to screen. As you know we have patiently held on to "Peter Pan" for seven long years, but last night I felt we had our reward for the long wait. We are sending forth for the holiday season the greatest gift the motion picture has yet offered its millions of patrons, a picture which will add its bit to the happiness of the world which deserves to live forever and which will at least outlast us all. Kindest regards. JESSE L. LASKY.

"Peter Pan" opens at the Ceramic theatre New Year's day.

Waited Till the Cows Came Home.

"I am indeed glad to write you this letter. I was a terrible sufferer from gases in the stomach and colic attacks. The specialist, our family doctor sent me to in Philadelphia, gave me no relief, although I took his medicine till the cows came home. He finally said I would have to be operated on. Luckily I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy then, and although it is now three years since I took a course of it, I have never had a symptom of my old trouble since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. FAST SET NAMED IN SCOTT CASE

Prominent Men Dragged Into Alpena, Mich., Divorce Hearing.

ALPENA, Mich., Dec. 31.—Representative Frank D. Scott of Michigan, who is suing his wife for divorce, was to undergo another stiff grill on the witness stand today concerning alleged drinking and gambling for high stakes by members of congress and the so-called fast set in Washington. Testifying yesterday Scott declared that congressmen "always followed the tradition laid down by 'Uncle Joe' Cannon of Illinois—to stick to a ten cent limit." Scott denied he ever lost $1,500 at one sitting, or that Rep. Allen Moore, of Monticello, Ills., with whom he is alleged to have played steadily at the "Boars' Nest" on K street in Washington, had ever endorsed his note for $4,000 to cover losses at cards.

Scott was much more vague concerning charges that he imported liquor from Panama on trips he took there with congressmen and as to drinking on board the steamer Christobel.

Ward Peck, counsel for Mrs. Scott, named several members of congress and public officials whom the wife charges Scott often gambled with.

Representative Dan Anthony of Kansas, "Billy" Wilson, an official of the department of justice, Guy Stanifer, of Seattle, Wash.; "Pete" McClain of Marion, Ohio; Thomas Miller, of the Alien property custodian's office, and various members of congress were on the list of names Peck fired at Scott in connection with his quiz as to the games that are said to have occurred in room 225 of the New Willard hotel and at the "Boar's Nest" in the Champlain apartments on K street.

Largest Single Credit.

During the May distribution of these funds, East Palestine did not receive any money, and in the June distribution there was no credit due Salem, Salineville, Wellsville or Washingtonville. Washingtonville was also shy a credit in the July disbursement. In all other instances, every corporation of the county received a share of the eight disbursements.

The smallest distribution during the year was $2.11, placed to the credit of Hanoverton in the May settlement.

The March disbursement was the heaviest, a voucher for $37,032.18 being received from Columbus. The May disbursement, $1,722.37, was the smallest.

East Liverpool received the largest single credit during the year, $9,547.09 in March.

LISTS VIOLENT DEATHS AT 18

Eighteen violent deaths, necessitating inquest, occurred in Columbiana county during 1924, Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, reported today.

Of this number two were listed as having been killed in automobile accidents. They were F. M. Hayes, of this city, who died Monday night after having been struck by a motor car and Edward B. Wright, also of East Liverpool, who was killed at a grade crossing near Columbiana on October 23.

Four others met death on railroads.

A number of other fatal accidents occurred in the county during the year, but no coroner's inquest was necessary. Other violent deaths reported by Van Fossan were as follows: Suicides 5, homicides 2, killed by electric shock 1, killed in coal mine 1, alcoholism 1 and drowned 2.

of Highways Boulay that all grade crossings throughout the state be eliminated. Reckless and careless driving, operating machines while intoxicated, and "stepping on the gas" on "joyrides" in the early morning hours when the highway was open and clear were other frequent causes of fatal accidents, according to officials.

Crowded and inadequate city streets, laid out long before the day of modern needs, have caused the total of auto deaths in the larger cities to mount constantly, although not in proportion to the increased use of autos, traffic officials in Cleveland declared.

Cuyahoga Leads State.

Cuyahoga county, with a total death list in excess of 200, lead the state in the number of auto deaths. Hamilton county, with 102, was second, and Franklin county, with 86, was third. Lucas, with 46, and Summit, with 45, were running neck and neck for fourth place, while Butler was sixth with 40 auto deaths. Stark county reported 38, and Mahoning 35, but Marion county, where 26 deaths were attributed to various automobile causes, had the highest proportionate death rate in the state from this cause, with the exception of Wood county, where the total of 20 deaths was largely contributed to by the wiping out of the entire Updegraff family of seven when their car was hit by a train at a grade crossing.

Lorain county, with 18 auto deaths, Scioto, with 17, Jefferson, with 13, Seneca, with 12, and Muskingum, with 11, were other counties in which the auto casualties reached two figures.

Legislature May Act

Ashland, Vinton, Champaign and Lawrence counties reported no deaths due to either auto or grade crossing accidents during the year. Hardin and Darke counties had no auto casualties, but the former reported seven killed in grade crossing accidents, while the latter had six.

A number of measures to cope with the growing death toll will be presented to the Ohio legislature convening next week. The Cleveland Safety Council and the State Automobile association are reported as backing rival plans of licensing those who operate automobiles.

All theatres have arranged special holiday attractions.

Union Watch Services.

Union watch services of the down town churches will be held in the First United Presbyterian church starting at 10 o'clock. Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preside. The song service will be in charge of Prof. H. F. Laughlin. Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will read the scripture lesson. Solos will be delivered by Oliver Johnson and Mrs. A. G. Ellis. Fifteen-minute talks will be delivered by Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, and Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. The service will end shortly after 12 o'clock.

The Salvation Army tonight will conduct services in the Third street citadel at 8 o'clock, preceded by an open air meeting. The watch services in the citadel will begin at 10 o'clock.

Business Houses Closed.

East End churches will hold their union meeting in the Second Presbyterian church. Pastors of the co-operating congregations will take part.

Manufacturing operations and all business will be at a standstill for the day.

The usual holiday schedule will be in effect at the downtown and station postoffices. The general delivery and stamp windows will be open from 9 to 10 a. m., while the money order, registry and postal savings departments will be closed all day. There will be no mail delivery on either the city or rural routes, although special delivery service will be maintained throughout the day. Mails will be received and dispatched as usual.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Stocks were reactionary in the first period today as the result of the heavy offerings of industrial and specialty stocks.

General Electric was the most notable exception to the general reactionary tone. Reports that active trading had already begun in the stock of the new corporation that is to be formed to take over the Electric Bond and Share company, at around $100 a share, brought a heavy demand for the old stock, which jumped 11 points at the opening of the market and sold 16 points higher before the end of the first hour. Radio, Beechnut and other active specialty stocks followed the turn of the tide and were soon headed for higher price levels. Wright Areonatical corporation joined the active list and sold 3 points higher at 27⅞. Davison Chemical and Universal Pipe resumed their forward movement after slight interruption. The St Paul stocks recovered from Tuesday's decline and sold more than a point higher. American Can got back to 159 for a gain of 3 points and Cast Iron Pipe was up 3.

Wheat staged a sharp comeback in the Chicago market. Call money renewed at 5 per cent. A decline of 46,000 barrels a day in crude oil production last week was reported by the Oil City Derrick. The Iron Age reported steel mills operating at 80 to 85 per cent capacity with a heavy influx of orders for steel products in the last week of the year.

American Woolen, however, sold down about 2 points on announcement that William M. Wood had relinquished the helm.

The Oil stocks were firm with increasing interest in the low priced shares in which Skelly Oil, up nearly 2 points to a new high at 24⅝, was the new leader.

Chauffeur is Dead; Woman Unconscious Beside His Body

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 31.—An autopsy was to be held today to determine what caused the death of Gorge W. Sheppard, 29, a New York City chauffeur, and rendered a young woman unconscious in a downtown apartment here last night. Sheppard was dead when police entered the apartment. The young woman was stretched on a bed beside his body. She revived at a hospital and said she was Mrs. Walter Dorsey, wife of a Jacksonville realty dealer. Police said she could not give them any clue.

STATE SEEKS FEE PAYMENT

Crabbe Files Suits Against Two Former Clerks of Court.

The petition against Williams, L. H. Richardson, former clerks of court in Columbiana county, have been made the defendants in suits which have been filed in the common pleas court at Lisbon by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe to collect judgments on fees alleged to have been collected from applicants for naturalization papers.

George B. Williams and Alfred U. Miller, Virginia M. Williams, and the Maryland Casualty Company, the latter a bonding company for Mr. Williams, alleges that he owes the county $877.50. It is declared that there is due in his office for his first term of courts $288 on declarations of intent to become citizens and $140 on petitions. Applicants for citizenship papers are charged 50 cents when the declaration is filed and a fee of $200 when the petition is received. He is also alleged to have collected $449.50 in the same manner during his second term of office.

The Fidelity and Deposit Company, of Maryland, is made a party defendant in the suit against Richardson, who, it is alleged, owes the county $424. During his first term of office, Richardson is alleged to have collected $68 and during his second term $424.

The petitions were signed by Attorney General Crabbe, Arthur H. Wicks, special counsel, and Prosecuting Attorney, Jesse C. Hanley.

ADNAH L. WHITE THRIFT LEADER

Building and Loan Company Officer is Local Chairman.

Adnah L. White, secretary of the Federal Building & Loan company, of East End, was today appointed local chairman of Thrift Week which will be observed throughout Ohio during the week of January 17-23.

Building and loan interests are especially interested in "Thrift Day," Monday, January 19; "Own Your Own Home Day," Wednesday, January 21, and "Safe Investment Day, on Friday, January 23.

Other days to be observed are: "Pay Bills Day" on Saturday, January 17; "Share With Others Day," Sunday, January 18; "Life Insurance Day," Tuesday, January 20 and "Budget Day," Thursday, January 22.

The observance begins on January 17, birthday of Benjamin Franklin, who has been called the "apostle of thrift."

The story of thrift will be carried to all parts of the state in the campaign. It was through the Thrift Week efforts about four years ago, according to Mr. White, that steps were taken against the sale of wild cat securities. When this campaign was launched, Ohioans were investing about $100,000,000 annually in securities, which, in many instances, proved to be worthless. Now, as a result of the educational movement, the sale of such securities has been practically stopped.

SCHOOL BOARD MEET POSTPONED

Regular meeting of the board of education, scheduled for Thursday night, has been postponed because of the holiday.

The board will meet Monday, January 5, to reorganize for the new year, this date being fixed by law.

DEAN OF MIAMI TEACHERS' HEAD

State Association Closes Convention in Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 31.—With Dean H. C. Minnich, school of education, Miami University, as the newly chosen president of the Ohio Teachers' association, the closing session of the association's mid-winter meeting was held here today, marked by submission of numerous committee reports.

Other officers chosen include: Supt. U. L. Light, Barberton, member board of control of the reading circle; Josephine Hammond, Steubenville, and Sue Hawker, Bucyrus, members of the executive council; John R. Patterson, Athens, member for three years of the executive committee; Lester S. Irvins, Kent State Teachers' college, president of the teacher training section; George Carrothers, Ohio University, member of executive committee; H. L. Bates, superintendent Noble county schools, president of the village and county superintendent's department; Assistant Superintendent C. L. Brown, vice president.

Following an extended and heated debate, the representative assembdy, by a vote of 144 to 108, approved the proposal that the state legislature enact a "teachers' tenure" law, designed to prevent removal from their positions after they have served three years in the same school. The proposed law would restrict removals to teachers found guilty, after a hearing before the board of education on written charges, preferred by the superintendent, of "inefficiency, neglect of duty, immorality or improper conduct."

France's War Debt

from France that will end this controversy once and for all.

The highest officials of the government characterize the debt controversy as a greater menace to the cordality of Franco-American relations than anything that has ever arisen between the two countries in modern times. A continuance of the squabble much longer, they believe, will lead to complications almost incomprehensible in their effect on world relations.

Congress is openly threatening today to take the bit in its teeth on the debt question.

Congress Threatens Action.

This is exemplified by the announcement privately made by one administration senator that unless the French government quits "flirting" with cancellation and repudiation, and gets down to "brass tacks" talk of settlement, he will introduce, at the end of 30 days, a resolution expressing the sense of congress that all private French credits in this country should be immediately cut off. The adoption of such resolution is considered assured—so warm is the feeling on the part of Republicans and Democrats alike on the question of war debts.

While the simple adoption of the resolution would not legally prevent American bankers from extending further credits, the moral effect of such a resolution in the financial world would be great enough, it was said, to stop French credit just as effectually as if legal barriers were erected. The fact that the American congress has no faith in France's capacity to pay would act as a decided deterrent to the American investor.

Even now, it was pointed out today, as a result of M. Clemenc'el's hints of repudiation and the squabble that has ensued, French bonds are falling off, and a check has been put upon the plans of some New York bankers for further French credits totaling around $200,000,000.

Property Owners Must File Protests On Regular Forms

Property holders of the county seeking to register complaints regarding valuations placed upon their property must obtain special blanks, provided for this purpose from the office of the county auditor at Lisbon. These blanks will be issued upon application.

Detailed information regarding the property at issue must be given upon the blanks before the complaint will be considered. The blank must then be sworn to before a notary public.

Complaints will be received by the board of revision up to and including January 20. The board of revision, which is made up af Auditor C. E. Hamilton, County Treasurer Pike and Conrad Berg, chairman of the board of county commissioners, has not indicated when it will meet to consider complaints.

Parties, filing complaints regarding valuations, will be notified when to appear before the board. Any adjustments in valuation which are authorized by the board will be rectified with the June tax payment, it has been announced.

Railway Express Co. Stables, Third St., Threatened by Fire

Stables of the American Railway Express company, East Third street, were threatened by fire, which broke out about 8:15 o'clock last night.

The blaze was discovered in the hay mow by employes, who called the fire department. Fearing that the building was doomed, nine horses, housed in the stable, were led to safety. The fire was controlled before much damage resulted. The loss, which was confined to the upper part of the barn, is covered by insurance.

The building adjoins the old Milliron stables destroyed by fire last summer with a loss of about 25 head of horses, wagons and other equipment valued at $10,000.

"Peter Pan" Makes New Motion Picture History; at Ceramic

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 9, 1924.

Adolph Zukor, 485 Fifth ave., New York, N. Y.

Last night I saw "Peter Pan;" and before the picture was half over I knew that I was participating in an event which would make new motion picture history. Just as Griffith's "Birth of a Nation," Fairbanks' "Robin Hood," Ingram's "Four Horsemen," Cruize's "Covered Wagon" and DeMille's "Ten Commandments" all marked milestones of progress in motion picture production, so Brenon's production of Barrie's "Peter Pan" will add to the glory of the screen. Here is the different motion picture which we have all been hoping for. Running the gamut of emotions, laughter, thrills, spectacle and tears, it is not comparable to anything ever produced before. One single element alone will make of it a great and lasting drawing card which will pile up records everywhere and this is its extraordinary appeal to mothers and fathers.

And what a cast of new faces destined to become famous. The charm and fresh appeal of Esther Ralston as Mrs. Darling and Mary Brian as Wendy would carry an average picture. The children who play Michael and John tug your heart strings, and the little lost boys of the Never Never Land are most adorable group of inspired little imps ever assembled together. George Ali's dog and alligator will thrill and awe children the world over.

Ernest Torrence as Captain Hook gives a masterpiece of brilliant satirical characterization. If Torrence made his first appearance on screen in this part he would be heralded as one of the screen's great character actors; most certainly he rivals his Bill Jackson in "The Covered Wagon."

And now for Betty Bronson's "Peter Pan." I saw Maude Adams create this character. It was the inspired performance of a great artist creating a new and different role, a performance so great that it will never be forgotten as long as history of the legitimate stage is remembered. But Betty Bronson does not give a performance; she is "Peter Pan." This inspired child simply lives the role until you forget she is an actress playing a part. Her performance is almost uncanny inasmuch as it is impossible to believe that here is a new personality making her debut as an actress. Twenty years experience could not have added to the witchery and charm and pathos which she injects into the role of the little boy who did not want to grow up. I have said many times we will never live to see another Mary Pickford. I think when you have seen Betty Bronson's performance you will agree with me that I can take this back.

Herbert Brenon, by his sympathetic direction and keen interpretation of Barrie's classic, has made a lasting place for himself among the motion picture directorial geniuses and Roy Pomeroy, who assisted him, has accomplished marvels in making the pirate ship flying through the clouds, the children learing to fly, visualization of Tinker Bell and other scenes entirely new to screen. As you know we have patiently held on to "Peter Pan" for seven long years, but last night I felt we had our reward for the long wait. We are sending forth for the holiday season the greatest gift the motion picture has yet offered its millions of patrons, a picture which will add its bit to the happiness of the world which deserves to live forever and which will at least outlast us all. Kindest regards. JESSE L. LASKY.

"Peter Pan" opens at the Ceramic theatre New Year's day.

Waited Till the Cows Came Home.

"I am indeed glad to write you this letter. I was a terrible sufferer from gases in the stomach and colic attacks. The specialist, our family doctor sent me to in Philadelphia, gave me no relief, although I took his medicine till the cows came home. He finally said I would have to be operated on. Luckily I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy then, and although it is now three years since I took a course of it, I have never had a symptom of my old trouble since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. KIWANIS PLANS NEW YEAR PARTY

Special Program Arranged for Ladies' Night Meet.

Officers who guided the Kiwanis club during the year which closes tonight and officers who will control affairs of the organization in 1925 will be honor guests at the club's ladies' night party and entertainment which will be held Thursday night in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church here.

The party will mark the first New Year's ladies' night entertainment of the club. In former years similar affairs were held at Christmas time.

Dr. J. M. King, president of the club during 1924, and C. J. Vogel, who will head the Kiwanians in 1925, will deliver short addresses. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

Music, stunts and attendance prizes have been carded as features of the program which will follow the dinner

WHO'LL BE FIRST TO GO TO JAIL?

Who will have the "honor" of being the first inmate of the city jail in 1925?

Mayor James S. Barnes today had no idea as to who it might be, but assured his police that there would be no discrimination in case of any unexpected rush.

It so happens that the jail this morning had no more prisoners than the city has surplus funds. It is possible that some one who may be unfortunate enough to fall into the police net today will have a little watch party of his own tonight. Officer Joseph McDevitt is hopeful, however, that folks will be good for the rest of this year, at least.

D. of A. Chapter Meets.

Daughters of America held their regular meeting last evening in their lodge rooms in Main street. The business session was followed by a social hour.

ANOTHER YEAR READY TO ENTER

The holiday order of affairs will rule tomorrow—January 1, the advent of another year.

Special services will be held in a number of the local churches tonight in the form of watch parties. The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church will start its program at 8:30 o'clock with pastimes appropriate to the occasion, and conclude with devotionals.

The congregation of the United Presbyterian church will share the program tonight with the young people. Services will start at 9 o'clock. Young people will have charge until 11. From then on until 12, Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor, will conduct religious services.

A number of dance entertainments and home parties have been scheduled for this evening. The Masonic social will entertain at a dance in the temple in Main street, beginning at 8:30. Local Elks expect to attend the dance to be given by the East Liverpool lodge.

Industry and business in general will suspend entirely, or partially, depending on requirements.

Holiday hours will rule at the postoffice during the day. Postoffice employes are just recovering their equilibrium after standing up beneath the heaviest barrage of holiday mail in years. Extra help was put on the work and overtime duty was the order so that the immense consignment of mail could be handled effectively.

CLAMPS DOWN LID ON LAW BREAKING

The lid goes on in Jefferson county on Monday, Jan. 5.

Prosecuting Attorney Roy N. Merryman has voiced his intention of issuing a close-up order on the day he assumes office, succeeding E. Stanton Pearce.

His clean-up order, he announces, will be county-wide in scope and will take in every form of law violation, including gambling, punch boards, slot machines, bootleggers, whisky runners, disorderly houses.

And, he asserts, he will enforce the order.

YOUR HEALTH

What Sunlight Means to You and to Your Home

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND

As I write the sun shines brightly. The world seems very good.

Everybody is influenced in body and mind by the effects of sunlight. In the Winter, especially, sunshine means everything to human welfare.

It would be a wonderful thing if every home and every working place had big airy, sunny rooms. This isn't possible, I know, but there are many folks who could give themselves such benefits if they thought about it and used a little energy.

In the country and in many a hamlet there are homes where the shades are down and the shutters closed on rooms that could be flooded with sunshine. Rooms of Southern exposure are never opened.

Take a look at your own home. Is the parlor the best situated room in the house? If so, why permit it to be a parlor for use only a few evenings a week? Why not make it a living-room and workroom and move the parlor furniture to some other less sunny room?

Is your kitchen a well-lighted and sunny place? If not, could some other room be used, or could a new window be cut to give it light and air?

What about the arrangement of your office space? Does it take advantage of the sunshine?

There is a temptation in cold weather to stay indoors. There is no season of the year where sunshine, fresh air and exercise are so needful.

Our grandmothers never failed to utilize sunlight for its disinfecting qualities. They "sunned" the bedclothes. They sunned the milkpan and the churn.

This was wise because there is no better way to kill germs than by exposure to the sunlight. Our ancestors didn't know what the scientific effect was, but they did know that it "sweetened" things to give them a sun bath.

It sweetens health and it sweetens life to get the sunshine. You are wise children, you are wise grown-ups if you give yourself all the sunlight possible. It will help you to keep well and to ward off disease.

The mind has a pronounced effect on the body. Sunshine makes the soul smile and this in turn makes life's currents move faster and clearer.

Answers to Health Questions

CURIOUS. Q.—My mother has a wart on the side of her face. Would this cause a cancer? Can it be removed? Can cancer be cured?

A.—Moles may be made less noticeable by the use of the electric needle, but this, of course, must be done by an expert. I would suggest that your mother consult a competent skin specialist and be guided by his judgment as to what procedure would be advisable in her particular case. Not necessarily. If cancer is discovered in its early stages there is good chance of recovery.

J. M. K. Q.—What causes my ear to discharge and what can I do for it?

2.—Will swimming in clean water injure the ear in any way while it is in this condition?

A.—This could be due to several conditions. You should go to an ear specialist without delay for an examination and treatment.

2.—If you put a piece of cotton in your ear while swimming, I do not believe that this will harm you.

KIWANIS PLANS NEW YEAR PARTY

Special Program Arranged for Ladies' Night Meet.

Officers who guided the Kiwanis club during the year which closes tonight and officers who will control affairs of the organization in 1925 will be honor guests at the club's ladies' night party and entertainment which will be held Thursday night in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church here.

The party will mark the first New Year's ladies' night entertainment of the club, in former years similar affairs were held at Christmas time.

Dr. J. M. King, president of the club during 1924, and C. J. Vogel, who will head the Kiwanians in 1925, will deliver short addresses. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

Music, stunts and attendance prizes have been carded as features of the program which will follow the dinner.

WHO'LL BE FIRST TO GO TO JAIL?

Who will have the "honor" of being the first inmate of the city jail in 1925?

Mayor James S. Barnes today had no idea as to who it might be, but assured his police that there would be no discrimination in case of any unexpected rush.

It so happens that the jail this morning had no more prisoners than the city has surplus funds. It is possible that some one who may be unfortunate enough to fall into the police net today will have a little watch party of his own tonight. Officer Joseph McDevitt is hopeful, however, that folks will be good for the rest of this year, at least.

D. of A. Chapter Meets.

ANOTHER YEAR READY TO ENTER

The holiday order of affairs will rule tomorrow—January 1, the advent of another year.

Special services will be held in a number of the local churches tonight in the form of watch parties. The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church will start its program at 8:30 o'clock with pastimes appropriate to the occasion, and conclude with devotionals.

The congregation of the United Presbyterian church will share the program tonight with the young people. Services will start at 9 o'clock. Young people will have charge until 11. From then on until 12, Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor, will conduct religious services.

A number of dance entertainments and home parties have been scheduled for this evening. The Masonic social will entertain at a dance in the temple in Main street, beginning at 8:30. Local Elks expect to attend the dance to be given by the East Liverpool lodge.

Industry and business in general will suspend entirely, or partially, depending on requirements.

Holiday hours will rule at the postoffice during the day. Postoffice employes are just recovering their equilibrium after standing up beneath the heaviest barrage of holiday mail in years. Extra help was put on the work and overtime duty was the order so that the immense consignment of mail could be handled effectively.

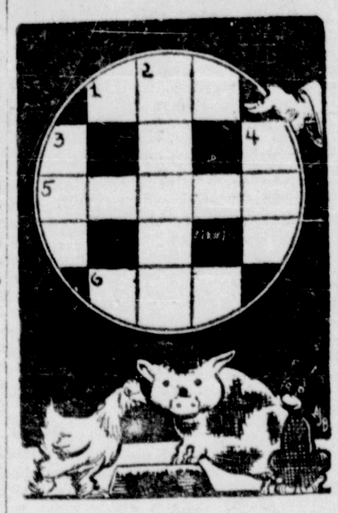
CHILDRENS CROSS WORD PUZZLE



How to Solve Puzzle.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across.)

Word 1. He's in the drawing above.

Word 5. Name of an automobile made in Detroit.

(Running Down).

Word 2. A country in Asia controlled by Great Britain.

Word 3. It is much like an axe, and is used to trim off the surface of wood.

Word 4. A barnyard fowl.

Reward For Safe.

ATHENS, O.—A reward of $100 has been offered by owners of the Moler feed store here in an effort to locate their safe which was carried away recently. It is believed the robbers live near here, and that they have not yet been able to open the strong box. Mike and John Kaufman, living near here, were arrested as suspects.

New Year Resolutions

Every day is the beginning of a new year to the wise person who has learned how to live usefully in the present, to look with constructive vision to the future and to turn to the past only for profitable experience or happy memories.

Nevertheless, the first day of a calendar year has special significance to most human beings. It marks a suitable occasion for casting off the sorrows and mistakes of the past year and turning eagerly to the New Year in which many good things may happen. Everyone expects, with the aid of a few good resolutions, to make progress along many lines in the next twelve months.

A resolution to get more real joy out of life is one that most Americans ought to make. And it is not such a selfish resolution as it may sound at first.

Some of the things which have lessened joy in this country and which give Americans in general a reputation of being less prosperous spiritually than they are materially could very comfortably be dispensed with. These are worry, over-work, pessimism, self- indulgence and doubt, the by-products of too much concentration on material prosperity as a goal in itself. If New Year's resolutions started a lot of irritable mortals to thinking and acting with courage, leisure, optimism, unselfishness, temperance and faith, the year, as it advances, would be one of the most satisfactory years on record.

Easy Come, Easy Go

A few months ago Lieutenant Osborne Wood, son of General Leonard Wood, stationed in the Philippines as his father's aide, was much envied because he had won more than half a million dollars speculating in stocks. His example, no doubt, led hundreds of other men, young and old, to gamble in hope of similar fortune. Every such bit of luck brings its aftermath of imitators.

But it is the same old story. Lieutenant Wood, resigning from the army with the announced intention of "entering the diplomatic service," went to Europe, probably with the honest intention of learning the diplomatic languages and ropes. The pleasant experience, however, of getting something for nothing, was hard to forget. According to recent cables, he plunged in European gambling centers as he had done on the New York stock exchange, and for a while, with equal success. He is said to have won 2,000,000 francs at Monte Calo and 1,000,000 at Biarritz. His confidence in his own star became confirmed. Then he started in on baccarat, at Paris. And baccarat got him and all his winnings. It was reported lately that he had cabled home for money.

"Easy come, easy go," seems to be almost a law of nature. The man who gets something for nothing doesn't appreciate it. Worse still, he imagines that he can keep on getting something for nothing. And at least 99 times out of 100, he loses in the end, finishing less prosperous and happy than he would have been if he had been content to work, according to the basic law of the universe, for what he got.

Domestic Disarmament

At last there is a prospect of action on the part of the United States government to disarm criminals. The house has passed a bill which bars from the mails deadly weapons capable of being concealed on the person. If the senate concurs, as it is expected to do, the interstate traffic in firearms will be greatly reduced. There will exist no longer the absurd situation of the government itself, through its postoffice department, delivering mail order weapons to individuals who are prevented by law from buying such weapons in their own communities.

Some mail order houses have recently discontinued selling firearms, of their own accord. This measure would compel the rest to quit. The bill, however is far from thorough in its dealing with the firearms problem. It will probably be necessary sooner or later to forbid all interestate traffic, of whatever kind, in deadly weapons, and also to establish strict control over their manufacture if the states do not see to that.

SKYROCKETS FOR 1925.

Wall Street buys and sells two million shares a day now, and nobody notices it. We quickly get used to prosperity. Brokers would consider a "million-share" an insult. But call money, with which lambs gamble, went to 5½ per cent yesterday. A few days ago it was 2½. Wall Street does notice that it's rather sad to pay for gambling money as high an interest rate as merchants and manufacturers have to pay for legitimate business loans.

The real stock gambling will begin after the New Year. Then look out for skyrocketing, to be followed by some falls that will make the speculator know just how Humpty-Dumpty felt.

TOO GOOD FOR UNCLE SAM

Senator Underwood, and others whose pure, innocent souls are above mere profit, might like to know something about the value of power shares and it would mean to the General Electric company if kind Mr. Underwood should make the General Electric the private owner of Uncle Sam's plant at Muscle Shoals.

Take one little light and power investment made by the far-seeing B. F. His wife asked him to invest for her $10,000. He paid $9,300 for $10,000 par value of power bonds. They carried the right of exchange for common stock at par. He exchanged the $10,000 bonds for 100 shares of common stock. The company issued 10 shares of stock for one.

The $10,000 investment could have been sold yesterday for $69,500. You'll admit that properties going up like that are really too good for Uncle Sam to keep.

On New Year's eve the old Liberty bell in Independence hall, Philadelphia, will ring 148 times, once for each year in the life of this nation. And the radio will carry the sound of the bell's voice over the land and across the water. That would interest intensely two men that signed the Declaration, Jefferson and Franklin, both interested in science.

Both had genius, but neither could have imagined the radio, except as a random guess. Even genius cannot think very far ahead of its own period.

1,600,000,000 YEARS

Scientists by modern methods prove that the earth's solid crust is at least sixteen hundred million years old. That adds considerably to the old idea of a world created 6,000 years ago. Feeble human imagination cannot grasp such a period as 1,600,000,000 years. Only 12,000 years ago we were in the stone age. But the earth's great age encourages up to believe that this planet and human beings on it will exist for several hundred million of years more, at least, as science predicts. A great deal can be done in that time. Even one million years should show considerable improvement, when you consider what men have accomplished in 12,000 years.

CLOTHES $900 A MONTH

It appears that four gentlemen have been representing the Philippine government in the United States with an expense account. It also appears that by a gentleman's agreement evidently each of them charges exactly $900 every month for clothing. This teaches not only that Filipinos are hard on their clothes but also that they have not mixed with American politicians for nothing, and are now about ready to govern themselves.

Trinity university in North Carolina has changed its name to Duke university, thereby acquiring many millions generously given by James B. Duke. The university gets six millions at once for buildings, and ultimately will have as endowment the income from twenty-five millions more.

"What's in a name?" is answered by Mr. Duke effectively. That university, by any other name, would not have got $31,000,000. Who can estimate the future value of such gifts to education? What a blessing that men now give vast fortunes to help others, instead of spending the money, as of old, in an effort to buy special divine favors for their own unimportant souls.

J. P. Van Zandt, of the army air service, having traveled 6,000 miles on various European air lines, reports that flying is past the experimental stage and unconservative conditions, as safe as travel on the land.

Since the war commercial planes have traveled more than 26,000,000 miles, on a purely business and non-experimental basis. Within 25 years any long distance journey by train will be confined to old-fashioned, conservative people. In 50 years, for long distances, trains will be used as little as stage coaches are used now. For some it is hard to imagine that. But many find it hard to imagine anything.

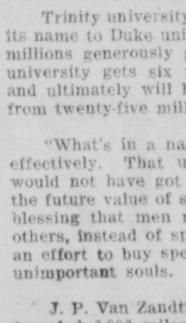
WHO'S WHO

HOWARD MASON GORE.

Possible changes in President Coolidge's cabinet after March 4 are intimated. One change is certain. As a result of the Republican landslide that swept West Virginia during the recent national election, the president will have to name a new secretary of agriculture.



Howard M. Gore

Upon the death of Secretay of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace in November, Howard M. Gore was appointed to that post, a promotion from the assistant secretaryship to which office he was appointed September 17, 1923.

Gore is well known throughout the mountain state. He was born in Clarksburg, W. Va., 47 years ago and has for a good many years been actively interested in agriculture and stock breeding.

From 1912 to 1916 he was president of the West Virginia Livestock association, and from 1918 to 1921 he was president of the West Virginia Hereford Breeder's association, and was chosen a member of the first board of directors of the National Producers' Livestock Co-operative association. During the war he was appointed a member of the committee of fifteen of the American Farm Bureau federation. He also served as assistant food administrator of West Virginia and as a member of the Council of Defense during the World war.

Gore is a breeder of Shorthorn, Hereford and Jersey cattle, also of Berkshire hogs. He is a director of the Clarksburg, West Virginia, Trust company, and a director of the bank of Ripley, W. Va. He is a life member of the International Livestock exposition, and a member of the West Virginia board of education.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By F. A. WRAY.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Britain possesses a tiny colony of some seventy people of all nationalities who try to lead the simplest of lives on the top of a wind-swept hill in the Cotswold country — one of the most rural, secluded districts of England.

These people live their lives without laws; they tend their sick with their own medical men, and educate the children of "free marriage" on totally unconventional lines.

Old and young alike entirely despise convention. Tiny boys and girls call grown-ups by their first names; "father" and "mother" are practically unknown words, and parents answer, as a matter of course, when five-year-old George, or Mary, addresses them as, say, "William" or "Margaret." Every man and every woman is "uncle" or "aunt" to every child.

Locks, bolts and bars, like marriage, have no place in the scheme of things at this hamlet of Whiteway. If one inhabitant calls on a neighbor there is no knocking, or ringing of bells. He just walks straight in and, if his friend is out, takes possession until the owner returns.

Everything is held in common except personal views. Moslems, atheists, Tolstoians are all represented in this gathering.

"We know no nationality here, and no class or distinction of any sort," says the chief, a bearded giant, wearing sandals and light homespun clothes, wide open at the neck.

"We recognize no outside authority. Everything is settled by mutual agreement and trust, and if anyone does not agree, it is left for him simply to please himself.

"Of the people at Whiteway, two or three couples are what you would call legally married; that is, they went through the ceremony of marriage before they came here. But we do not attach any importance to this.

"Others who wish to begin home-keeping together simply contract what you would call a free marriage; sometimes they announce their intentions at one of our social gatherings, but others prefer to make no statement and, without any preliminaries at all, just begin life together. Each individual does as he or she likes.

"These free marriages are not always successful. The result is much the same as in the outside world. It is much better for the unsuited to separate than to lead an unhappy life."

There is a schoolmistress who teaches the children to read and write, but not if they do not wish to learn. Members of the colony teach what they feel themselves best able to impart. As far as possible, children are educated by the medium of games.

There are several workshops. In some cloth is woven and made up; in others furniture is made and almost every kind of handicraft practiced. The dairy makes a special cheese, which is eagerly sought after; and the cakes of the bakery go to some of the most famous hotels in Britain.

Want is unknown. If anyone falls sick, all the colonists help. The three doctors give their services free. One of these went through a five-year course of medical study, but then refused to appear for final examination because he did not believe in competitive results.

Life seems to possess no dull moment at Whiteway. If the road wants repairing the men turn to and mend it. If a shack needs building they build it. The swimming pool needs cement, but they cannot afford to buy it at present.

The colonists try to live as near to Tolstoian communism as possible. They trade in their own handicrafts, each one being responsible for his own basic material welfare. They turn out excellent work, and what they produce pays the demands of a sordid outside world and keeps them going.

All the same, they have succumbed to the telephone and to central heating. Recently the "simple lifers" tried Grecian dress—a simple one-piece garment. But cold winds sweep the Cotswold Hills, and the colonists, en masse, decided that Grecian dress might be all very well in Greece, but it was totally unsuited to England.

The successful financier snorted contemptuously.

"Money! pooh! there are a million ways of making money."

"But only one honest way," a listener declared.

"What way is that?" the financier demanded.

"Naturally, you wouldn't know," was the answer.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening—that amethystine hour when Manhattan poises—there is a hiatus too on Cabmen's row along the south side of Central park opposite the Plaza. Here in the thick of the city the jehus perch on their high seats sucking at stub pipes. And no doubt wondering.

There is something regal in their melancholy when the city's boil becomes a mere simmer and even the park pigeons seem resting on the bosom of a breeze. The old cabbies are not only hounded by age but by ill fortune.

They look forward to night only as men can who know that their pickings will be light. The veteran jehu is about the same the whole world over. Empurpled nose, shot with tiny red veins, white straggly mustache and skin crinkled by the winds.

His vest is of affluent pattern and his black high hat falls over his head to his ears. He carries a ponderous watch chain for his silver hunting case watch. Like a sandwich man he adds color to the life of the city—a foil to its wealth and ease.

They are kindly old fellows and seem to long for scraps of conversation with the passers-by. "Kerridge, sir!" they cry and look hopefully. Many of them cling to their work because of the great love they bear for their tired old nags.

Peculiarly enough, the fare of the four or two wheeler is the New Yorker almost invariably. The visitor to the city rarely rides in them. The New Yorker knows they are comfortable and safe and now and then uses them to enjoy a drive through Central park.

When Delmonico's and Old Sherry's were on the avenue it was considered smart and a part of the dinner ritual to follow the coffee with a slow drive through the park before dropping into the theater.

The old cabby incidentally is an example of the evanescence of glory. Once he was a figure in the gay life of the town and many grew rich not only collecting fares but in market tips. He associated with great men in easy familiarity. Whenever—and the rarity of it is quite appalling—someone tells me: "Your stuff was good today!" I cannot help but think of three brilliant scribblers of ten years ago who are unheard of today. And I sometimes wonder how I have the courage to carry on. Let's all cry.

In a half day on the Bowery one can find at least 20 men who were on the top wave of prosperity and sail strong a few years ago. Not all of them went down through drink. As they will tell you: "It just happened."

There is a mistaken reasoning that men who fail are at fault. In 50 per cent of the cases they are untrussed by circumstances beyond their control. In a like manner I believe that many more instances of success than are imagined are brought about by the same circumstances.

I spent the other night in an apartment in the neighborhood where I formerly lived. I was awakened in the morning by the ring of a blacksmith's forge. This seemed to a sleep-sluggish mind more of a phantasy than reality. Where in the neighborhood was a blacksmith shop? The explanation was simple. Across the street was a riding academy and all day long various mounts are being shod. But the metropolitan blacksmith shop is too swank for romance. The smithy was a runt and not the brawny type of poetical imagination. What made it worse was that he smoked cigarettes. A blacksmith should chew tobacco. And—what a milksop age it is—there was a copy of Vanity Fair in one of the chairs. I didn't have the heart to look for a wrist watch on the smithy's arm. It must have been there.

DINNER STORIES

An old negro, who had almost attained the century mark, nearly blind, almost completely disabled, without friends, relations, or money, felt himself about to die, and stealthily made his way into a farmer's barn, where he burrowed into the haymow. But the farmer had observed the man's entrance, and after getting his shotgun, he hurried to the barn.

"I got you!" he cried savagely. "Dog gone you! I got you!"

The derelict thrust his black face from the mow, and showed his toothless gums in a grin, as he answered:

"An' a great git you got!"

You say you want some name engraved on this ring," said the jeweler to the bashful young man.

"Yes; I want the words, 'George to his dearest Alice' engraved on the inside of the ring."

"Is the young lady your sister?"

"No; she is the young lady to whom I am engaged."

"Well, if I were you I would not have 'George, to his dearest Alice' engraved on the ring. If Alice changes her mind you can't use the ring again."

"I would suggest the words, 'George, to his first and only love.' You see, with that inscription you can use the ring half a dozen times. I have had experience in such matters myself."

Makes Little Difference.

There is some dispute as to whether the road sign should read "Go slow" or "Go slowly." But the speeders are usually going too fast to notice errors in grammar.—Newark Advocate.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

DON'T BATHE TOO OFTEN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Scientists at last are catching up with the boys. Every boy since time immemorial has known that washing and bathing can be overdone, but the dignified gentlemen with the bulging brows are just finding it out. It has taken them many, many centuries to make the grade, but at last they have arrived at the point where boys start, and if their new line of advice is followed generally, "Spare the soap and save the child" will be as popular as a family slogan as "Go easy on the butter; it's 60 cents a pound!"

Of course, the scientists have a come-back at the boys. They insist that the one alternative to frequent use of the scrubbing brush and tub is to avoid getting dirty. Normal boys will not like that. Besides, they will say, it can't be done.

However, that is a question for them to debate, or perhaps fight out, with mothers, fathers, nurses and others in authority.

At this season of the year physicians, health officials and newspapers are besieged with questions as to what can be done to relieve a person suffering from cracked and chapped hands and faces, itching arms and legs, chilblains and the like. The most authoritative advice obtainable, such as that from the public health service and leading skin specialists, it to exercise care in bathing and washing.

If you have been accustomed to the frequent hot tub in cold weather, change your habits. Go easy on the hot water and be sparing in the use of soap. Wash and bathe in cool water, and don't do that any oftener than is necessary as a sanitary measure. Dry the hands, face and body thoroughly after bathing, and keep the skin warm, soft and flexible. Remember, that the natural oils are removed from the skin by soap and hot water, and that if the skin has a tendency to dryness this will be accentuated if it is constantly washed and scrubbed.

"Few people understand how to protect and care for their skin in the cold of winter," says Dr. Charles M. Williams. "The result is evidenced in the increasing prevalence of chapped hands and wrists, cracked lips, itching legs and chilblains in these days of silk hosiery, low shoes, liquid soap and paper towels.

"If you want to avoid all these extra woes of winter and early spring, you must begin by protecting your skin as far as possible. First of all, don't let it get cold. Fortunately, your face is tough, and probably won't give you much trouble, unless you are cursed with a particularly sensitive skin—then you may get cracked lips, if you aren't careful. Wear woolen or fur gloves, if necessary. Above everything, protect your feet from the wet. You may have considerable trouble even if you stay in the house. There it is excessive dryness that you have most to fear."

WARM CLOTHES NOT ENOUGH

Proper protection of the skin means more than the wearing of warm clothes, says this expert, in detailing his advice in the Popular Science Monthly. One of the most important things to guard against is an excessive use of strong soap. Strongly alkaline soaps, notoriously injurious to the skin, are doubly so in cold weather. Even good natural soaps may be too strong for a very dry skin, and there are many people who find it impossible to take a hot bath more than once a week in winter on account of the intolerable itching it produces. A cool bath is better, for it does not remove so much of the natural oil of the skin.

"If you find that a hot bath with soap makes you itch all over," continues Dr. Williams, "and especially where the clothes rub of press upon the skin, try a warm bath without soap, and if you are still uncomfortable, try, the next time, a cold bath. You can avoid a good many washings of your hands by keeping them clean in the first place. Wear gloves whenever you have a dirty job to do.

"Wash with warm, rather than hot water, rinse the soap off completely, especially if it is liquid soap, and dry the skin quickly and thorough immediately afterward. A wet skin is a cold skin, and a cold skin chaps. In using paper towels be sure they are sufficiently absorbent. A clean, soft, dry towel is the only kind that is really satisfactory."

A good hand lotion, cold cream, olive oil, or something of that sort should be applied after washing or bathing, and whatever is used for this purpose should be used after every washing, before going out into the cold, and again on coming indoors. It is better to use a little very often than to use a great deal once or twice a day.

THE EFFECT OF COLD WEATHER

What happens when you go out into the cold is explained by the expert in detail. First, he says, the blood vessels contract, causing pallor; the skin feels cold and shriveled. Then, if you are fortunate enough to have good circulation, the blood vessels dilate again, causing a flushing and a feeling of warmth. At the same time the secretion of sweat is checked, to prevent loss of heat that would be caused by evaporation. The skin becomes dry, partly because less sweat is secreted, and partly because what little sweat still is formed is evaporated rapidly by the warmth of the body and the dryness of the winter air.

If the exposure is repeated often, the outermost layer of the skin becomes more horny than usual, and probably there are changes also in the oil glands. All these alterations are increased by wind. The skin of the hands, especially over the knuckles, becomes a little thicker than usual, and feels dry and harsh. Fine scales appear on the surface, and if these are not shed as they normally would be if they had not been toughened by cold, they turn a dirty gray.

This change appears especially over the elbows and knees, and on the skin of the legs just above shoe tops. Next to the hands the part of the body most frequently affected by the cold is the six inches or so of skin immediately above the shoe tops, because it is often insufficiently protected by clothing, and because the circulation in the lower part of the leg is frequently sluggish.

You are informed that you needn't try to wash off the dirty gray color, for you will only make the skin tender and help to chap it. The dry, thick skin is not so flexible as usual, cracks appear over the joints, especially the knuckles, and there begins an itching that may make life a burden.

Frequent or long exposure to cold and wet may lead to chilblains—dark swellings in the skin, usually on the feet, which itch and burn when the skin is warmed but are fairly comfortable when the skin is cold.

And don't forget your diet, says Dr. Williams. "No directions for the care of the skin, in winter or summer, would be complete without reference to your general health, for the skin is often a good index of a man's condition. Follow a varied diet, being particularly careful to include green vegetables and milk, which provide vitamines as well as nourishment; but avoid any excess, especially of sweets and meat. Ordinarily, in the United States, more harm is done by overeating than by undereating.

"Take eight hours' sleep every night, always rest half an hour before the hearty meal of the day. Last, and the most difficult to follow, take at least an hour's exercise in the open air every day."

The pleasant experience, however, of getting something for nothing, was hard to forget. According to recent cables, he plunged in European gambling centers as he had done on the New York stock exchange, and for a while, with equal success. He is said to have won 2,000,000 francs at Monte Calo and 1,000,000 at Biarritz. His confidence in his own star became confirmed. Then he started in on baccarat, at Paris. And baccarat got him and all his winnings. It was reported lately that he had cabled home for money.

"Easy come, easy go," seems to be almost a law of nature. The man who gets something for nothing doesn't appreciate it. Worse still, he imagines that he can keep on getting something for nothing. And at least 99 times out of 100, he loses in the end, finishing less prosperous and happy than he would have been if he had been content to work, according to the basic law of the universe, for what he got.

Domestic Disarmament

At last there is a prospect of action on the part of the United States government to disarm criminals. The house has passed a bill which bars from the mails deadly weapons capable of being concealed on the person. If the senate concurs, as it is expected to do, the interstate traffic in firearms will be greatly reduced. There will exist no longer the absurd situation of the government itself, through its postoffice department, delivering mail order weapons to individuals who are prevented by law from buying such weapons in their own communities.

Some mail order houses have recently discontinued selling firearms, of their own accord. This measure would compel the rest to quit. The bill, however is far from thorough in its dealing with the firearms problem. It will probably be necessary sooner or later to forbid all interestate traffic, of whatever kind, in deadly weapons, and also to establish strict control over their manufacture if the states do not see to that.

SKYROCKETS FOR 1925.

Wall Street buys and sells two million shares a day now, and nobody notices it. We quickly get used to prosperity. Brokers would consider a "million-share" an insult. But call money, with which lambs gamble, went to 5½ per cent yesterday. A few days ago it was 2½. Wall Street does notice that it's rather sad to pay for gambling money as high an interest rate as merchants and manufacturers have to pay for legitimate business loans.

The real stock gambling will begin after the New Year. Then look out for skyrocketing, to be followed by some falls that will make the speculator know just how Humpty-Dumpty felt.

TOO GOOD FOR UNCLE SAM

Senator Underwood, and others whose pure, innocent souls are above mere profit, might like to know something about the value of power shares and it would mean to the General Electric company if kind Mr. Underwood should make the General Electric the private owner of Uncle Sam's plant at Muscle Shoals.

Take one little light and power investment made by the far-seeing B. F. His wife asked him to invest for her $10,000. He paid $9,300 for $10,000 par value of power bonds. They carried the right of exchange for common stock at par. He exchanged the $10,000 bonds for 100 shares of common stock. The company issued 10 shares of stock for one.

The $10,000 investment could have been sold yesterday for $69,500. You'll admit that properties going up like that are really too good for Uncle Sam to keep.

On New Year's eve the old Liberty bell in Independence hall, Philadelphia, will ring 148 times, once for each year in the life of this nation. And the radio will carry the sound of the bell all over the land and across the water. That would interest intensely two men that signed the Declaration, Jefferson and Franklin, both interested in science.

Both had genius, but neither could have imagined the radio, except as a random guess. Even genius cannot think very far ahead of its own period.

Scientists by modern methods prove that the earth's solid crust is at least sixteen hundred million years old. That adds considerably to the old idea of a world created 6,000 years ago. Feeble human imagination cannot grasp such a period as 1,600,000,000 years. Only 12,000 years ago we were in the stone age. But the earth's great age encourages up to believe that this planet and human beings on it will exist for several hundred million of years more, at least, as science predicts. A great deal can be done in that time. Even one million years should show considerable improvement, when you consider what men have accomplished in 12,000 years.

CLOTHES $900 A MONTH

It appears that four gentlemen have been representing the Philippine government in the United States with an expense account. It also appears that by a gentleman's agreement evidently each of them charges exactly $900 every month for clothing. This teaches not only that Filipinos are hard on their clothes but also that they have not mixed with American politicians for nothing, and are now about ready to govern themselves.

Trinity university in North Carolina has changed its name to Duke university, thereby acquiring many millions generously given by James B. Duke. The university gets six millions at once for buildings, and ultimately will have as endowment the income from twenty-five millions more.

"What's in a name?" is answered by Mr. Duke effectively. That university, by any other name, would not have got $31,000,000. Who can estimate the future value of such gifts to education? What a blessing that men now give vast fortunes to help others, instead of spending the money, as of old, in an effort to buy special divine favors for their own unimportant souls.

J. P. Van Zandt, of the army air service, having traveled 6,000 miles on various European air lines, reports that flying is past the experimental stage and unconservative conditions, as safe as travel on the land.

Since the war commercial planes have traveled more than 26,000,000 miles, on a purely business and non-experimental basis. Within 25 years any long distance journey by train will be confined to old-fashioned, conservative people. In 50 years, for long distances, trains will be used as little as stage coaches are used now. For some it is hard to imagine that. But many find it hard to imagine anything.

WHO'S WHO

HOWARD MASON GORE.

Possible changes in President Coolidge's cabinet after March 4 are intimated. One change is certain. As a result of the Republican landslide that swept West Virginia during the recent national election, the president will have to name a new secretary of agriculture.

Howard M. Gore

Upon the death of Secretay of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace in November, Howard M. Gore was appointed to that post, a promotion from the assistant secretaryship to which office he was appointed September 17, 1923.

Gore is well known throughout the mountain state. He was born in Clarksburg, W. Va., 47 years ago and has for a good many years been actively interested in agriculture and stock breeding.

From 1912 to 1916 he was president of the West Virginia Livestock association, and from 1918 to 1921 he was president of the West Virginia Hereford Breeder's association, and was chosen a member of the first board of directors of the National Producers' Livestock Co-operative association. During the war he was appointed a member of the committee of fifteen of the American Farm Bureau federation. He also served as assistant food administrator of West Virginia and as a member of the Council of Defense during the World war.

Gore is a breeder of Shorthorn, Hereford and Jersey cattle, also of Berkshire hogs. He is a director of the Clarksburg, West Virginia, Trust company, and a director of the bank of Ripley, W. Va. He is a life member of the International Livestock exposition, and a member of the West Virginia board of education.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By F. A. WRAY.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Britain possesses a tiny colony of some seventy people of all nationalities who try to lead the simplest of lives on the top of a wind-swept hill in the Cotswold country — one of the most rural, secluded districts of England.

These people live their lives without laws; they tend their sick with their own medical men, and educate the children of "free marriage" on totally unconventional lines.

Old and young alike entirely despise convention. Tiny boys and girls call grown-ups by their first names; "father" and "mother" are practically unknown words, and parents answer, as a matter of course, when five-year-old George, or Mary, addresses them as, say, "William" or "Margaret." Every man and every woman is "uncle" or "aunt" to every child.

Locks, bolts and bars, like marriage, have no place in the scheme of things at this hamlet of Whiteway. If one inhabitant calls on a neighbor there is no knocking, or ringing of bells. He just walks straight in and, if his friend is out, takes possession until the owner returns.

Everything is held in common except personal views. Moslems, atheists, Tolstoians are all represented in this gathering.

"We know no nationality here, and no class or distinction of any sort," says the chief, a bearded giant, wearing sandals and light homespun clothes, wide open at the neck.

"We recognize no outside authority. Everything is settled by mutual agreement and trust, and if anyone does not agree, it is left for him simply to please himself.

"Of the people at Whiteway, two or three couples are what you would call legally married; that is, they went through the ceremony of marriage before they came here. But we do not attach any importance to this.

"Others who wish to begin home-keeping together simply contract what you would call a free marriage; sometimes they announce their intentions at one of our social gatherings, but others prefer to make no statement and, without any preliminaries at all, just begin life together. Each individual does as he or she likes.

"These free marriages are not always successful. The result is much the same as in the outside world. It is much better for the unsuited to separate than to lead an unhappy life."

There is a schoolmistress who teaches the children to read and write, but not if they do not wish to learn. Members of the colony teach what they feel themselves best able to impart. As far as possible, children are educated by the medium of games.

There are several workshops. In some cloth is woven and made up; in others furniture is made and almost every kind of handicraft practiced. The dairy makes a special cheese, which is eagerly sought after; and the cakes of the bakery go to some of the most famous hotels in Britain.

Want is unknown. If anyone falls sick, all the colonists help. The three doctors give their services free. One of these went through a five-year course of medical study, but then refused to appear for final examination because he did not believe in competitive results.

Life seems to possess no dull moment at Whiteway. If the road wants repairing the men turn to and mend it. If a shack needs building they build it. The swimming pool needs cement, but they cannot afford to buy it at present.

The colonists try to live as near to Tolstoian communism as possible. They trade in their own handicrafts, each one being responsible for his own basic material welfare. They turn out excellent work, and what they produce pays the demands of a sordid outside world and keeps them going.

All the same, they have succumbed to the telephone and to central heating. Recently the "simple lifers" tried Grecian dress—a simple one-piece garment. But cold winds sweep the Cotswold Hills, and the colonists, en masse, decided that Grecian dress might be all very well in Greece, but it was totally unsuited to England.

The successful financier snorted contemptuously.

"Money! pooh! there are a million ways of making money."

"But only one honest way," a listener declared.

"What way is that?" the financier demanded.

"Naturally, you wouldn't know," was the answer.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening—that amethystine hour when Manhattan poises—there is a hiatus too on Cabmen's row along the south side of Central park opposite the Plaza. Here in the thick of the city the jehus perch on their high seats sucking at stub pipes. And no doubt wondering.

There is something regal in their melancholy when the city's boil becomes a mere simmer and even the park pigeons seem resting on the bosom of a breeze. The old cabbies are not only hounded by age but by ill fortune.

They look forward to night only as men can who know that their pickings will be light. The veteran jehu is about the same the whole world over. Empurpled nose, shot with tiny red veins, white straggly mustache and skin crinkled by the winds.

His vest is of affluent pattern and his black high hat falls over his head to his ears. He carries a ponderous watch chain for his silver hunting case watch. Like a sandwich man he adds color to the life of the city—a foil to its wealth and ease.

They are kindly old fellows and seem to long for scraps of conversation with the passers-by. "Kerridge, sir!" they cry and look hopefully. Many of them cling to their work because of the great love they bear for their tired old nags.

Peculiarly enough, the fare of the four or two wheeler is the New Yorker almost invariably. The visitor to the city rarely rides in them. The New Yorker knows they are comfortable and safe and now and then uses them to enjoy a drive through Central park.

When Delmonico's and Old Sherry's were on the avenue it was considered smart and a part of the dinner ritual to follow the coffee with a slow drive through the park before dropping into the theater.

The old cabby incidentally is an example of the evanescence of glory. Once he was a figure in the gay life of the town and many grew rich not only collecting fares but in market tips. He associated with great men in easy familiarity. Whenever—and the rarity of it is quite appalling—someone tells me: "Your stuff was good today!" I cannot help but think of three brilliant scribblers of ten years ago who are unheard of today. And I sometimes wonder how I have the courage to carry on. Let's all cry.

In a half day on the Bowery one can find at least 20 men who were on the top wave of prosperity and sail strong a few years ago. Not all of them went down through drink. As they will tell you: "It just happened."

There is a mistaken reasoning that men who fail are at fault. In 50 per cent of the cases they are untrussed by circumstances beyond their control. In a like manner I believe that many more instances of success than are imagined are brought about by the same circumstances.

I spent the other night in an apartment in the neighborhood where I formerly lived. I was awakened in the morning by the ring of a blacksmith's forge. This seemed to a sleep-sluggish mind more of a phantasy than reality. Where in the neighborhood was a blacksmith shop? The explanation was simple. Across the street was a riding academy and all day long various mounts are being shod. But the metropolitan blacksmith shop is too swank for romance. The smithy was a runt and not the brawny type of poetical imagination. What made it worse was that he smoked cigarettes. A blacksmith should chew tobacco. And—what a milksop age it is—there was a copy of Vanity Fair in one of the chairs. I didn't have the heart to look for a wrist watch on the smithy's arm. It must have been there.

DINNER STORIES

An old negro, who had almost attained the century mark, nearly blind, almost completely disabled, without friends, relations, or money, felt himself about to die, and stealthily made his way into a farmer's barn, where he burrowed into the haymow. But the farmer had observed the man's entrance, and after getting his shotgun, he hurried to the barn.

"I got you!" he cried savagely. "Dog gone you! I got you!"

The derelict thrust his black face from the mow, and showed his toothless gums in a grin, as he answered:

"An' a great git you got!"

You say you want some name engraved on this ring," said the jeweler to the bashful young man.

"Yes; I want the words, 'George to his dearest Alice' engraved on the inside of the ring."

"Is the young lady your sister?"

"No; she is the young lady to whom I am engaged."

"Well, if I were you I would not have 'George, to his dearest Alice' engraved on the ring. If Alice changes her mind you can't use the ring again."

"I would suggest the words, 'George, to his first and only love.' You see, with that inscription you can use the ring half a dozen times. I have had experience in such matters myself."

Makes Little Difference.

There is some dispute as to whether the road sign should read "Go slow" or "Go slowly." But the speeders are usually going too fast to notice errors in grammar.—Newark Advocate.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

DON'T BATHE TOO OFTEN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Scientists at last are catching up with the boys. Every boy since time immemorial has known that washing and bathing can be overdone, but the dignified gentlemen with the bulging brows are just finding it out. It has taken them many, many centuries to make the grade but at last they have arrived at the point where boys start, and if their new line of advice is followed generally, "Spare the soap and save the child" will be as popular as a family slogan as "Go easy on the butter; it's 60 cents a pound!"

Of course, the scientists have a come-back at the boys. They insist that the one alternative to frequent use of the scrubbing brush and tub is to avoid getting dirty. Normal boys will not like that. Besides, they will say, it can't be done.

However, that is a question for them to debate, or perhaps fight out, with mothers, fathers, nurses and others in authority.

At this season of the year physicians, health officials and newspapers are besieged with questions as to what can be done to relieve a person suffering from cracked and chapped hands and faces, itching arms and legs, chilblains and the like. The most authoritative advice obtainable, such as that from the public health service and leading skin specialists, it to exercise care in bathing and washing.

If you have been accustomed to the frequent hot tub in cold weather, change your habits. Go easy on the hot water and be sparing in the use of soap. Wash and bathe in cool water, and don't do that any oftener than is necessary as a sanitary measure. Dry the hands, face and body thoroughly after bathing, and keep the skin warm, soft and flexible. Remember, that the natural oils are removed from the skin by soap and hot water, and that if the skin has a tendency to dryness this will be accentuated if it is constantly washed and scrubbed.

"Few people understand how to protect and care for their skin in the cold of winter," says Dr. Charles M. Williams. "The result is evidenced in the increasing prevalence of chapped hands and wrists, cracked lips, itching legs and chilblains in these days of silk hosiery, low shoes, liquid soap and paper towels.

"If you want to avoid all these extra woes of winter and early spring, you must begin by protecting your skin as far as possible. First of all, don't let it get cold. Fortunately, your face is tough, and probably won't give you much trouble, unless you are cursed with a particularly sensitive skin—then you may get cracked lips, if you aren't careful. Wear woolen or fur gloves, if necessary. Above everything, protect your feet from the wet. You may have considerable trouble even if you stay in the house. There it is excessive dryness that you have most to fear."

WARM CLOTHES NOT ENOUGH

Proper protection of the skin means more than the wearing of warm clothes, says this expert, in detailing his advice in the Popular Science Monthly. One of the most important things to guard against is an excessive use of strong soap. Strongly alkaline soaps, notoriously injurious to the skin, are doubly so in cold weather. Even good natural soaps may be too strong for a very dry skin, and there are many people who find it impossible to take a hot bath more than once a week in winter on account of the intolerable itching it produces. A cool bath is better, for it does not remove so much of the natural oil of the skin.

"If you find that a hot bath with soap makes you itch all over," continues Dr. Williams, "and especially where the clothes rub of press upon the skin, try a warm bath without soap, and if you are still uncomfortable, try, the next time, a cold bath. You can avoid a good many washings of your hands by keeping them clean in the first place. Wear gloves whenever you have a dirty job to do.

"Wash with warm, rather than hot water, rinse the soap off completely, especially if it is liquid soap, and dry the skin quickly and thorough immediately afterward. A wet skin is a cold skin, and a cold skin chaps. In using paper towels be sure they are sufficiently absorbent. A clean, soft, dry towel is the only kind that is really satisfactory."

A good hand lotion, cold cream, olive oil, or something of that sort should be applied after washing or bathing, and whatever is used for this purpose should be used after every washing, before going out into the cold, and again on coming indoors. It is better to use a little very often than to use a great deal once or twice a day.

THE EFFECT OF COLD WEATHER

What happens when you go out into the cold is explained by the expert in detail. First, he says, the blood vessels contract, causing pallor; the skin feels cold and shriveled. Then, if you are fortunate enough to have good circulation, the blood vessels dilate again, causing a flushing and a feeling of warmth. At the same time the secretion of sweat is checked, to prevent loss of heat that would be caused by evaporation. The skin becomes dry, partly because less sweat is secreted, and partly because what little sweat still is formed is evaporated rapidly by the warmth of the body and the dryness of the winter air.

If the exposure is repeated often, the outermost layer of the skin becomes more horny than usual, and probably there are changes also in the oil glands. All these alterations are increased by wind. The skin of the hands, especially over the knuckles, becomes a little thicker than usual, and feels dry and harsh. Fine scales appear on the surface, and if these are not shed as they normally would be if they had not been toughened by cold, they turn a dirty gray.

This change appears especially over the elbows and knees, and on the skin of the legs just above the shoe tops. Next to the hands the part of the body most frequently affected by the cold is the six inches or so of skin immediately above the shoe tops, because it is often insufficiently protected by clothing, and because the circulation in the lower part of the leg is frequently sluggish.

You are informed that you needn't try to wash off the dirty gray color, for you will only make the skin tender and help to chap it. The dry, thick skin is not so flexible as usual, cracks appear over the joints, especially the knuckles, and there begins an itching that may make life a burden.

Frequent or long exposure to cold and wet may lead to chilblains—dark swellings in the skin, usually on the feet, which itch and burn when the skin is warmed but are fairly comfortable when the skin is cold.

And don't forget your diet, says Dr. Williams. "No directions for the care of the skin, in winter or summer, would be complete without reference to your general health, for the skin is often a good index of a man's condition. Follow a varied diet, being particularly careful to include green vegetables and milk, which provide vitamines as well as nourishment; but avoid any excess, especially of sweets and meat. Ordinarily, in the United States, more harm is done by overeating than by undereating.

"Take eight hours' sleep every night, always rest half an hour before the hearty meal of the day. Last, and the most difficult to follow, take at least an hour's exercise in the open air every day."

New Year Resolutions

Every day is the beginning of a new year to the wise person who has learned how to live usefully in the present, to look with constructive vision to the future and to turn to the past only for profitable experience or happy memories.

Nevertheless, the first day of a calendar year has special significance to most human beings. It marks a suitable occasion for casting off the sorrows and mistakes of the past year and turning eagerly to the New Year in which many good things may happen. Everyone expects, with the aid of a few good resolutions, to make progress along many lines in the next twelve months.

A resolution to get more real joy out of life is one that most Americans ought to make. And it is not such a selfish resolution as it may sound at first.

Some of the things which have lessened joy in this country and which give Americans in general a reputation of being less prosperous spiritually than they are materially could very comfortably be dispensed with. These are worry, over-work, pessimism, self- indulgence and doubt, the by-products of too much concentration on material prosperity as a goal in itself. If New Year's resolutions started a lot of irritable mortals to thinking and acting with courage, leisure, optimism, unselfishness, temperance and faith, the year, as it advances, would be one of the most satisfactory years on record.

Easy Come, Easy Go

A few months ago Lieutenant Osborne Wood, son of General Leonard Wood, stationed in the Philippines as his father's aide, was much envied because he had won more than half a million dollars speculating in stocks. His example, no doubt, led hundreds of other men, young and old, to gamble in hope of similar fortune. Every such bit of luck brings its aftermath of imitators.

But it is the same old story. Lieutenant Wood, resigning from the army with the announced intention of "entering the diplomatic service," went to Europe, probably with the honest intention of learning the diplomatic languages and ropes. The pleasant experience, however, of getting something for nothing, was hard to forget. According to recent cables, he plunged in European gambling centers as he had done on the New York stock exchange, and for a while, with equal success. He is said to have won 2,000,000 francs at Monte Calo and 1,000,000 at Biarritz. His confidence in his own star became confirmed. Then he started in on baccarat, at Paris. And baccarat got him and all his winnings. It was reported lately that he had cabled home for money.

"Easy come, easy go," seems to be almost a law of nature. The man who gets something for nothing doesn't appreciate it. Worse still, he imagines that he can keep on getting something for nothing. And at least 99 times out of 100, he loses in the end, finishing less prosperous and happy than he would have been if he had been content to work, according to the basic law of the universe, for what he got.

Domestic Disarmament

At last there is a prospect of action on the part of the United States government to disarm criminals. The house has passed a bill which bars from the mails deadly weapons capable of being concealed on the person. If the senate concurs, as it is expected to do, the interstate traffic in firearms will be greatly reduced. The bill, however is far from thorough in its dealing with the firearms problem. It will probably be necessary sooner or later to forbid all interestate traffic, of whatever kind, in deadly weapons, and also to establish strict control over their manufacture if the states do not see to that.

Possible changes in President Coolidge's cabinet after March 4 are intimated. One change is certain. As a result of the Republican landslide that swept West Virginia during the recent national election, the president will have to name a new secretary of agriculture.

Howard M. Gore

Upon the death of Secretay of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace in November, Howard M. Gore was appointed to that post, a promotion from the assistant secretaryship to which office he was appointed September 17, 1923.

Gore is well known throughout the mountain state. He was born in Clarksburg, W. Va., 47 years ago and has for a good many years been actively interested in agriculture and stock breeding.

From 1912 to 1916 he was president of the West Virginia Livestock association, and from 1918 to 1921 he was president of the West Virginia Hereford Breeder's association, and was chosen a member of the first board of directors of the National Producers' Livestock Co-operative association. During the war he was appointed a member of the committee of fifteen of the American Farm Bureau federation. He also served as assistant food administrator of West Virginia and as a member of the Council of Defense during the World war.

Gore is a breeder of Shorthorn, Hereford and Jersey cattle, also of Berkshire hogs. He is a director of the Clarksburg, West Virginia, Trust company, and a director of the bank of Ripley, W. Va. He is a life member of the International Livestock exposition, and a member of the West Virginia board of education.

An enterprising publication announces:
"People who advertise can sell goods.
"People who sell goods can make money.
"People who make money can advertise goods."
Which is what you might call a holiday roundel, worth setting to music. You can start it anywhere and stop anywhere.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By F. A. WRAY.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Britain possesses a tiny colony of some seventy people of all nationalities who try to lead the simplest of lives on the top of a wind-swept hill in the Cotswold country — one of the most rural, secluded districts of England.

These people live their lives without laws; they tend their sick with their own medical men, and educate the children of "free marriage" on totally unconventional lines.

Old and young alike entirely despise convention. Tiny boys and girls call grown-ups by their first names; "father" and "mother" are practically unknown words, and parents answer, as a matter of course, when five-year-old George, or Mary, addresses them as, say, "William" or "Margaret." Every man and every woman is "uncle" or "aunt" to every child.

Locks, bolts and bars, like marriage, have no place in the scheme of things at this hamlet of Whiteway. If one inhabitant calls on a neighbor there is no knocking, or ringing of bells. He just walks straight in and, if his friend is out, takes possession until the owner returns.

Everything is held in common except personal views. Moslems, atheists, Tolstoians are all represented in this gathering.

"We know no nationality here, and no class or distinction of any sort," says the chief, a bearded giant, wearing sandals and light homespun clothes, wide open at the neck.

"We recognize no outside authority. Everything is settled by mutual agreement and trust, and if anyone does not agree, it is left for him simply to please himself.

"Of the people at Whiteway, two or three couples are what you would call legally married; that is, they went through the ceremony of marriage before they came here. But we do not attach any importance to this.

"Others who wish to begin home-keeping together simply contract what you would call a free marriage; sometimes they announce their intentions at one of our social gatherings, but others prefer to make no statement and, without any preliminaries at all, just begin life together. Each individual does as he or she likes.

"These free marriages are not always successful. The result is much the same as in the outside world. It is much better for the unsuited to separate than to lead an unhappy life."

There is a schoolmistress who teaches the children to read and write, but not if they do not wish to learn. Members of the colony teach what they feel themselves best able to impart. As far as possible, children are educated by the medium of games.

There are several workshops. In some cloth is woven and made up; in others furniture is made and almost every kind of handicraft practiced. The dairy makes a special cheese, which is eagerly sought after; and the cakes of the bakery go to some of the most famous hotels in Britain.

Want is unknown. If anyone falls sick, all the colonists help. The three doctors give their services free. One of these went through a five-year course of medical study, but then refused to appear for final examination because he did not believe in competitive results.

Life seems to possess no dull moment at Whiteway. If the road wants repairing the men turn to and mend it. If a shack needs building they build it. The swimming pool needs cement, but they cannot afford to buy it at present.

The colonists try to live as near to Tolstoian communism as possible. They trade in their own handicrafts, each one being responsible for his own basic material welfare. They turn out excellent work, and what they produce pays the demands of a sordid outside world and keeps them going.

All the same, they have succumbed to the telephone and to central heating. Recently the "simplelifers" tried Grecian dress—a simple one-piece garment. But cold winds sweep the Cotswold Hills, and the colonists, en masse, decided that Grecian dress might be all very well in Greece, but it was totally unsuited to England.

The successful financier snorted contemptuously.

"Money! pooh! there are a million ways of making money."

"But only one honest way," a listener declared.

"What way is that?" the financier demanded.

"Naturally, you wouldn't know," was the answer.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening—that amethystine hour when Manhattan poises—there is a hiatus too on Cabmen's row along the south side of Central park opposite the Plaze. Here in the thick of the city the jehus perch on their high seats sucking at stub pipes. And no doubt wondering.

There is something regal in their melancholy when the city's boil becomes a mere simmer and even the park pigeons seem resting on the bosom of a breeze. The old cabbies are not only hounded by age but by ill fortune.

They look forward to night only as men can who know that their pickings will be light. The veteran jehu is about the same the whole world over. Empurpled nose, shot with tiny red veins, white straggly mustache and skin crinkled by the winds.

His vest is of affluent pattern and his black high hat falls over his head to his ears. He carries a ponderous watch chain for his silver hunting case watch. Like a sandwich man he adds color to the life of the city—a foil to its wealth and ease.

They are kindly old fellows and seem to long for scraps of conversation with the passers-by. "Kerridge, sir!" they cry and look hopefully. Many of them cling to their work because of the great love they bear for their tired old nags.

Peculiarly enough, the fare of the four or two wheeler is the New Yorker almost invariably. The visitor to the city rarely rides in them. The New Yorker knows they are comfortable and safe and now and then uses them to enjoy a drive through Central park.

When Delmonico's and Old Sherry's were on the avenue it was considered smart and a part of the dinner ritual to follow the coffee with a slow drive through the park before dropping into the theater.

The old cabby incidentally is an example of the evanescence of glory. Once he was a figure in the gay life of the town and many grew rich not only collecting fares but in market tips. He associated with great men in easy familiarity. Whenever—and the rarity of it is quite appalling—someone tells me: "Your stuff was good today!" I cannot help but think of three brilliant scribblers of ten years ago who are unheard of today. And I sometimes wonder how I have the courage to carry on. Let's all cry.

In a half day on the Bowery one can find at least 20 men who were on the top wave of prosperity and sail strong a few years ago. Not all of them went down through drink. As they will tell you: "It just happened."

There is a mistaken reasoning that men who fail are at fault. In 50 per cent of the cases they are untrussed by circumstances beyond their control. In a like manner I believe that many more instances of success than are imagined are brought about by the same circumstances.

I spent the other night in an apartment in the neighborhood where I formerly lived. I was awakened in the morning by the ring of a blacksmith's forge. This seemed to a sleep-sluggish mind more of a phantasy than reality. Where in the neighborhood was a blacksmith shop? The explanation was simple. Across the street was a riding academy and all day long various mounts are being shod. But the metropolitan blacksmith shop is too swank for romance. The smithy was a runt and not the brawny type of poetical imagination. What made it worse was that he smoked cigarettes. A blacksmith should chew tobacco. And—what a milksop age it is—there was a copy of Vanity Fair in one of the chairs. I didn't have the heart to look for a wrist watch on the smithy's arm. It must have been there.

DINNER STORIES

An old negro, who had almost attained the century mark, nearly blind, almost completely disabled, without friends, relations, or money, felt himself about to die, and stealthily made his way into a farmer's barn, where he burrowed into the haymow. But the farmer had observed the man's entrance, and after getting his shotgun, he hurried to the barn.

"I got you!" he cried savagely. "Dog gone you! I got you!"

The derelict thrust his black face from the mow, and showed his toothless gums in a grin, as he answered:

"An' a great git you got!"

You say you want some name engraved on this ring," said the jeweler to the bashful young man.

"Yes; I want the words, 'George to his dearest Alice' engraved on the inside of the ring."

"Is the young lady your sister?"

"No; she is the young lady to whom I am engaged."

"Well, if I were you I would not have 'George, to his dearest Alice' engraved on the ring. If Alice changes her mind you can't use the ring again."

"I would suggest the words, 'George, to his first and only love.' You see, with that inscription you can use the ring half a dozen times. I have had experience in such matters myself."

Makes Little Difference.

There is some dispute as to whether the road sign should read "Go slow" or "Go slowly." But the speeders are usually going too fast to notice errors in grammar.—Newark Advocate.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

DON'T BATHE TOO OFTEN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Scientists at last are catching up with the boys. Every boy since time immemorial has known that washing and bathing can be overdone, but the dignified gentlemen with the bulging brows are just finding it out. It has taken them many, many centuries to make the grade, but at last they have arrived at the point where boys start, and if their new line of advice is followed generally, "Spare the soap and save the child" will be as popular as a family slogan as "Go easy on the butter; it's 60 cents a pound!"

Of course, the scientists have a come-back at the boys. They insist that the one alternative to frequent use of the scrubbing brush and tub is to avoid getting dirty. Normal boys will not like that. Besides, they will say, it can't be done.

However, that is a question for them to debate, or perhaps fight out, with mothers, fathers, nurses and others in authority.

At this season of the year physicians, health officials and newspapers are besieged with questions as to what can be done to relieve a person suffering from cracked and chapped hands and faces, itching arms and legs, chilblains and the like. The most authoritative advice obtainable, such as that from the public health service and leading skin specialists, it to exercise care in bathing and washing.

If you have been accustomed to the frequent hot tub in cold weather, change your habits. Go easy on the hot water and be sparing in the use of soap. Wash and bathe in cool water, and don't do that any oftener than is necessary as a sanitary measure. Dry the hands, face and body thoroughly after bathing, and keep the skin warm, soft and flexible. Remember, that the natural oils are removed from the skin by soap and hot water, and that if the skin has a tendency to dryness this will be accentuated if it is constantly washed and scrubbed.

"Few people understand how to protect and care for their skin in the cold of winter," says Dr. Charles M. Williams. "The result is evidenced in the increasing prevalence of chapped hands and wrists, cracked lips, itching legs and chilblains in these days of silk hosiery, low shoes, liquid soap and paper towels.

"If you want to avoid all these extra woes of winter and early spring, you must begin by protecting your skin as far as possible. First of all, don't let it get cold. Fortunately, your face is tough, and probably won't give you much trouble, unless you are cursed with a particularly sensitive skin—then you may get cracked lips, if you aren't careful. Wear woolen or fur gloves, if necessary. Above everything, protect your feet from the wet. You may have considerable trouble even if you stay in the house. There it is excessive dryness that you have most to fear."

WARM CLOTHES NOT ENOUGH

Proper protection of the skin means more than the wearing of warm clothes, says this expert, in detailing his advice in the Popular Science Monthly. One of the most important things to guard against is an excessive use of strong soap. Strongly alkaline soaps, notoriously injurious to the skin, are doubly so in cold weather. Even good natural soaps may be too strong for a very dry skin, and there are many people who find it impossible to take a hot bath more than once a week in winter on account of the intolerable itching it produces. A cool bath is better, for it does not remove so much of the natural oil of the skin.

"If you find that a hot bath with soap makes you itch all over," continues Dr. Williams, "and especially where the clothes rub of press upon the skin, try a warm bath without soap, and if you are still uncomfortable, try, the next time, a cold bath. You can avoid a good many washings of your hands by keeping them clean in the first place. Wear gloves whenever you have a dirty job to do.

"Wash with warm, rather than hot water, rinse the soap off completely, especially if it is liquid soap, and dry the skin quickly and thorough immediately afterward. A wet skin is a cold skin, and a cold skin chaps. In using paper towels be sure they are sufficiently absorbent. A clean, soft, dry towel is the only kind that is really satisfactory."

A good hand lotion, cold cream, olive oil, or something of that sort should be applied after washing or bathing, and whatever is used for this purpose should be used after every washing, before going out into the cold, and again on coming indoors. It is better to use a little very often than to use a great deal once or twice a day.

THE EFFECT OF COLD WEATHER

What happens when you go out into the cold is explained by the expert in detail. First, he says, the blood vessels contract, causing pallor; the skin feels cold and shriveled. Then, if you are fortunate enough to have good circulation, the blood vessels dilate again, causing a flushing and a feeling of warmth. At the same time the secretion of sweat is checked, to prevent loss of heat that would be caused by evaporation. The skin becomes dry, partly because less sweat is secreted, and partly because what little sweat still is formed is evaporated rapidly by the warmth of the body and the dryness of the winter air.

If the exposure is repeated often, the outermost layer of the skin becomes more horny than usual, and probably there are changes also in the oil glands. All these alterations are increased by wind. The skin of the hands, especially over the knuckles, becomes a little thicker than usual, and feels dry and harsh. Fine scales appear on the surface, and if these are not shed as they normally would be if they had not been toughened by cold, they turn a dirty gray.

This change appears especially over the elbows and knees, and on the skin of the legs just above the shoe tops. Next to the hands the part of the body most frequently affected by the cold is the six inches or so of skin immediately above the shoe tops, because it is often insufficiently protected by clothing, and because the circulation in the lower part of the leg is frequently sluggish.

You are informed that you needn't try to wash off the dirty gray color, for you will only make the skin tender and help to chap it. The dry, thick skin is not so flexible as usual, cracks appear over the joints, especially the knuckles, and there begins an itching that may make life a burden.

Frequent or long exposure to cold and wet may lead to chilblains—dark swellings in the skin, usually on the feet, which itch and burn when the skin is warmed but are fairly comfortable when the skin is cold.

And don't forget your diet, says Dr. Williams. "No directions for the care of the skin, in winter or summer, would be complete without reference to your general health, for the skin is often a good index of a man's condition. Follow a varied diet, being particularly careful to include green vegetables and milk, which provide vitamines as well as nourishment; but avoid any excess, especially of sweets and meat. Ordinarily, in the United States, more harm is done by overeating than by undereating.

"Take eight hours' sleep every night, always rest half an hour before the hearty meal of the day. Last, and the most difficult to follow, take at least an hour's exercise in the open air every day."

70 Couples Attend Formal Yule Ball At Country Clu

The formal ball given in the East Liverpool Country club last evening, was one of the prettiest dancing parties in the history of the club. The social committee, composed of H. Dan Smith, chairman; Joseph Watte, J. Donald Thompson, Fred B. Lawrence and Richard C. Sant, arranged many novel features. The club house was decorated with pine branches, holly and silver tinsel.

Promptly at 9 o'clock the grand march took place, with Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Sant leading the 70 couples.

Splendid music was furnished by the Stomberg & Bokoun Rainbow orchestra of Cleveland. These ten artists play for the social activities of the University of Michigan and the Cleveland Country clubs.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Mary Katheryn Anderson of Los Angeles, Cal.; Misses Illis, Miss Mary and Robert Williams of London, O.; Misses Katheryn and Alene Kelly of Cleveland; Miss Margaret Mosgrove, Miss Carrell Robinson, Miss Sara McFadden and Dohrman Sinclair of Steubenville; Miss Katheryn Sebring of Sebring; Miss Alice Conrad of Bermingham, Mass.; Fred Van Teski of Amsterdam, Holland; Worthin Paxton of Washington, Pa., and Elmer Serena of McKeesport.

Berean Bible Class Meeting.

The Berean Bible class of the Pleasant Heights mission will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. George Myler of Northside avenue. The 52nd chapter of Isaiah will be discussed by the teacher, Mrs. Mentor Shenkle.

Miss Clapsaddle Entertains.

Miss Elizabeth Clapsaddle entertained a group of friends in her home in Maplewood, Tuesday evening, with a Christmas party. A short business session was held during which a club was organized. Games were enjoyed. Miss Maxine Brown gave a piano solo and Miss Georgia White rendered soprano solos.

A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Bernitta Jones.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Maxine Brown of Burrows avenue.

Yuletide Party in Rice Home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rice entertained a number of relatives and friends with a Yuletide party, last Friday evening, in their home in Lincoln highway. The home was attractively decorated with the season's novelties. A miniature Christmas tree centered the table at which a three-course luncheon was served at the close of an evening spent informally with games and radio music.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Rice of Youngstown and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bucher of Lisbon.

TICKET OFFICE HERE ROBBED

Thieves Secure Small Sum of Money at Panhandle Station.

Chief of Police Brady Seevers and two railroad detectives from Steubenville are investigating the robbery last night of the Panhandle railroad station, Ninth street. The robbers secured a small sum of money from the ticket office after their attempt at opening the safe proved fruitless.

The robbery was discovered this morning when the ticket agent reported for duty. He immediately notified Chief Seevers and in turn informed the office of the company at Steubenville, who sent officers to investigate.

The culprits gained entrance through a window which they pried open with a "jimmy."

Chief of Police Seevers last night arrested Fred Smith, residing in First street, on a charge of suspicion. He will be questioned this afternoon in regard to the robbery which took place Monday evening at the store of Harry Lundgren in Carolina avenue. The place was entered through a window and a quantity of candy, chewing gum and sum of money taken by the thieves. Smith will also be grilled in connection with the robberies recently at the stores of E. E. Dornan and Joseph Davis, which were entered about three weeks ago.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Husband Mistreats Her.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 23 years old. I have been married five years and have a little boy three and a half years old. Since my marriage I have had one trouble after another. Three years ago my hearing began to fail. I went to doctors but got no better until now I can't hear unless one speaks loudly. This makes it very hard to make friends. My husband and I have not gotten along well for the last year and a half. He gets angry because I want to have his aunt or cousins in to dinner because he says he can't afford to have company. But I can manage well and always set a good table. He gives me $10 a week to run the table and buy clothes for myself and the boy. I have not had a new coat since I have been married, but I always try to keep junior dressed well. My husband makes $25 a week. Now he gets so bad that he curses me and knocks me down if I do anything he does not like. I used to let him mistreat me, but now I fight back although I know it is very unladylike. He went, and therefore I would adhas told me to leave, but I guess I am just a coward for I always acted as if I didn't hear him. I can't stand this cat and dog life much longer, but want to do what is best for the baby. I married against my brothers' wishes and have no parents. Do you know of any work where I could go any take junior? Or I could go to my brother's house and his wife would look after him if I could find something to do to take care of us. My husband has a 15-year-old boy who stays with us, but he is fine and good and causes me no trouble. It is not on account of him we do not get along.

MOTHER.

No life is without its difficult and disagreeable problems, but yours seems to be worse than the average because of your lack of hearing. That would be a great handicap wherever you vise you to remain in your home, making even greater effort to keep harmony and to get along with your husband tactfully. Do not be satisfied with keeping the baby well dressed, but make greater effort to improve your own appearance. I believe you will have more happiness from looking well than you will have from entertaining your husband's relatives to dinner. Invite people in for a cup of tea. In that way you will have companionship and it will not cost so much. Surely you know that there are certain things which irritate your husband and therefore you should try to eliminate friction wherever possible. Also take great pride in your home and feel your life work is there. Even if your husband does not respond to your effort, endear yourself to your child through poise and gentleness. Your life can be rich if you refuse to recognize its handicaps and only realize how fortunate you are in comparison with many others.

Loses Boy Friend.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 18 years of age. I am going with a boy the same age. We have been good friends until about two weeks ago when he acted as if he would have nothing to do with me. He gave me a picture nearly a year ago and the other day I decided to give it back. The next day I found it in my desk. I didn't want it any more and so I gave it to him again and I think he will keep it for good now. Did I do right? I love this young man dearly and would like to win back his friendship.

SOFT-HEARTED SUE.

Your opportunity to win back the young man came when he returned the picture to you. At that time it was not necessary to show joy to think he gave it back, but you might have told him you would keep it because you preferred friends to enemies. Now, however, you might just as well recognize the fact that your friendship is a thing of the past and to forget him as quickly as possible.

Give Him a Chance.

Thank you M. H.: Since you love your husband so dearly, it seems to me only fair to go to housekeeping with him and to give him a chance to prove himself worthy in his own home. It is not pleasant for a man to live with his mother-in-law, especially when she notices all his failings and helps her daughter to decide against him. Do not work outside the home to help earn money when you go to him, because if you start you will find it difficult to stop. Now is the time to make him feel his responsibility. Unless he is willing to assume the responsibilities of a married man, do not go to him, because in that case he only half wants you and would not make you happy.

TICKET OFFICE HERE ROBBED

Thieves Secure Small Sum of Money at Panhandle Station.

Chief of Police Brady Seevers and two railroad detectives from Steubenville are investigating the robbery last night of the Panhandle railroad station, Ninth street. The robbers secured a small sum of money from the ticket office after their attempt at opening the safe proved fruitless.

The robbery was discovered this morning when the ticket agent reported for duty. He immediately notified Chief Seevers and in turn informed the office of the company at Steubenville, who sent officers to investigate.

The culprits gained entrance through a window which they pried open with a "jimmy."

Chief of Police Seevers last night arrested Fred Smith, residing in First street, on a charge of suspicion. He will be questioned this afternoon in regard to the robbery which took place Monday evening at the store of Harry Lundgren in Carolina avenue. The place was entered through a window and a quantity of candy, chewing gum and sum of money taken by the thieves. Smith will also be grilled in connection with the robberies recently at the stores of E. E. Dornan and Joseph Davis, which were entered about three weeks ago.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Husband Mistreats Her.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 23 years old. I have been married five years and have a little boy three and a half years old. Since my marriage I have had one trouble after another. Three years ago my hearing began to fail. I went to doctors but got no better until now I can't hear unless one speaks loudly. This makes it very hard to make friends. My husband and I have not gotten along well for the last year and a half. He gets angry because I want to have his aunt or cousins in to dinner because he says he can't afford to have company. But I can manage well and always set a good table. He gives me $10 a week to run the table and buy clothes for myself and the boy. I have not had a new coat since I have been married, but I always try to keep junior dressed well. My husband makes $25 a week. Now he gets so bad that he curses me and knocks me down if I do anything he does not like. I used to let him mistreat me, but now I fight back although I know it is very unladylike. DOG LICENSES BEING ISSUED

More Than 5,000 Taken Out in County During 1924.

During 1924 there were 5,342 dog licenses issued by Deputy Auditor Randall Hamilton ,the largest number ever issued in one year in this county since the law has been operative.

Dog licenses for for 1925 are now being issued, 121 having been taken out up to the close of business Tuesday night.

The first license or No. 1 was taken out by Paul Farmer, of Leetonia R. F. D., who made application for this license five months ago.

New licenses have been ready for distribution for the last 10 days, and the demand has been rather active. It has been intimated by county officials that the collection of the dog tax will be more rigidly enforced during 1925 than heretofore, and that "no soaxing" ,to pay will be done at all during the new year.

Schedule Is Mapped For Clearing Snow From County Roads

The Columbiana county division of the state highway department has worked out a schedule of operations for the clearing of snow from highways, which will become operative the next heavy snow.

Because the county has no funds to work its two snow plows, these have been loaned to the state highway department.

The schedule will call for the operation of one plow from the state line east of East Palestine on the Cox highway west to Salem.

Another plow will start out of Lisbon, work north to Salem, then west to the county line on the Cox highway.

One plow will be used between Lisbon and the Columbiana-Carroll county line on the Lincoln highway.

Southward from Lisbon a plow will be worked over the Lincoln highway to East Liverpool, thence west to Wellsville over the East Liverpool-Wellsville road, then north to Lisbon over the Wellsville-Lisbon road.

By this schedule all main highways in the county will be kept open to traffic at all times.

LEAVE IS GRANTED TO FILE PETITION

In the case of C. E. Slagle against F. H. Harrold, which has been carried to common pleas court on appeal by Harrold, Judge James G. Moore has granted permission to file a petition in this case immediately. The case is one wherein Slagle seeks to recover $189.28 from the defendant for work and labor performed.

In the case of H. W. Hammond, as executor of the estate of Thomas Piper, deceased, against Margaret Goggshell and others, which is an action to sell real estate, leave has been granted to the defendants Ross Sheets and Irene Sheets, to file their answer and cross petition forthwith.

POTTERY CITY MAN SEEKING DIVORCE

Declaring that his wife told him "He was only a roomer in their home and that she could only treat him as such," is a part of the text of the divorce petition filed in common pleas court by Attorneys Cochran & Crawford, of East Liverpool, in behalf of their client, Elmer G. Morley, who is suing his wife, Myrtle M. Morley, of 1071 St. George street, East Liverpool, for divorce.

The petition recites that Mrs. Morley failed to perform duties toward the plaintiff as a wife, and she is accused of extreme cruelty.

COUNTY AUDITOR STILL IMPROVING

Although a general improvement has been shown in the condition of County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, who is a patient in the Central Clinic, Salem, no time has been set for his return to his desk.

It has been determined by Dr. H. K. Yaggi that Mr. Hamilton is in need of complete relaxation, and he may be a patient at the clinic for another week or 10 days.

790 CIVIL CASES FILED THIS YEAR

During the past 12 months, and up to noon Wednesday, 790 civil actions were filed with Clerk of Courts John T. Burns.

These cases do not include those transcripts in criminal cases which are carried to the higher courts from the municipal and also the courts of the justices of the peace.

In appearance docket No. 64 281 cases were entered this year, and then docket 65 was opened, which contains 500 cases.

Just a few days ago Docket 66 was opened, and up to noon nine cases had been entered in this new book.

More Than 5,000 Taken Out in County During 1924.

During 1924 there were 5,342 dog licenses issued by Deputy Auditor Randall Hamilton ,the largest number ever issued in one year in this county since the law has been operative.

Dog licenses for for 1925 are now being issued, 121 having been taken out up to the close of business Tuesday night.

The first license or No. 1 was taken out by Paul Farmer, of Leetonia R. F. D., who made application for this license five months ago.

New licenses have been ready for distribution for the last 10 days, and the demand has been rather active. It has been intimated by county officials that the collection of the dog tax will be more rigidly enforced during 1925 than heretofore, and that "no soaxing" to pay will be done at all during the new year.

Schedule Is Mapped For Clearing Snow From County Roads

The Columbiana county division of the state highway department has worked out a schedule of operations for the clearing of snow from highways, which will become operative the next heavy snow.

Because the county has no funds to work its two snow plows, these have been loaned to the state highway department.

The schedule will call for the operation of one plow from the state line east of East Palestine on the Cox highway west to Salem.

Another plow will start out of Lisbon, work north to Salem, then west to the county line on the Cox highway.

One plow will be used between Lisbon and the Columbiana-Carroll county line on the Lincoln highway.

Southward from Lisbon a plow will be worked over the Lincoln highway to East Liverpool, thence west to Wellsville over the East Liverpool-Wellsville road, then north to Lisbon over the Wellsville-Lisbon road.

By this schedule all main highways in the county will be kept open to traffic at all times.

LEAVE IS GRANTED TO FILE PETITION

POTTERY CITY MAN SEEKING DIVORCE

Declaring that his wife told him "He was only a roomer in their home and that she could only treat him as such," is a part of the text of the divorce petition filed in common pleas court by Attorneys Cochran & Crawford, of East Liverpool, in behalf of their client, Elmer G. Morley, who is suing his wife, Myrtle M. Morley, of 1071 St. George street, East Liverpool, for divorce.

The petition recites that Mrs. Morley failed to perform duties toward the plaintiff as a wife, and she is accused of extreme cruelty.

COUNTY AUDITOR STILL IMPROVING

Although a general improvement has been shown in the condition of County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, who is a patient in the Central Clinic, Salem, no time has been set for his return to his desk.

It has been determined by Dr. H. K. Yaggi that Mr. Hamilton is in need of complete relaxation, and he may be a patient at the clinic for another week or 10 days.

DOG LICENSES BEING ISSUED

More Than 5,000 Taken Out in County During 1924.

During 1924 there were 5,242 dog licenses issued by Deputy Auditor Randall Hamilton ,the largest number ever issued in one year in this county since the law has been operative.

Dog licenses for for 1925 are now being issued, 121 having been taken out up to the close of business Tuesday night.

The first license or No. 1 was taken out by Paul Farmer, of Leetonia R. F. D., who made application for this license five months ago.

New licenses have been ready for distribution for the last 10 days, and the demand has been rather active. It has been intimated by county officials that the collection of the dog tax will be more rigidly enforced during 1925 than heretofore, and that "no soaxing" to pay will be done at all during the new year.

Schedule Is Mapped For Clearing Snow From County Roads

The Columbiana county division of the state highway department has worked out a schedule of operations for the clearing of snow from highways, which will become operative the next heavy snow.

Because the county has no funds to work its two snow plows, these have been loaned to the state highway department.

The schedule will call for the operation of one plow from the state line east of East Palestine on the Cox highway west to Salem.

Another plow will start out of Lisbon, work north to Salem, then west to the county line on the Cox highway.

One plow will be used between Lisbon and the Columbiana-Carroll county line on the Lincoln highway.

Southward from Lisbon a plow will be worked over the Lincoln highway to East Liverpool, thence west to Wellsville over the East Liverpool-Wellsville road, then north to Lisbon over the Wellsville-Lisbon road.

By this schedule all main highways in the county will be kept open to traffic at all times.

World's Youngest 'Grand Opera Star' With San Carlo Company

"Baby Frances" Hess, Eight Years Old, Known on Stage and Screen, Will Appear at Ceramic Jan. 15.

The world's youngest "grand opera star!" Only eight years old, and already she has appeared in at least 1,000 performances of the great opera "Madame Butterfly," which the famous San Carlo Grand Opera company is to present at the Ceramic theatre, East Liverpool, on Thursday evening January 15th. It will be a treat in store for not only the adults who hear the opera, but the young folks too will want to see this wonderful little child, who only a year or so ago deserted the motion picture work in Hollywood, to enter grand opera.

"Baby" Hess worked in the films on the Pacific Coast, appearing with the famous Gish sisters, Thomas Meighan, "Bill" Hart, and even Jackie Coogan, until Fortune Gallo, the San Carlo impresario, saw her and at once decided she was the ideal child to portray the role of little "Trouble" in "Madame Butterfly." Since that time she has been with the San Carlo, and her ambition has turned from a desire to be a great movie star, to becoming one of the leading prima donnas, many years hence. It may be that an opera generation from now, there will be a famous singer "Mme. Frances Hess" singing the role of "Madame Butterfly." Who can tell?

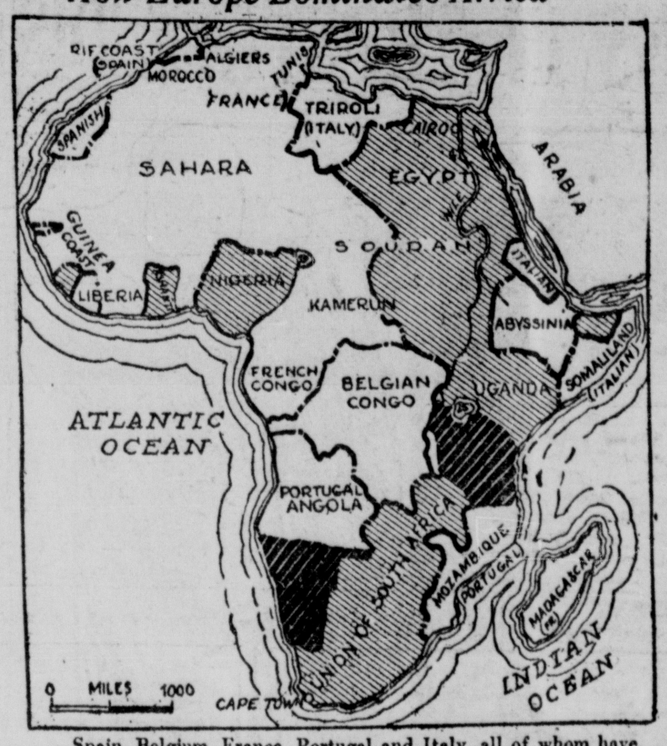
Probably this little girl has one of the most unusual sort of existence, traveling from one corner of the United States to the other on the special train which carries the big company of more than 100 singers, musicians and technical men. Her mother travels with her of course and sees to it that the baby's schooling is not neglected. Baby Hess has a Pullman car for her schoolroom, and for tutors at least a dozen of the opera stars. Already she has learned quite a bit of French, Italian and Spanish, from her close association with the opera artists from all parts of the world. She probably is far advanced in schooling for a child so young. However, she still remains a mere child, and is not precocious or spoiled despite the fact that she is on the opera stage. She is still the sweet simple little thing she was when she left the movie lot.

They say that when Jackie Coogan visited New York recently, he presented his card at the stage door of the opera house where Baby Hess was appearing with the San Carlo, and that she received him as befits a real prima donna. It is said that Jackie did the "Stage door Johnny" act very nicely, with the proverbial flowers in hand, and a meek manner.

Christmas just past was an interesting time for Baby Hess, and even more so for the members of the company. The organization was playing the entire week at New Orleans, and as there was no chimney in the hotel rooms whereby Santa Claus could climb down and fill the baby's stockings, the members of the company and the stage crew rigged up a special fireplace and mantlepiece on the stage of the Tulane theatre in the "Crescent City." On Christmas Day the first one at the theatre was Baby Hess. She had dragged her mother from bed at 6 o'clock and insisted in going to the theater to see what Santa Claus had brought. There she found a big Christmas tree, her tiny stockings filled with good things, and a host of toys and presents from the members of the company, and also remembrances from several hundred persons who had seen her in different cities throughout the United States. It was a gay Christmas for them all!

But through it all, Baby Hess remains unspoiled by the attention which is accorded her from one end of the United States to the other. Always a quiet sweet little child, she is the essence of politeness and is loved by all of the big company.

How Europe Dominates Africa



Spain, Belgium, France, Portugal and Italy, all of whom have colonies in Africa, are anxiously watching the Anglo-Egyptian situation. The extent of the British possessions in Africa is shown by the shaded areas. Those portions in black are former German possessions now under British control. The colonies of other European countries are indicated.

Al G. Field's Big Show at Ceramic Theatre Tuesday

This year's production of the Al. G. Field Minstrel show, the 38th annual edition, which appears at the Ceramic atre Tuesday, January 6, is the last word in minstrel entertainment. It is easily recognized as the fastest, most appealing and truly characteristic minstrel show on the American stage today. It is presented under the direction of Edward Conrad, present manager of the organization. Al. G. Field Minstrels have always stood at the front and this year is no exception, and the show is better than ever before.

Jack Richards again heads the cast of singers, and minstrel lovers all over the country acclaim him as the most popular minstrel balladist. His role is exceedingly heavy in this production. Church," the clear, bell-like tenor, also captivates his audiences. Five clever comedians are in the cast: Nick Hufford, Harry Frankel, Harry Shunk, Johnny Healy and Jack Kennedy, and their efforts are easily worthy of the profession. To dance like Billy and Leo Doran is an art, and their chorus of dancers is exceptionally nimble and well trained. As a female impersonator, Boni Mack keeps his audience guessing.

The opening scene of the show is on the deck of a pleasure yacht, sailing the seas, and you can almost hear the waves lapping the sides of the boat, so real is the atmosphere. The second part changes to Holland, and even the tulips dance to the rhythm of the enchanting music. Romance and which takes place in Spain. In the adventure run high in the afterpiece, finale in a cabaret in Spain, as well as the opening, the entire company, including the orchestra, is on the stage. Seat sale opens Saturday.

Successful Prank.

DEFIANCE, O.—When A. Schultz looked into his backward he saw four wild rabbits apparently nibbling the grass. After locking the gates to prevent escape, he sent his small son to capture the cotton-tails. His caution proved unnecessary, however, for the rabbits were merely stuffed pelts which Raymond, an older son, had used for a prank.

Gust of Wind Costs San Francisco Man $300 in Paper Bills

SAN FRANCISCO.—A mischevious wind cost William Wilson, of San Francisco, just $300. William was taking out his wallet to buy a paper when the breeze caught three $100 gills and carried them down the street. William leaped to catch his flying money, but the gust carried it around a corner, and, although he was aided by a crowd of searchers, he was unable to recover the money.

Miss Marion Bell, county health nurse, plans the formation of Women's Health clubs in several of the towns in the lower section of the county.

The object is to assist in health work among children and to aid in fighting contagious diseases where outbreaks occur.

The matter will be discussed at a meeting to be held at New Cumberland shortly early in the new year.

COUNTY FARMS CENSUS PROPOSED

Census of farm land in Hancock county will be taken in the near future by a corps of women appointed by the agricultural department at Washington.

The government plans to gather statistics from every state in the union in order that the department will have a firm grasp on the farming situation.

Hancock, Brooke and Ohio counties are included in the district with nine western Pennsylvania counties.

Watch Night Parties.

Number of watch parties will be held here tonight in addition to the meetings in the First Methodist Episcopal and Nazarene churches. Special programs in keeping with the occasion have been arranged.

Bible Study Class Meeting.

Formation of a Bible Study class will be discussed at a meeting tonight in the First Methodist Episcopal church following the mid-week prayer services.

Prayer Services.

Prayer services will be held Friday evening at the home of Joseph Dickey in Jefferson street. These meetings are held weekly in the homes of members of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Mid-week prayer services will be held tonight in the First Presbyterian church. Rev. E. E. Lashley, pastor, will be the leader.

Complexion better than ever before

Embarrassing eruption had resisted many treatments

Milwaukee, Wis., May 12:—"A year ago I had a very ugly and embarrassing itching rash on my chin. I tried so many different treatments on it which did little good, that finally I became discouraged. The druggist one day recommended Resinol Soap and I decided to try it and after using it less than one week, the itching and burning ceased. I thought if the soap alone could bring such relief, then the Resinol Ointment must certainly clear away the trouble entirely. After applying it for three nights, you can imagine how delighted I was to find the rash all gone, with not even a trace of redness left.

I now keep Resinol Ointment within reach at all times — would not be without it. I find it very economical to use, as a little goes a long way. I have used Resinol Soap daily and will continue to do so. My complexion today is better than ever before, has a healthful glow and, in fact, is all that it should be—thanks to your wonderful Resinol Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. J——. Name and address on request. Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

All druggists sell Resinol Soap and Ointment.

How Fat Actress Became Slender

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress tells that she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription. Now, by taking Marmola Prescription Tablets several times a year, she keeps her weight just right. All druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a box or if you prefer you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them, do so. They are pleasant to take and effective. adv.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE is a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering — the hoping — the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

World's Youngest 'Grand Opera Star' With San Carlo Company

"Baby Frances" Hess, Eight Years Old, Known on Stage and Screen, Will Appear at Ceramic Jan. 15.

The world's youngest "grand opera star!" Only eight years old, and already she has appeared in at least 1,000 performances of the great opera "Madame Butterfly," which the famous San Carlo Grand Opera company is to present at the Ceramic theatre, East Liverpool, on Thursday evening January 15th. It will be a treat in store for not only the adults who hear the opera, but the young folks too will want to see this wonderful little child, who only a year or so ago deserted the motion picture work in Hollywood, to enter grand opera.

"Baby" Hess worked in the films on the Pacific Coast, appearing with the famous Gish sisters, Thomas Meighan, "Bill" Hart, and even Jackie Coogan, until Fortune Gallo, the San Carlo impresario, saw her and at once decided she was the ideal child to portray the role of little "Trouble" in "Madame Butterfly." Since that time she has been with the San Carlo, and her ambition has turned from a desire to be a great movie star, to becoming one of the leading prima donnas, many years hence. It may be that an opera generation from now, there will be a famous singer "Mme. Frances Hess" singing the role of "Madame Butterfly." Who can tell?

Probably this little girl has one of the most unusual sort of existence, traveling from one corner of the United States to the other on the special train which carries the big company of more than 100 singers, musicians and technical men. Her mother travels with her of course and sees to it that the baby's schooling is not neglected. Baby Hess has a Pullman car for her schoolroom, and for tutors at least a dozen of the opera stars. Already she has learned quite a bit of French, Italian and Spanish, from her close association with the opera artists from all parts of the world. She probably is far advanced in schooling for a child so young. However, she still remains a mere child, and is not precocious or spoiled despite the fact that she is on the opera stage. She is still the sweet simple little thing she was when she left the movie lot.

They say that when Jackie Coogan visited New York recently, he presented his card at the stage door of the opera house where Baby Hess was appearing with the San Carlo, and that she received him as befits a real prima donna. It is said that Jackie did the "Stage door Johnny" act very nicely, with the proverbial flowers in hand, and a meek manner.

Christmas just past was an interesting time for Baby Hess, and even more so for the members of the company. The organization was playing the entire week at New Orleans, and as there was no chimney in the hotel rooms whereby Santa Claus could climb down and fill the baby's stockings, the members of the company and the stage crew rigged up a special fireplace and mantlepiece on the stage of the Tulane theatre in the "Crescent City." On Christmas Day the first one at the theatre was Baby Hess. She had dragged her mother from bed at 6 o'clock and insisted in going to the theater to see what Santa Claus had brought. There she found a big Christmas tree, her tiny stockings filled with good things, and a host of toys and presents from the members of the company, and also remembrances from several hundred persons who had seen her in different cities throughout the United States. It was a gay Christmas for them all!

But through it all, Baby Hess remains unspoiled by the attention which is accorded her from one end of the United States to the other. Always a quiet sweet little child, she is the essence of politeness and is loved by all of the big company.

Al G. Field's Big Show at Ceramic Theatre Tuesday

This year's production of the Al. G. Field Minstrel show, the 38th annual edition, which appears at the Ceramic theatre Tuesday, January 6, is the last word in minstrel entertainment. It is easily recognized as the fastest, most appealing and truly characteristic minstrel show on the American stage today. It is presented under the direction of Edward Conrad, present manager of the organization. Al. G. Field Minstrels have always stood at the front and this year is no exception, and the show is better than ever before.

Jack Richards again heads the cast of singers, and minstrel lovers all over the country acclaim him as the most popular minstrel balladist. His role is exceedingly heavy in this production. Church, the clear, bell-like tenor, also captivates his audiences. Five clever comedians are in the cast: Nick Hufford, Harry Frankel, Harry Shunk, Johnny Healy and Jack Kennedy, and their efforts are easily worthy of the profession. To dance like Billy and Leo Doran is an art, and their chorus of dancers is exceptionally nimble and well trained. As a female impersonator, Boni Mack keeps his audience guessing.

The opening scene of the show is on the deck of a pleasure yacht, sailing the seas, and you can almost hear the waves lapping the sides of the boat, so real is the atmosphere. The second part changes to Holland, and even the tulips dance to the rhythm of the enchanting music. Romance and which takes place in Spain. In the adventure run high in the afterpiece, finale in a cabaret in Spain, as well as the opening, the entire company, including the orchestra, is on the stage. Seat sale opens Saturday.

Complexion better than ever before

Embarrassing eruption had resisted many treatments

Milwaukee, Wis., May 12:—"A year ago I had a very ugly and embarrassing itching rash on my chin. I tried so many different treatments on it which did little good, that finally I became discouraged. The druggist one day recommended Resinol Soap and I decided to try it and after using it less than one week, the itching and burning ceased. I thought if the soap alone could bring such relief, then the Resinol Ointment must certainly clear away the trouble entirely. After applying it for three nights, you can imagine how delighted I was to find the rash all gone, with not even a trace of redness left.

I now keep Resinol Ointment within reach at all times — would not be without it. I find it very economical to use, as a little goes a long way. I have used Resinol Soap daily and will continue to do so. My complexion today is better than ever before, has a healthful glow and, in fact, is all that it should be—thanks to your wonderful Resinol Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. J——. Name and address on request. Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

All druggists sell Resinol Soap and Ointment.

How Fat Actress Became Slender

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress tells that she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription. Now, by taking Marmola Prescription Tablets several times a year, she keeps her weight just right. All druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a box or if you prefer you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them, do so. They are pleasant to take and effective. adv.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE is a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering — the hoping — the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeans

"All right, Tony. And, Tony, I'll telephone you some time and you come to see me. I saw your brother in San Francisco."

"Hi! Yes, I come."

Colt rang off. "Well, J. D."

"I'm going to his house," Dascome said. He was perfectly calm now.

"It's the only thing to do, I suppose. . . . I don't understand the man—he knows he'll have to answer to you."

Dascome drew a short breath but said nothing. They went down together to his car.

XIX

In less than half an hour Dascome and Colt climbed the road which circled Rossiter Hill, the name Randsome Rossiter had given the several hill acres which comprised his estate. The two had ridden in almost complete silence; at the rate they were going, conversation had not been possible, even if Dascome had shown any wish to converse. He had been grimly silent. Colt knew that he was thinking intently, and that usually he thought to some purpose. Colt had occupied himself in watching the road, in their rear as well as ahead; though it was nearly two o'clock, an arrest was a possible thing.

But this was all upgrade and Dascome had been forced to change gears. "There are plenty of lights in the house," Colt remarked.

"Yes. He'll be there to receive me. There is something behind all this."

"What?"

"Deviltry."

"Then he's risking a good deal for a bit of fun."

"It's not fun—it's dead earnest."

Colt was positive. "Clarice is perfectly safe with him, J. D. I know it!"

"Would you call him a philanthropist?" Dascome asked curtly.

"No. I don't know why he chose to take her out of that crowd, but it's not for the reason you think."

"I haven't said what I think was his reason. This road is useful to him, it's his driveway, Clarice struck him as useful—a means to an end."

"I don't get you."

"Another woman, of course."

Colt studied him, his own thoughts moving fast. Then his brows lifted slightly. "You read those notes on him?"

"Yes—and the marriage record."

"But I don't see——"

"I haven't time to explain, Bert," Dascome interrupted. "I assure you, though, that I have no ntention of putting a bullet into Randsome Rossiter."

"I knew you'd have too much sense for that," Colt returned, but in the tone of one who had feared that very thing. "You can't afford any mess like that."

"I am well aware of it," Dascome said as they drew up before the door. "Here is my pistol," and he took it from his pocket and laid it on Colt's knee. "I'll get the thing over with as soon as possible."

"You want to go alone?"

"I'd hate to appear with a bodyguard."

Colt watched him go up the walk, saw the door open, and caught a glimpse of the Japanese boy who let him in. He knew John Dascome well; Dascome's calm did not deceive him; it was an enraged man who would face Rossiter, the settled antagonism that persuasion cannot stir. Dascome's taking Karesia Kaime's house had been necessary for Dascome's purpose, but to have such a complication as this grow out of it! She was an attractive woman and, despite all his iron will, John Dascome was a mere man.

When the door closed on Dascome, Colt sprang out of the car and passed around to the side of the house. It was a large, spreading Spanish building, part of it two stories, the big ballroom, a three-quarter story wing with a tiled roof; the library, another wing with many windows commanding a magnificent view. The main portion of the house enclosed a patio the beauty of which was well known.

Colt skirted the drawing room and sought the library wing. The rooms were lighted and the shades undrawn; Colt saw Dascome pass through the drawing room, preceded by the Japanese boy. Before Dascome entered the library, Colt had reached a library window. It was open; it was too warm a night for much fire, yet there was a lively blaze in the deep, wide fireplace. Before it, stretched out in a chair, in apparently indolent ease, was Rossiter, in smoking jacket and slippers. He showed not the slightest interest in Dascome's approaching footsteps, which Colt heard plainly enough. He did not turn his head even, until the Japanese boy reached his chair and spoke to him.

Then he rose, cigarette in hand. "Mr. Dascome. I thought probably you would come."

"I tried to get you by telephone, but was unable."

"I came in only a few minutes ago."

There was a long library table between them; Colt was glad that there was; both men were so dangerously calm, Dascome white and eyes steely, Rossiter unflushed, but his eyes brilliant and lip curled; Colt thought that he had never looked upon a cooler exhibition of utter contempt. He left the obvious subject to Dascome.

"I learned this evening that my daughter had gone into town with the Seth Cairns and a party and that the had been drinking," Dascome explained evenly. "I reached town as soon as I could and found that you had very kindly taken my daughter away. As she is not at the hotel, I came to you."

Knowing the seething rage of the man, Colt could have applauded. On the side, he thought that he had rarely seen two finer masculine specimens; in a sombre, life-worn way, John Dascome was handsome, as tall as his opponent and a little more solidly built; as fair as the other was dark and as erect as the lithe, vividly alive man from whom his eyes had never moved.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settled domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What is the largest concrete outdoor swimming pool in the country? W. L. C.

A. Garden City, Kansas, has an all-concrete municipal swimming pool which it claims to be one of the largest if not the largest in the United States. It is 345 feet in length by 210 feet in width, with a depth ranging from 1f inches to 9 feet.

Q. What is the population of Tulsa, Oklahoma? P. T. D.

A. The population of Tulsa was approximately 110,000 in 1923.

Q. What would it cost to build underground garages on a large scale? W. W. B.

A. An underground garage projected in Chicago is planned as a series of units, each of which will care for 306 cars. Each section of each unit will be 25 x60 feet and will store six cars. It is estimated that the average cost of construction will amount to $1,500 per car.

Q. Where is the statue called "The End of the Trail?" T. E. T.

A. In life-size form the statue does not exist today. The one executed for the Panama Pacific Exposition was only temporary. There are one or two small replicas of this statue by Fraser. One is in the Metropolitan Gallery of Art.

Q. When do people suffer from colds the most? M. C. T.

A. A chart recently prepared shows the low number of colds to be in June. The line rises rather gradually until the first of December, when there is a sharp ascent through three months, reaching the peak in March.

Q. What is the largest crystal sphere known? K. S. C.

A. The largest flawless crystal sphere in the world was recently brought to New York from China, where it was cut from a perfect Burma crystal. It was nine inches in diameter and weighed 500 Troy ounces and 13 pennyweights. It has a little brother, or sister, fifteen-sixteenths of an inch smaller in diameter. The two are valued at $50,000.

Q. Has a lion ever been crossed with a tiger? T. C. L.

A. The London Zoo has a "tigon," an animal which had a lioness for a mother and a tiger for a father. It was bred and presented to the zoo by the Maharajah of Nawanagar.

Q. What is the present value of farm products in this country? C. P. V.

A. Farm products this year are estimated at ten billion dollars by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Q. What is the cost of sending pictures by radio? S. P. R.

A. Rates will not be announced until the system of sending pictures by radio has been more nearly perfected. However, on the basis of cost of sending the number of words that could be transmitted in the time required to transmit one photograph, the cost at press rates would be about $40.

Q. When was the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York built? N. Y. T.

A. The original hotel structure on the site occupied by the Waldorf-Astoria was built in 1893.

Q. Is there any way of reducing the evaporation of alcohol in a radiator? W. B. T.

A. About a pint of glycerine poured into the radiator will float on top of the anti-freeze solution and will tend to prevent rapid evaporation.

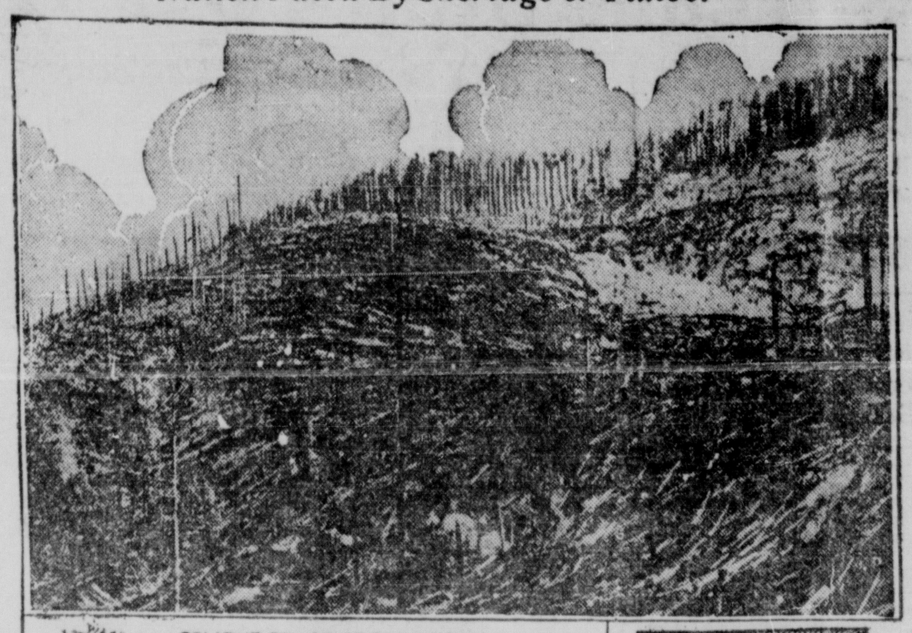
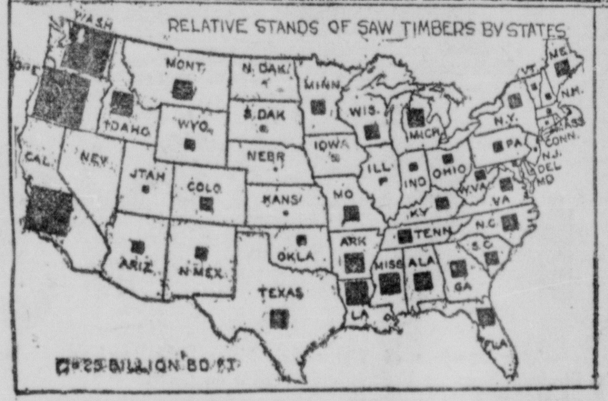
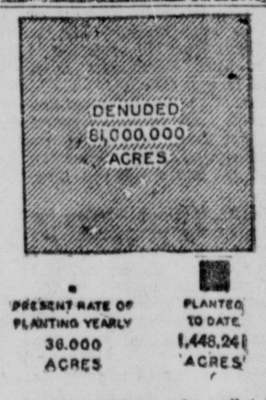
Nation Faced By Shortage of Timber







President Coolidge, in giving warning of a shortage of timber in the United States, has officially recognized a situation to which experts have been calling attention for some time, it is pointed out by officials in Washington. The U. S. cuts nearly as much of its forests in a day as it plants in a year. Above is seen a section of land typical of the 81,000,000 acres of idle denuded forest. With the picture are two charts explaining the situation graphically.

Manchester Worker Breaks World's Record For Rolling Cigars

MANCHESTER, N. H., Dec.—What is believed to be a new world's cigarmaking record has been established at the R. G. Sullivan factory by Oscar Van Wymersch, who rolled some 4,500 cigars in a week. As yet no other cigarmaker can be found who ever rolled that number in forty-eight hours, the average cigarmaker rolling about 2,000.

In setting the new record, Van Wymersch bettered the factory's day-production record when he rolled 784 cigars. The previous record of 764 was held by Robert Wills, another speedy cigarmaker at the factory.

Old Saying Shattered.

COLUMBUS, O.—Peas in a pod are not alike in spite of the old figure of speech, "as much alike as two peas in a pod," according to the Ohio Canners' association, which held its annual convention here recently. The canners said there are five or six sizes of peas in a pod and that they differ in quality as well as size. Grading of peas and other canned goods was one of the convention features.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settled domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What is the largest concrete outdoor swimming pool in the country? W. L. C.

A. Garden City, Kansas, has an all-concrete municipal swimming pool which it claims to be one of the largest if not the largest in the United States. It is 345 feet in length by 210 feet in width, with a depth ranging from 18 inches to 9 feet.

Q. What is the population of Tulsa, Oklahoma? P. T. D.

A. The population of Tulsa was approximately 110,000 in 1923.

Q. What would it cost to build underground garages on a large scale? W. W. B.

A. An underground garage projected in Chicago is planned as a series of units, each of which will care for 306 cars. Each section of each unit will be 25 x60 feet and will store six cars. It is estimated that the average cost of construction will amount to $1,500 per car.

Q. Where is the statue called "The End of the Trail?" T. E. T.

A. In life-size form the statue does not exist today. The one executed for the Panama Pacific Exposition was only temporary. There are one or two small replicas of this statue by Fraser. One is in the Metropolitan Gallery of Art.

Q. When do people suffer from colds the most? M. C. T.

A. A chart recently prepared shows the low number of colds to be in June. The line rises rather gradually until the first of December, when there is a sharp ascent through three months, reaching the peak in March.

Q. What is the largest crystal sphere known? K. S. C.

A. The largest flawless crystal sphere in the world was recently brought to New York from China, where it was cut from a perfect Burma crystal. It was nine inches in diameter and weighed 500 Troy ounces and 13 pennyweights. It has a little brother, or sister, fifteen-sixteenths of an inch smaller in diameter. The two are valued at $50,000.

Q. Has a lion ever been crossed with a tiger? T. C. L.

A. The London Zoo has a "tigon," an animal which had a lioness for a mother and a tiger for a father. It was bred and presented to the zoo by the Maharajah of Nawanagar.

Q. What is the present value of farm products in this country? C. P. V.

A. Farm products this year are estimated at ten billion dollars by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Q. What is the cost of sending pictures by radio? S. P. R.

A. Rates will not be announced until the system of sending pictures by radio has been more nearly perfected. However, on the basis of cost of sending the number of words that could be transmitted in the time required to transmit one photograph, the cost at press rates would be about $40.

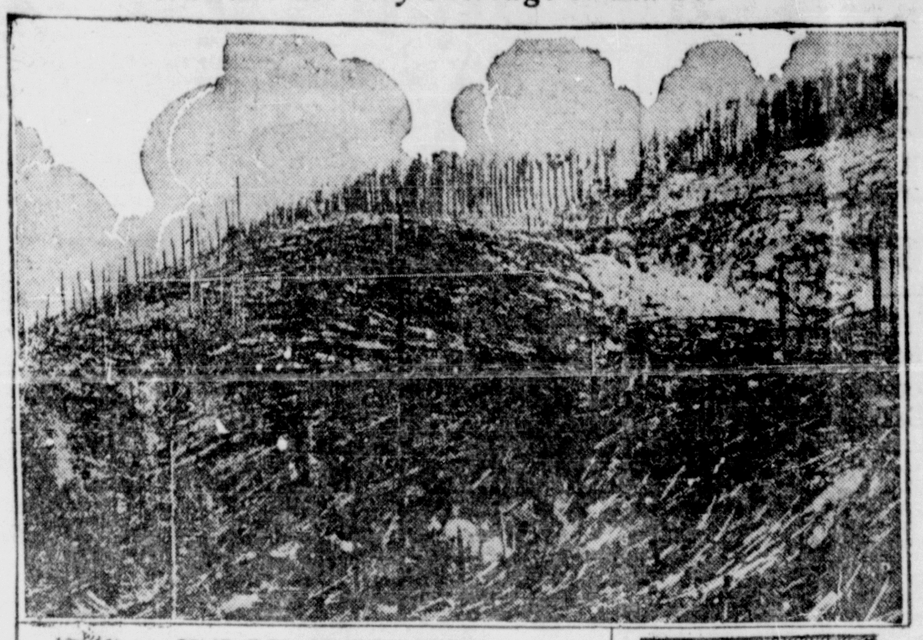
Q. When was the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York built? N. Y. T.

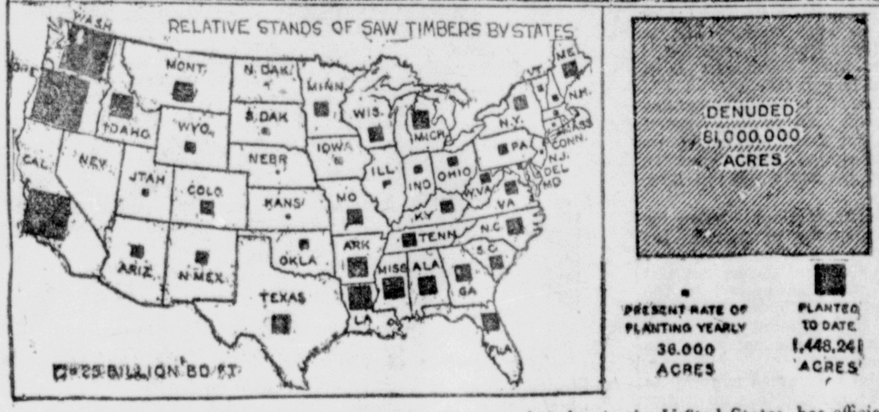
A. The original hotel structure on the site occupied by the Waldorf-Astoria was built in 1893.

Q. Is there any way of reducing the evaporation of alcohol in a radiator? W. B. T.

A. About a pint of glycerine poured into the radiator will float on top of the anti-freeze solution and will tend to prevent rapid evaporation.

Nation Faced By Shortage of Timber





President Coolidge, in giving warning of a shortage of timber in the United States, has officially recognized a situation to which experts have been calling attention for some time, it is pointed out by officials in Washington. The U. S. cuts nearly as much of its forests in a day as it plants in a year. Above is seen a section of land typical of the 81,000,000 acres of idle denuded forest. With the picture are two charts explaining the situation graphically.

Manchester Worker Breaks World's Record For Rolling Cigars

MANCHESTER, N. H., Dec.—What is believed to be a new world's cigar-making record has been established at the R. G. Sullivan factory by Oscar Van Wymersch, who rolled some 4,500 cigars in a week. As yet no other cigarmaker can be found who ever rolled that number in forty-eight hours, the average cigarmaker rolling about 2,000.

In setting the new record, Van Wymersch bettered the factory's day-production record when he rolled 784 cigars. The previous record of 764 was held by Robert Wills, another speedy cigarmaker at the factory.

Runyon Says

"Gentleman Jack" Has a Theory. Says Weinert Has Too Much to Say Other Boxers Suffer Same Thing. Ted-Kid Lewis Was Poorest Coach. Elmer Oliphant Played 12 Years.

BY DAMON RUNYON.

Copyright, 1924, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"GENTLEMAN JACK" O'BRIEN, who conducts a sports department in Stephen Clow's brilliant little magazine, "Broadway Brevities," advances an interesting theory in the December number.

O'Brien, widely known expert on physical culture and boxing, saw the battle between Charley Weinert and Louis Angel Firpo in Newark some time ago, which was won by Weinert on points. On that occasion Weinert probably had more advice than was ever given one fighter in a bout.

Besides his manager and seconds, Weinert had the gratuitous coaching of two world's champions, Harry Greb and Mickey Walker. Both climbed into his corner to yell advice in his ear. From ringside seats a dozen other noted boxers and handlers of boxers, whooped instructions during the progress of the fight and between the rounds.

O'Brien says it is his opinion if Weinert hadn't received so much advice—and listened to it—he would have scored a knockout before the twelfth round.

The writer is inclined to agree with O'Brien.

He thinks, too, that boxers are frequently given TOO MUCH advice during a battle.

As a result they try to do things that are utterly beyond them, which are opposed to their natural style, or else they become completely confused. Many boxers would be much better off if left to their own resources. Weinert against Firpo is a notable case.

Of course you could scarcely blame Weinert for trying to heed the advice of such men as Gred and Walker. It was a most important fight for Weinert. He was attempting a "comeback," a tremendous task.

As a matter of fact, Weinert, a veteran, probably knows as much about boxing as either Greb or Walker. But perhaps he wasn't altogether sure of himself that night, was afraid of making mistakes.

Consequently it was only natural for him to listen to men he knew were at the top of the heap. He perhaps felt they were noting his shortcomings, and trying to correct them.

But, in general, active boxers are not good coaches.

A veteran boxer can take hold of a youngster and TEACH him his trade, and handle that youngster well.

But an active boxer who doesn't know the capabilities of the man he is trying to coach in a fight, who doesn't know his disposition, is more apt to be a nuisance than a help in a corner.

He wants the man he is coaching to do things HIS way. He sees what he could and would do himself, and he thinks everybody else ought to do it that way.

One of the greatest boxers, and the poorest coach the writer ever saw, was Ted-Kid Lewis, the Englishman, former welterweight champion of the world.

Lewis was managed by Jimmy Johnston, who had a lot of other fighters. Lewis loved to appear behind the others when he wasn't boxing himself, and advise them in their battles.

He would babble excitedly, gesticulating with his hands, as he told them what he wanted them to do. He was one of the few men in the world who could have carried out his ideas, but Lewis thought everybody ought to be able to box as he did.

It was a great spectacle when Lewis worked in the corner behind Andre Anderson, one of Johnson's heavyweights of that period. Anderson, a ponderous man, would blink his eyes in wonderment as Lewis chattered in his ear. If Anderson could have carried out one-third of Lewis' suggestions he would have been champion of the world to this day.

The boxer who is wholly dependent upon the advice of his handlers, who never display any natural resourcefulness or initative, will not go far.

You often see boxers constantly glancing to their corners during a battle. They are the kind who can't think for themselves. Corner instructions of the right sort are quite valuable, of course, but the time comes when a boxer must do things on his own.

But Dempsey right now would probably be a poor coach himself.

He would be inclined to over-estimate the physical and mental ability of any boxer he tried to second, would give him too much advice.

Elmer Q. Oliphant, one of the most famous football players of the past ten years, writes that he is greatly surprised by the information conveyed in a recent article in this column.

The article told of the practice of one of the big college teams of the country of "cussing" the opposing players. The article expressed the hope that the college is an exception. Oliphant's letter would indicate that it is.

Incidentially, Oliphant's letter clears up a little matter which the writer has often heard debated. It is with reference to his football experience. Oliphant discloses the interesting fact that he played for practically twelve years.

He was at high school for years, at Purdue University four years, and at West Point four years.

In all this period, Oliphant says, he never heard profanity on the field.

Yet the incident of the "cussing" team to which the writer has reference is quite authentic. The writer, in turn, is surprised that Oliphant never heard of it. It is common gossip among the football players of the big colleges of the East.

Moreover, these players will tell you that the same team isn't above attempts, deliberately planned, to put opposing players out of the game with injuries. It is said that one team came out of a battle with the college in question with five broken noses.

One or two broken noses might be accidential, five put the affair in the light of what you might call a nose pogrom, and most suspicious.

Football is not a delicate game. It is always more or less rough, more or less hazardous. But the writer doubts that it ever presents an issue important enough to justify the lengths to which this college seems willing to go to win its games.

Before either of the brothers Hartley, winners of the London amateur foresomes for the last two years, makes a shot, they usually consult each other as to the best way to play.

LUTHERANS WIN TWO CONTESTS

Boulevards are Victims of Intermediate Five.

Lutheran church passers were victorious in two games last evening on the high school floor, the Juniors defeating the Presbyterian youngsters 24 to 12, and the Intermediates winning from the Park Boulevards 21 to 19.

The main clash was fast and rough at times, and was marked by a brilliant attack by the Lutherans in the final five minutes, which put them into the lead by such a margin that victory was made certain.

The teams were on even terms at the end of the first quarter, the count standing 4 to 4. In the second period the Lutherans went to the front, taking first honors by a score of 12 to 7.

In the early stages of the second half, however, the Boulevard five fought back to reduce their foe's lead and succeeded in doing not only that but also in forging ahead by two points. Their lead was of short duration, however, as G. Woessner found the basket for two straight field goals and the lead reverted to the Lutherans.

From this point on the Lutherans stayed ahead, but with the Boulevards always within hailing distance save in the last five minutes.

G. Woessner was the main cog in the Lutheran machine, scoring 17 of his team's points. Guyton, Kirkham and Barnes were the stars for the Boulevards, Guyton and Barnes being the principal scorers.

In the preliminary, Greenwood and M. Barlow were the scoring stars for the Lutheran Juniors and Dickey was the outstanding performer for the U. P. Juniors.

Lineups, summaries:

Lutherans		Park Boulevards
G. Woessner	F	Guyton
R. Woessner	F	Barnes
Schneidmiller	C	O. Kirkham
Kibble	G	F. Kirkham
Davis	G	Hall

Substitution—Rough for Hall.

Field goals—G. Woessner 6, Rough, Schneidmiller 2, R. Woessner, Guyton 3, Barnes 3.

Foul goals—G. Woessner 5, Davis 2, R. Woessner, Kibbie, Schneidmiller, Rough, Guyton 3, O. Kirkham 3, F. Kirkham.

Referee—McVey.

BOWLING SERIES IS CAPTURED BY K. OF C. SECONDS

The K. of C. No. 2 bowling team hit the maples viciously and accurately Monday night for a victory over the No. 1 squad at the Liberty alleys.

C. Kinney mowed the hardwood down for a high score of 162 in the second game which stood for the evening. The No. 1 team showed flashes of strength throughout but were most effective in the final game, capturing it by three pins although such a slim margin was not sufficient to offset the damage done by the opposing crew in the early stages.

Sullivan seemed to find his stride in the final when he rolled for 142. Wurzel rolled for 142. Wurzel consistently for the losers with 120, 130 and 122. Morton of the victors got away with high average-honors, his mark being 134.

The scores:

Team No. 1.
Troziemme	97	74	98
H. Wurzel	120	130	122
Geo. Hughes	108	107	105
Joe. Simballa	98	92	133
Jno. Hughes	101	79	97
Sullivan	113	113	142
Totals	637	595	697
Team No. 2.

Greatest Football Brains In Country to Clash Tomorrow

Knute Rockne, Wily Strategist of Notre Dame, Will Pit Grid Lore Against That of Famous Stanford Mentor in Pasadena Game; Latter is Expected to Have Strong Defense.

By Tom Thorp.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Glenn Warner's Stanford university pupils may stop the Notre Dame four horsemen in the Rose bowl at Pasadena, Calif., tomorrow. The Pacific coast collegians have not been given credit for as much football as they know. The East has failed to understand that Harvard was the last team to make the team across the continent for the tournament of roses and win.

Bob Fisher's lads won from Oregon in a memorable 7 to 6 battle. Since then every team that has travelled to the Pacific coast for the Pasadena game has lost. It would not be surprising if Notre Dame followed the general rule tomorrow.

Many have said that the trip across the Continent has sapped the strength of the Easterners. Such is not the case. The climatic conditions out in California are not so far different from those of an eastern or middle-western team would encounter in late October or early November.

Ehe excuses of climatic conditions may be passed over lightly. Outside the inconvenience of a long train ride the conditions are about the same as one would encounter in the east.

So far as travelling is concerned the Notre Dame team should be well accustomed to the road. No team in the country makes so many extensive trips to so many different points as the players that perform for Knute Rockne. The added fact that they make these trips as annual affairs makes them the best travelling outfit in American football.

It must not be lost sight of that Pop Warner has to bring his lads down from Palo Alto to Pasadena to play.

It has been demonstrated several times that Knute Rockne's game can be stopped. Fred Dawson put the skids under Notre Dame two years running. The corn huskers lost in Syracuse after taking the measure of their South Bend opponents. Syracuse in turn lost to Colgate.

Many eastern teams defeated Colgate that year. All of which seems to indicate that if the proper defense is thrown up against Notre Dame the famous four horsemen can be stopped.

Those who know Glenn Warner appreciate the quality of coach the Standford man is. Rockne has grabbed most of the limelight during the last season. Warner has basked in the full glow of the calcium for many years. He is recognized by experts in all parts of the country as the daddy of them all.

Pop has given the game more of its fundamental formation than any other individual connected with the game. He is the pioneer in the open game, one that developed plays after much thought and hard work.

The combination of Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden is going to find its road blocked up more often than has been the case in most of their games this season.

We are of the opinion that inasmuch as Warner is the greatest defensive coach in the country that he will have perfected a defense that will halt the march of the Four Horsemen, if he does this he will turn the tables on his Notre Dame rival.

Yde, Vance Lead Hurlers In National

Pirate Star Had Best Average; Vance Won 12 Games More.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Emil Yde, the left-handed young man from Pittsburg, outstepped the National league field in two departments of pitching last season, according to an official communique made public today. It was Yde's first year on the big time, yet he topped the National League in the matter of actual percentage in games won and lost and elaborated upon this performance by uncovering a perfect average for completed games.

In all Yde won fourteen complete games, with not a single defeat. Art Nehf, of the Giants, also had a perfect average in this respect, but won only eleven complete games. Arthur "Dazzy" Vance, actually the leagues' leading pitcher and voted its most valuable player by a jury of baseball writers, won twenty seven complete games and lost three.

In the actual standing of pitchers Yde won sixteen games and lost three; Vance won twenty-eight and lost six. In short, the only times Yde met defeat came in games when he relieved another pitcher or was himself replaced.

Vance, of course, deserves the highest rating, even though Yde's average was .842 against Dazzy's .824. The latter established a season's record and all but nipped the modern major league mark by winning fifteen consecutive games. Yde's best effort was eight consecutive victories.

A comparison of the two records shows that Vance didn't lose a single series during the campaign while Yde was beaten in his lone start against the Giants. This same club gave Vance the most trouble, losing four games and winning three.

Jack Bentley, of the Giants, and Carl Mays, of the Reds, were tied for the most victories without defeat from one club, Bentley beating the Dodgers six times and Mays repeating the performance against teh Phillies. Whitney Glazner lost the most games without victory against a single club, the Giants beating Whitney five times. Vance was the only pitcher to win every series. Jim Yeargin, of the Braves, went to the opposite extreme, losing eleven straight games, a season's record.

Bethany Grid Card Nearing Completion; Play W. & J. Oct. 30

BETHANY, W. Va., Dec. 31.—The Bison grid schedule for 1925 is fast nearing completion and Athletic Director Elder expects to have it complete and ready for announcement with a week or ten days. Already the card calls for games with Duquesne, Theil, Westminster, Geneva, Waynesburg, and W. & J. The annual battle with which will be the latest in the season the Presidents is scheduled for Oct 30 that these two teams have battled for a number of years.

Whitney On Stewards' Board.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Payne Whitney, widely known sportsman, today held the place on the board of stewards of the Jockey club, left vacant by the death of Major August Belmont. Frank Sturgis, former vice chairman, was elected chairman to succeed Major Belmont.

HIGHS ARE SET FOR GRADUATES

Alumni and School Fives in Action Here Tonight.

East Liverpool high school cagers are set for their battle tonight with the Alumni.

Both girls' and boys' teams of the respective sides will be in action on the high school gymnasium floor. The girls who will put on the preliminary contest, will start their game at 7:30 o'clock. The second engagement will get under way immediately after the close of the prelim.

The game with the graduates is the only engagement for Boone's squad in the interim from Dec. 20 to Jan. 9.

On Jan. 9 the locals are scheduled to tangle with Warren here and the following week brings the Bethany Freshman to the city.

GLENMORE FIVE LANDS ANOTHER

"Doc" Kinsey's Glenmore passers defeated the West End five, 38 to 23, in a fast contest last night on the West End chapel floor. The marksmanship of Graham, forward of the Glenmore squad, was a feature of the clash. Graham collected nine field goals and one foul.

The lineup:

Glenmore		West End
Graham	F	Golden
Conn	F	Kriefer
Foutts	C	Burgess
Rose	G	Miller
D. Kinsey	G	Green

Substitutions—Conn for Conn, D. Kinsey for Rose, McKim for Kriefer.

Field goals—Graham 9, Conn 4, D. Kinsey 2, Golden 3, Kriefer 2, Burgess, Miller, McKim 3.

Fouls—Graham 1, Conn 4, Foutts 1, Rose 2, Golden 1, Burgess 1, Miller 1.

Runyon Says

"Gentleman Jack" Has a Theory. Says Weinert Has Too Much to Say Other Boxers Suffer Same Thing. Ted-Kid Lewis Was Poorest Coach. Elmer Oliphant Played 12 Years.

BY DAMON RUNYON.

Copyright, 1924, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"GENTLEMAN JACK" O'BRIEN, who conducts a sports department in Stephen Clow's brilliant little magazine, "Broadway Brevities," advances an interesting theory in the December number.

O'Brien, widely known expert on physical culture and boxing, saw the battle between Charley Weinert and Louis Angel Firpo in Newark some time ago, which was won by Weinert on points. On that occasion Weinert probably had more advice than was ever given one fighter in a bout.

Besides his manager and seconds, Weinert had the gratuitous coaching of two world's champions, Harry Greb and Mickey Walker. Both climbed into his corner to yell advice in his ear. From ringside seats a dozen other noted boxers and handlers of boxers, whooped instructions during the progress of the fight and between the rounds.

O'Brien says it is his opinion if Weinert hadn't received so much advice—and listened to it—he would have scored a knockout before the twelfth round.

The writer is inclined to agree with O'Brien.

He thinks, too, that boxers are frequently given TOO MUCH advice during a battle.

As a result they try to do things that are utterly beyond them, which are opposed to their natural style, or else they become completely confused. Many boxers would be much better off if left to their own resources. Weinert against Firpo is a notable case.

Of course you could scarcely blame Weinert for trying to heed the advice of such men as Gred and Walker. It was a most important fight for Weinert. He was attempting a "comeback," a tremendous task.

As a matter of fact, Weinert, a veteran, probably knows as much about boxing as either Greb or Walker. But perhaps he wasn't altogether sure of himself that night, was afraid of making mistakes.

Consequently it was only natural for him to listen to men he knew were at the top of the heap. He perhaps felt they were noting his shortcomings, and trying to correct them.

But, in general, active boxers are not good coaches.

A veteran boxer can take hold of a youngster and TEACH him his trade, and handle that youngster well.

But an active boxer who doesn't know the capabilities of the man he is trying to coach in a fight, who doesn't know his disposition, is more apt to be a nuisance than a help in a corner.

He wants the man he is coaching to do things HIS way. He sees what he could and would do himself, and he thinks everybody else ought to do it that way.

One of the greatest boxers, and the poorest coach the writer ever saw, was Ted-Kid Lewis, the Englishman, former welterweight champion of the world.

Lewis was managed by Jimmy Johnston, who had a lot of other fighters. Lewis loved to appear behind the others when he wasn't boxing himself, and advise them in their battles.

He would babble excitedly, gesticulating with his hands, as he told them what he wanted them to do. He was one of the few men in the world who could have carried out his ideas, but Lewis thought everybody ought to be able to box as he did.

It was a great spectacle when Lewis worked in the corner behind Andre Anderson, one of Johnson's heavyweights of that period. Anderson, a ponderous man, would blink his eyes in wonderment as Lewis chattered in his ear. If Anderson could have carried out one-third of Lewis' suggestions he would have been champion of the world to this day.

The boxer who is wholly dependent upon the advice of his handlers, who never display any natural resourcefulness or initative, will not go far.

You often see boxers constantly glancing to their corners during a battle. They are the kind who can't think for themselves. Corner instructions of the right sort are quite valuable, of course, but the time comes when a boxer must do things on his own.

Jack Kearns put in a couple of years coaching Jack Dempsey. Then Dempsey developed his own mental resources. Now Kearns offers Dempsey very few suggestions from the corner during a fight. Dempsey does his own thinking.

But Dempsey right now would probably be a poor coach himself.

He would be inclined to over-estimate the physical and mental ability of any boxer he tried to second, would give him too much advice.

In daily life some of us often get too much advice. Then again some of us don't get enough.!

Elmer Q. Oliphant, one of the most famous football players of the past ten years, writes that he is greatly surprised by the information conveyed in a recent article in this column.

The article told of the practice of one of the big college teams of the country of "cussing" the opposing players. The article expressed the hope that the college is an exception. Oliphant's letter would indicate that it is.

Incidentially, Oliphant's letter clears up a little matter which the writer has often heard debated. It is with reference to his football experience. Oliphant discloses the interesting fact that he played for practically twelve years.

He was at high school for years, at Purdue University four years, and at West Point four years.

In all this period, Oliphant says, he never heard profanity on the field.

Yet the incident of the "cussing" team to which the writer has reference is quite authentic. The writer, in turn, is surprised that Oliphant never heard of it. It is common gossip among the football players of the big colleges of the East.

Moreover, these players will tell you that the same team isn't above attempts, deliberately planned, to put opposing players out of the game with injuries. It is said that one team came out of a battle with the college in question with five broken noses.

One or two broken noses might be accidential, five put the affair in the light of what you might call a nose pogrom, and most suspicious.

Football is not a delicate game. It is always more or less rough, more or less hazardous. But the writer doubts that it ever presents an issue important enough to justify the lengths to which this college seems willing to go to win its games.

Before either of the brothers Hartley, winners of the London amateur foresomes for the last two years, makes a shot, they usually consult each other as to the best way to play.

LUTHERANS WIN TWO CONTESTS

Boulevards are Victims of Intermediate Five.

Lutheran church passers were victorious in two games last evening on the high school floor, the Juniors defeating the Presbyterian youngsters 24 to 12, and the Intermediates winning from the Park Boulevards 21 to 19.

The main clash was fast and rough at times, and was marked by a brilliant attack by the Lutherans in the final five minutes, which put them into the lead by such a margin that victory was made certain.

The teams were on even terms at the end of the first quarter, the count standing 4 to 4. In the second period the Lutherans went to the front, taking first honors by a score of 12 to 7.

In the early stages of the second half, however, the Boulevard five fought back to reduce their foe's lead and succeeded in doing not only that but also in forging ahead by two points. Their lead was of short duration, however, as G. Woessner found the basket for two straight field goals and the lead reverted to the Lutherans.

From this point on the Lutherans stayed ahead, but with the Boulevards always within hailing distance save in the last five minutes.

G. Woessner was the main cog in the Lutheran machine, scoring 17 of his team's points. Guyton, Kirkham and Barnes were the stars for the Boulevards, Guyton and Barnes being the principal scorers.

In the preliminary, Greenwood and M. Barlow were the scoring stars for the Lutheran Juniors and Dickey was the outstanding performer for the U. P. Juniors.

Lineups, summaries:

Lutherans		Park Boulevards
G. Woessner	F	Guyton

BOWLING SERIES IS CAPTURED BY K. OF C. SECONDS

The K. of C. No. 2 bowling team hit the maples viciously and accurately Monday night for a victory over the No. 1 squad at the Liberty alleys.

C. Kinney mowed the hardwood down for a high score of 162 in the second game which stood for the evening. The No. 1 team showed flashes of strength throughout but were most effective in the final game, capturing it by three pins although such a slim margin was not sufficient to offset the damage done by the opposing crew in the early stages.

Sullivan seemed to find his stride in the final when he rolled for 142. Wurzel rolled for 142. Wurzel consistently for the losers with 120, 130 and 122. Morton of the victors got away with high average honors, his mark being 134.

The article told of the practice of one of the big college teams of the country of "cussing" the opposing players. The article expressed the hope that the college is an exception. Oliphant's letter would indicate that it is.

Incidentially, Oliphant's letter clears up a little matter which the writer has often heard debated. It is with reference to his football experience. Oliphant discloses the interesting fact that he played for practically twelve years.

He was at high school for years, at Purdue University four years, and at West Point four years.

In all this period, Oliphant says, he never heard profanity on the field.

Yet the incident of the "cussing" team to which the writer has reference is quite authentic. The writer, in turn, is surprised that Oliphant never heard of it. It is common gossip among the football players of the big colleges of the East.

Moreover, these players will tell you that the same team isn't above attempts, deliberately planned, to put opposing players out of the game with injuries. It is said that one team came out of a battle with the college in question with five broken noses.

One or two broken noses might be accidential, five put the affair in the light of what you might call a nose pogrom, and most suspicious.

Football is not a delicate game. It is always more or less rough, more or less hazardous. But the writer doubts that it ever presents an issue important enough to justify the lengths to which this college seems willing to go to win its games.

Before either of the brothers Hartley, winners of the London amateur foresomes for the last two years, makes a shot, they usually consult each other as to the best way to play.

LUTHERANS WIN TWO CONTESTS

Boulevards are Victims of Intermediate Five.

Lutheran church passers were victorious in two games last evening on the high school floor, the Juniors defeating the Presbyterian youngsters 24 to 12, and the Intermediates winning from the Park Boulevards 21 to 19.

The main clash was fast and rough at times, and was marked by a brilliant attack by the Lutherans in the final five minutes, which put them into the lead by such a margin that victory was made certain.

The teams were on even terms at the end of the first quarter, the count standing 4 to 4. In the second period the Lutherans went to the front, taking first honors by a score of 12 to 7.

In the early stages of the second half, however, the Boulevard five fought back to reduce their foe's lead and succeeded in doing not only that but also in forging ahead by two points. Their lead was of short duration, however, as G. Woessner found the basket for two straight field goals and the lead reverted to the Lutherans.

From this point on the Lutherans stayed ahead, but with the Boulevards always within hailing distance save in the last five minutes.

G. Woessner was the main cog in the Lutheran machine, scoring 17 of his team's points. Guyton, Kirkham and Barnes were the stars for the Boulevards, Guyton and Barnes being the principal scorers.

In the preliminary, Greenwood and M. Barlow were the scoring stars for the Lutheran Juniors and Dickey was the outstanding performer for the U. P. Juniors.

Lineups, summaries:

Lutherans		Park Boulevards
G. Woessner	F	Guyton
R. Woessner	F	Barnes
Schneidmiller	C	O. Kirkham
Kibble	G	F. Kirkham
Davis	G	Hall

Substitution—Rough for Hall.

Field goals—G. Woessner 6, Rough, Schneidmiller 2, R. Woessner, Guyton 3, Barnes 3.

Foul goals—G. Woessner 5, Davis 2, R. Woessner, Kibble, Schneidmiller, Rough, Guyton 3, O. Kirkham 3, F. Kirkham.

Referee—McVey.

Lutheran Jrs.		First U. P. Jrs.
Greenwood	F	Dickey
M. Barlow	F	Skidmore
W. Woessner	C	Laughlin
J. Barlow	G	Johnston
Badgley	G	Davidson

Substitutions—Curry for Johnston, Rhinestein for Badgley.

Field goals—M. Barlow 3, Greenwood 3, Woessner, Badgley, Dickey, Skidmore, Laughlin.

Foul goals—Greenwood 3, M. Barlow 2, Badgley, Dickey 4, Skidmore, Laughlin.

Referee—Canne.

BOWLING SERIES IS CAPTURED BY K. OF C. SECONDS

The K. of C. No. 2 bowling team hit the maples viciously and accurately Monday night for a victory over the No. 1 squad at the Liberty alleys.

C. Kinney mowed the hardwood down for a high score of 162 in the second game which stood for the evening. The No. 1 team showed flashes of strength throughout but were most effective in the final game, capturing it by three pins although such a slim margin was not sufficient to offset the damage done by the opposing crew in the early stages.

Sullivan seemed to find his stride in the final when he rolled for 142. Wurzel rolled for 142. Wurzel consistently for the losers with 120, 130 and 122. Morton of the victors got away with high average-honors, his mark being 134.

The scores:

Team No. 1.
Troziemme	97	74	98
H. Wurzel	120	130	122

Greatest Football Brains In Country to Clash Tomorrow

Knute Rockne, Wily Strategist of Notre Dame, Will Pit Grid Lore Against That of Famous Stanford Mentor in Pasadena Game; Latter is Expected to Have Strong Defense.

By Tom Thorp.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Glenn Warner's Stanford university pupils may stop the Notre Dame four horsemen in the Rose bowl at Pasadena, Calif., tomorrow. The Pacific coast collegians have not been given credit for as much football as they know. The East has failed to understand that Harvard was the last team to make the team across the continent for the tournament of roses and win.

Bob Fisher's lads won from Oregon in a memorable 7 to 6 battle. Since then every team that has travelled to the Pacific coast for the Pasadena game has lost. It would not be surprising if Notre Dame followed the general rule tomorrow.

Many have said that the trip across the Continent has sapped the strength of the Easterners. Such is not the case. The climatic conditions out in California are not so far different from those of an eastern or middle-western team would encounter in late October or early November.

Ehe excuses of climatic conditions may be passed over lightly. Outside the inconvenience of a long train ride the conditions are about the same as one would encounter in the east.

So far as travelling is concerned the Notre Dame team should be well accustomed to the road. No team in the country makes so many extensive trips to so many different points as the players that perform for Knute Rockne. The added fact that they make these trips as annual affairs makes them the best travelling outfit in American football.

It must not be lost sight of that Pop Warner has to bring his lads down from Palo Alto to Pasadena to play.

It has been demonstrated several times that Knute Rockne's game can be stopped. Fred Dawson put the skids under Notre Dame two years running. The corn huskers lost in Syracuse after taking the measure of their South Bend opponents. Syracuse in turn lost to Colgate.

Many eastern teams defeated Colgate that year. All of which seems to indicate that if the proper defense is thrown up against Notre Dame the famous four horsemen can be stopped.

Those who know Glenn Warner appreciate the quality of coach the Standford man is. Rockne has grabbed most of the limelight during the last season. Warner has basked in the full glow of the calcium for many years. He is recognized by experts in all parts of the country as the daddy of them all.

Pop has given the game more of its fundamental formation than any other individual connected with the game. He is the pioneer in the open game, one that developed plays after much thought and hard work.

The combination of Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden is going to find its road blocked up more often than has been the case in most of their games this season.

We are of the opinion that inasmuch as Warner is the greatest defensive coach in the country that he will have perfected a defense that will halt the march of the Four Horsemen, if he does this he will turn the tables on his Notre Dame rival.

Yde, Vance Lead Hurlers In National

Pirate Star Had Best Average; Vance Won 12 Games More.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Emil Yde, the left-handed young man from Pittsburg, outstepped the National league field in two departments of pitching last season, according to an official communique made public today. It was Yde's first year on the big time, yet he topped the National League in the matter of actual percentage in games won and lost and elaborated upon this performance by uncovering a perfect average for completed games.

In all Yde won fourteen complete games, with not a single defeat. Art Nehf, of the Giants, also had a perfect average in this respect, but won only eleven complete games. Arthur "Dazzy" Vance, actually the leagues' leading pitcher and voted its most valuable player by a jury of baseball writers, won twenty seven complete games and lost three.

In the actual standing of pitchers Yde won sixteen games and lost three; Vance won twenty-eight and lost six. In short, the only times Yde met defeat came in games when he relieved another pitcher or was himself replaced.

Vance, of course, deserves the highest rating, even though Yde's average was .842 against Dazzy's .824. The latter established a season's record and all but nipped the modern major league mark by winning fifteen consecutive games. Yde's best effort was eight consecutive victories.

A comparison of the two records shows that Vance didn't lose a single series during the campaign while Yde was beaten in his lone start against the Giants. This same club gave Vance the most trouble, losing four games and winning three.

Jack Bentley, of the Giants, and Carl Mays, of the Reds, were tied for the most victories without defeat from one club, Bentley beating the Dodgers six times and Mays repeating the performance against teh Phillies. Whitney Glazner lost the most games without victory against a single club, the Giants beating Whitney five times. Vance was the only pitcher to win every series. Jim Yeargin, of the Braves, went to the opposite extreme, losing eleven straight games, a season's record.

Bethany Grid Card Nearing Completion; Play W. & J. Oct. 30

BETHANY, W. Va., Dec. 31.—The Bison grid schedule for 1925 is fast nearing completion and Athletic Director Elder expects to have it complete and ready for announcement with a week or ten days. Already the card calls for games with Duquesne, Theil, Westminster, Geneva, Waynesburg, and W. & J. The annual battle with which will be the latest in the season the Presidents is scheduled for Oct 30 that these two teams have battled for a number of years.

Whitney On Stewards' Board.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Payne Whitney, widely known sportsman, today held the place on the board of stewards of the Jockey club, left vacant by the death of Major August Belmont. Frank Sturgis, former vice chairman, was elected chairman to succeed Major Belmont.

HIGHS ARE SET FOR GRADUATES

Alumni and School Fives in Action Here Tonight.

East Liverpool high school cagers are set for their battle tonight with the Alumni.

Both girls' and boys' teams of the respective sides will be in action on the high school gymnasium floor. The girls who will put on the preliminary contest, will start their game at 7:30 o'clock. The second engagement will get under way immediately after the close of the prelim.

The game with the graduates is the only engagement for Boone's squad in the interim from Dec. 20 to Jan. 9.

On Jan. 9 the locals are scheduled to tangle with Warren here and the following week brings the Bethany Freshman to the city.

GLENMORE FIVE LANDS ANOTHER

"Doc" Kinsey's Glenmore passers defeated the West End five, 38 to 23, in a fast contest last night on the West End chapel floor. The marksmanship of Graham, forward of the Glenmore squad, was a feature of the clash. Graham collected nine field goals and one foul.

The lineup:

Glenmore		West End
Graham	F	Golden
Conn	F	Kriefer
Foutts	C	Burgess
Rose	G	Miller
D. Kinsey	G	Green

Substitutions—Conn for Conn, D. Kinsey for Rose, McKim for Kriefer.

Field goals—Graham 9, Conn 4, D. Kinsey 2, Golden 3, Kriefer 2, Burgess, Miller, McKim 3.

Fouls—Graham 1, Conn 4, Foutts 1, Rose 2, Golden 1, Burgess 1, Miller 1.

Time of quarters, 10 minutes; scorer, Foutts; referee, Dr. C. F. Kinsey.

Veteran Pug Answers Thaw's Request For Social Secretary

BALTIMORE, Dec. 31.—"Harlem Pete" Kelly, veteran of fifty prize fights and winner of one, was an early applicant for the much sought after job of secretary to Harry K. Thaw, advertised in Baltimore newspapers.

His application was listed today among more than 200 from stevedores, dray hands and prize fighters and reckless college youths, that the slayer of Stanford White has received in response to his search for a "healthy, handsome secretary, ready to fight."

"Harlem Pete" amply qualifies in health and willingness. He has proved this by accepting the loser's share in 49 altercations. He received his last beating Monday when he was trounced for four rounds by a preliminary boy on his maiden appearance. He weighs 165 and is known in this city as a glutton for punishment.

The beauty qualification however, may prove a barrier to "Harlem Pete's" ambition, as it is but natural his physiognomy has suffered in his trade, and worst of all he admits, that what he knows about stenography and polite correspondence could be written on the head of a match with a wire broom.

W. V. U. LINEUP FOR SALEM GAME PROVING PUZZLE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 31.—Followers of basketball with a particular interest in the West Virginia University quint, which is to meet Salem College in the opening game of the season here next Monday night, are in a quandry. Last week they felt sure that they would have little trouble "doping out" the varsity lineup when work was resumed on Monday, but at the end of the fourth day of practice they are still puzzled. Two positions, one of the forwards and a guard post, are still open and who will fill them is a matter of conjecture on the local sport curb.

Captain Roy Hawley, center; Fred Funk, forward and Natus Rohrbaugh, guard, all veterans and lettermen, are virtually sure of their old jobs. At the one forward Fred Graham, captain of the 1924 football team; Ed Morrison, promising sophomore athlete; Julian Murrin and Clarence Murrin are having a merry- four-cornered fight. The guard field is just as large with Aaron Oliker, Clarksburg youngster who came through for Dr. Spears in football last fall; "Whitey" Kerr, Bob Bradford and Lou Titley running neck-and-neck.

Many believe that Morrison and Oliker will get the call for Monday's game, but there has been nothing from an official source to indicate that they have the inside track.

Last Night's Fights

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Lew Perfetti beat Al Fugaro, ten rounds; Henny Catena won on foul from Lew Goldberg, third round; Harry Wallach outpointed Sammy Marino, six rounds.

At ALBANY—Tommy Noble, former featherweight, England, outfought Joe Sobbir, Albany, junior lightweight, ten rounds; Mickey Cangro, Staten Island, lost to Johnny Williams, New York, ten rounds; Jerry William, Albany, and Joe Werner, Kingston, fought six round draw.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the numbers to the first shaded stop on the right, if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Compulsory School Act of Pennsylvania Scored by Parent

SUNBURY, Pa., Dec. — William Heiss, Shamokin Township, attacked the constitutionality of the Compulsory Education act in the Northumberland County Court. He was fined $2 for failing to send his child to school.

The father alleged that the legislature did not contemplate a law that requires a boy to arise at 6 a. m., walk two miles to a waiting station and then ride six miles in a wagon before he could get to the nearest schoolhouse, which is required in his six-year-old son's case.

Veteran Pug Answers Thaw's Request For Social Secretary

BALTIMORE, Dec. 31.—"Harlem Pete" Kelly, veteran of fifty prize fights and winner of one, was an early applicant for the much sought after job of secretary to Harry K. Thaw, advertised in Baltimore newspapers.

His application was listed today among more than 200 from stevedores, dray hands and prize fighters and reckless college youths, that the slayer of Stanford White has received in response to his search for a "healthy, handsome secretary, ready to fight."

"Harlem Pete" amply qualifies in health and willingness. He has proved this by accepting the loser's share in 49 altercations. He received his last beating Monday when he was trounced for four rounds by a preliminary boy on his maiden appearance. He weighs 165 and is known in this city as a glutton for punishment.

The beauty qualification however, may prove a barrier to "Harlem Pete's" ambition, as it is but natural his physiognomy has suffered in his trade, and worst of all he admits, that what he knows about stenography and polite correspondence could be written on the head of a match with a wire broom.

W. V. U. LINEUP FOR SALEM GAME PROVING PUZZLE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 31.—Followers of basketball with a particular interest in the West Virginia University quint, which is to meet Salem College in the opening game of the season here next Monday night, are in a quandry. Last week they felt sure that they would have little trouble "doping out" the varsity lineup when work was resumed on Monday, but at the end of the fourth day of practice they are still puzzled. Two positions, one of the forwards and a guard post, are still open and who will fill them is a matter of conjecture on the local sport curb.

Captain Roy Hawley, center; Fred Funk, forward and Natus Rohrbaugh, guard, all veterans and lettermen, are virtually sure of their old jobs. At the one forward Fred Graham, captain of the 1924 football team; Ed Morrison, promising sophomore athlete; Julian Murrin and Clarence Murrin are having a merry- four-cornered fight. The guard field is just as large with Aaron Oliker, Clarksburg youngster who came through for Dr. Spears in football last fall; "Whitey" Kerr, Bob Bradford and Lou Titley running neck-and-neck.

Many believe that Morrison and Oliker will get the call for Monday's game, but there has been nothing from an official source to indicate that they have the inside track.

Last Night's Fights

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Lew Perfetti beat Al Fugaro, ten rounds; Henny Catena won on foul from Lew Goldberg, third round; Harry Wallach outpointed Sammy Marino, six rounds.

At ALBANY—Tommy Noble, former featherweight, England, outfought Joe Sobbir, Albany, junior lightweight, ten rounds; Mickey Cangro, Staten Island, lost to Johnny Williams, New York, ten rounds; Jerry William, Albany, and Joe Werner, Kingston, fought six round draw.

Today's Cross-Word Puzzle

THE CASTLE—Twister No. 63

By J. C. BOYD

STORMING this intricate looking design is really not as difficult as it seems. With few exceptions the words locked in this fortress are used often and should prove no barrier to the ardent puzzle enthusiast who wishes to capture this stronghold.

Below the picture are the descriptions of the words hidden within the castle.

Herewith is the solution to puzzle No 62.

Copyright, 1924, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right, if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

WIT AND HUMOR FROM SCOTLAND

Richt wrangs nae man.

All bite the bitten dog.

Put a coward on his mettle an' he'll fight the de'il.

Fu' o' courtesy, fu' o' craft.

Want o' wit is wau than want o' wealth.

Poor folk seek meat for their stammacks and rich folk stammacks for their meat.

Gie you tongue mair holidays than your head.

Naebody's sweetheart's ugly.

Pay beforehand's ne'er weel served.

Kent fouk's nae company.

If it weena' for the belly the back wad wear gold.

A body lives long after they're laughed at.

A mote in the gunner's eye is as bad as a spike in the gun.

[illegible] cant o' news that said his faither was hanged.

He that does ye an ill turn will ne'er forgie ye.

Compulsory School Act of Pennsylvania Scored by Parent

SUNBURY, Pa., Dec. — William Heiss, Shamokin Township, attacked the constitutionality of the Compulsory Education act in the Northumberland County Court. He was fined $2 for failing to send his child to school.

The father alleged that the legislature did not contemplate a law that requires a boy to arise at 6 a. m., walk two miles to a waiting station and then ride six miles in a wagon before he could get to the nearest schoolhouse, which is required in his six-year-old son's case.

Better half hanged than ill-married.

A spur in the heaf is worth twa in the heel.

Langest at the fire soonest finds cauld.

Honest me nmarry soon—wise men never.

He that lends money to a friend has a double loss.

He that winna be counselled canna' be helped.

Ne'er marry a widow unless her first man was hanged.

Every man can guide an ill wife weel but him that has her.

It's no loss what a friend gets.

He who tells his wife a' is but newly married.

Experience keeps a dear schule, but fools will learn in nae ither.

Sae mony men, sae mony minds.

Fans Assured Quality.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Boxing fans here are assured of preliminaries costing at least $10 a round, the state commission being on record to that effect today after a lengthy discussion of the provision. The rule is protection for fans and boxers alike, it was agreed.

Incubators on a southern chicken ranch have a capacity of 15,000 eggs and it is not unusual for 10,000 chicks to peck their way into the world in a day's time.

Veteran Pug Answers Thaw's Request For Social Secretary

BALTIMORE, Dec. 31.—"Harlem Pete" Kelly, veteran of fifty prize fights and winner of one, was an early applicant for the much sought after job of secretary to Harry K. Thaw, advertised in Baltimore newspapers.

His application was listed today among more than 200 from stevedores, dray hands and prize fighters and reckless college youths, that the slayer of Stanford White has received in response to his search for a "healthy, handsome secretary, ready to fight."

"Harlem Pete" amply qualifies in health and willingness. He has proved this by accepting the loser's share in 49 altercations. He received his last beating Monday when he was trounced for four rounds by a preliminary boy on his maiden appearance. He weighs 165 and is known in this city as a glutton for punishment.

The beauty qualification however, may prove a barrier to "Harlem Pete's" ambition, as it is but natural his physiognomy has suffered in his trade, and worst of all he admits, that what he knows about stenography and polite correspondence could be written on the head of a match with a wire broom.

W. V. U. LINEUP FOR SALEM GAME PROVING PUZZLE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 31.—Followers of basketball with a particular interest in the West Virginia University quint, which is to meet Salem College in the opening game of the season here next Monday night, are in a quandry. Last week they felt sure that they would have little trouble "doping out" the varsity lineup when work was resumed on Monday, but at the end of the fourth day of practice they are still puzzled. Two positions, one of the forwards and a guard post, are still open and who will fill them is a matter of conjecture on the local sport curb.

Captain Roy Hawley, center; Fred Funk, forward and Natus Rohrbaugh, guard, all veterans and lettermen, are virtually sure of their old jobs. At the one forward Fred Graham, captain of the 1924 football team; Ed Morrison, promising sophomore athlete; Julian Murrin and Clarence Murrin are having a merry- four-cornered fight. The guard field is just as large with Aaron Oliker, Clarksburg youngster who came through for Dr. Spears in football last fall; "Whitey" Kerr, Bob Bradford and Lou Titley running neck-and-neck.

Many believe that Morrison and Oliker will get the call for Monday's game, but there has been nothing from an official source to indicate that they have the inside track.

Last Night's Fights

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Lew Perfetti beat Al Fugaro, ten rounds; Henny Catena won on foul from Lew Goldberg, third round; Harry Wallach outpointed Sammy Marino, six rounds.

At ALBANY—Tommy Noble, former featherweight, England, outfought Joe Sobbir, Albany, junior lightweight, ten rounds; Mickey Cangro, Staten Island, lost to Johnny Williams, New York, ten rounds; Jerry William, Albany, and Joe Werner, Kingston, fought six round draw.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right, if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

WIT AND HUMOR FROM SCOTLAND

Richt wrangs nae man.

All bite the bitten dog.

Put a coward on his mettle an' he'll fight the de'il.

Fu' o' courtesy, fu' o' craft.

Scotch of course. Proverbs from the beheathered highlands make up today's installment (No. ten) of the proverbs of all nations.

Want o' wit is wau than want o' wealth.

Poor folk seek meat for their stammacks and rich folk stammacks for their meat.

Gie you tongue mair holidays than your head.

Naebody's sweetheart's ugly.

Pay beforehand's ne'er weel served.

Kent fouk's nae company.

If it weena' for the belly the back wad wear gold.

A body lives long after they're laughed at.

A mote in the gunner's eye is as bad as a spike in the gun.

Compulsory School Act of Pennsylvania Scored by Parent

SUNBURY, Pa., Dec. — William Heiss, Shamokin Township, attacked the constitutionality of the Compulsory Education act in the Northumberland County Court. He was fined $2 for failing to send his child to school.

The father alleged that the legislature did not contemplate a law that requires a boy to arise at 6 a. m., walk two miles to a waiting station and then ride six miles in a wagon before he could get to the nearest schoolhouse, which is required in his six-year-old son's case.

Better half hanged than ill-married.

A spur in the heaf is worth twa in the heel.

Langest at the fire soonest finds cauld.

Honest me nmarry soon—wise men never.

He that lends money to a friend has a double loss.

He that winna be counselled canna' be helped.

Ne'er marry a widow unless her first man was hanged.

Every man can guide an ill wife weel but him that has her.

It's no loss what a friend gets.

He who tells his wife a' is but newly married.

Experience keeps a dear schule, but fools will learn in nae ither.

Sae mony men, sae mony minds.

Fans Assured Quality.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Boxing fans here are assured of preliminaries costing at least $10 a round, the state commission being on record to that effect today after a lengthy discussion of the provision. The rule is protection for fans and boxers alike, it was agreed.

Incubators on a southern chicken ranch have a capacity of 15,000 eggs and it is not unusual for 10,000 chicks to peck their way into the world in a day's time.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
